

MANY ABSENTEES HALT LEGISLATION

Several Salary Increase Bills Laid on Table as Senators Rush Home

The absence of nine members of the senate, leaving only a bare quorum at their desks, eliminated any attempt to handle important measures at the Saturday afternoon session. The afternoon session was held despite an attempt to adjourn before noon until Monday morning.

Senators, other than those who were excused, who failed to attend the afternoon session of the senate included Bell, Dunne, Hall, Joseph, Klepper and Moser. Senators Banks, Beals and Butler were excused by the president of the senate last night because of business matters requiring their attention in other parts of the state today.

At the request of Senator Butt a house bill constituting the state board of control as purchasing agent for the state was laid on the table until Monday. It was explained by Senator Butt that this bill was of more than passing importance and should not be considered without a full attendance in the senate.

Another house bill laid on the table until Monday provided for increasing the salaries of the deputy secretary of state, deputy state treasurer, private secretary to the governor and state tax commissioner from $4000 to $4000 a year.

It was said that Governor Patterson recently went before the committee on public officers and urged that this bill be reported out favorably. The senate also laid on the table until Monday a bill introduced by the Washington joint delegation providing for increasing the salaries of certain Washington county officials.

Senator Hare said this bill was of considerable importance, and should be given a fair chance. The senate this afternoon indefinitely postponed a bill introduced by Senator Bailey authorizing an appropriation of $50,000 for the purpose of erecting a woman's building at the Old Soldiers home.

The senate adjourned at 2:50 until Monday morning at 10:30.

New Women's Apparel Shop to Open in Oregon Building

Hawkins & Roberts, Inc., owners of the Oregon building, announced yesterday that they had leased the west section of their newly completed store rooms on State street to S. A. Wilson of Spokane.

Mr. Wilson will open an extensive millinery and ladies furnishing shop.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without gripping, and you have a well, playful child again. You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless, "fruity laxative," they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

This latest addition to Salem's business section cuts off another commercial firm from a Washington city, for Mr. Wilson came to Spokane, from Chicago, planning to make that his permanent home. Conditions there did not justify his stay.

ABOLISH BOARDS PLEA OF CARKIN

Speaker Would Have Affairs of State Conducted on Business Basis

The business of the state of Oregon ought to be run like any other big business, not like a three ring circus, John H. Carkin, speaker of the house of representatives, declared in a talk before the Lions club at its luncheon Friday.

With respect to the administrative branch, Carkin listed the multitudinous boards and commissions, many of them appointed by agencies other than the governor and responsible to nobody. The state's business ought to be in the hands of the governor and a few boards, the heads of which would be appointed by the governor and members of a cabinet, Carkin concluded.

Among the improvements that should be made in the legislative branch, he said that the session should lengthen so that real consideration could be given to all laws coming before it; the members should be paid adequately so that none would have an excuse for "living off the corporations" while in Salem, a practice which, he added, is extremely rare as it is; and the number of stenographers and clerks in the house and senate should be cut to no more than one-fifth of the present allotment.

Carkin pledged himself to support the bill calling for a new state office building.

extreme difficulty remain to be overcome. Whether President Coolidge, in the event of failure of the five power plan at Geneva, would revert to the informal Japanese suggestion for a three power limitation on cruiser tonnage as between Great Britain, the United States and Japan, no official will predict. It was said flatly today, however, that the five power plan was the only proposal now under consideration, and that no decision as to the future could be made except in the light of developments at Geneva.

The exact terms in which any of the four governments communicate their acceptances of the American proposals may prove of great significance. No official word has yet reached the state department. The house foreign affairs committee approved today the administration request for $75,000 to pay expenses of continued American cooperation with the Geneva disarmament conference. Should the naval negotiation plan be accepted by the naval powers in time, it appears probable that additional appropriations will be asked because enlarged naval and technical staff will be necessary. A movement developed in the committee to attach to the legislation a clause designed to place the American auxiliary ship limitation project on the agenda being formulated by the preparatory conference for the prospective general disarmament conference contemplated by the League of Nations. But the plan was abandoned.

TROOP NO. 6 BOY SCOUTS BANQUET

Abrams Gives Address on Abraham Lincoln Program For Saturday

Boy scouts of troop No. 6 and their "dads" enjoyed the annual father and son banquet, held in connection with scout anniversary week, Saturday evening at the YMCA dining room. Temporary "dads" were assigned to some of the boys whose fathers were unable to attend.

This troop, of which Robert Brady is scoutmaster, has observed the full anniversary week program, including attendance at church as a group, last Sunday. The troop is sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

At the suggestion of Lewis Campbell, the father of two members of this troop, a father's organization which will include the fathers of all of the members is to be formed, one activity of which will be to visit the troop's summer camp in a body. It was agreed among those who attended.

The principal address of the evening was delivered by Col. Carl Abrams, who discussed the character and achievements of Abraham Lincoln, whom he described as "the greatest man who ever lived." The lesson which boy scouts draw from a study of Lincoln's life is that of the scout motto, "Be prepared," he said.

Another speaker was Fred Thielsen, who stressed the opportunities which scouting gives to the boy of today. Gerald Day, one of the scouts, followed with a talk in which he assured the "dads" that the boys do appreciate these opportunities. Byron Wright gave the boys' some pointers on the problems which will face them when they enter college.

Each "dad" present was called upon for criticisms and suggestions, but their responses were principally expressions of appreciation for the benefits which the scout organization and Scoutmaster Brady are giving their sons. This is one troop in which the "daily good turn" is taken seriously, it developed, for each scout had an answer ready when called upon to tell of his good turn. These ranged from helping a boy who cannot walk to get to and from school, to that of one rather small boy who gave his seat in a street car to a full grown man.

PORTLAND PHYSICIAN EXAMINES RESULTS OF TEST

OREGON NORMAL SCHOOL, Monmouth, Feb. 12.—(Special)—Dr. Wm. Levin of Portland paid the Oregon Normal school at Monmouth an official visit Friday in connection with his work on the state health board. Dr. Levin assisted the normal health department in reading the results of the Schick test given the students recently. The percentage of immunity was unusually low for such a large group of students, but is due to the large enrollment of students from rural districts where susceptibility to diphtheria is always large. Only 26 per cent of the students taking the test are immune, whereas at least 40 per cent should be the average. Of the 346 taking the test, 253 were susceptible and 93 immune. Sixty-one children in the training school took the test and Dr. Levin found but 15 cases of immunity. Toxin-anti-toxin treatments will be given at an early date, and approximately 90 per cent are assured becoming immune.
