Facing the knowledge that a defeat would force them out of the running for Northwest conference honors, the Willamette university basketball squad is putting its strenuous practice sessions the early part of this week in preparation for the most important game of the season Wednesday night on the home floor against College of Puget Sound.

The Loggers defeated Spec Keene's proteges in their previous game at Tacoma, and since that time the Bearcats have been weakened by the loss of Ashby, who was injured in the Multnomah club game.

On the other hand, the Willamette team was not at its best when it played C. P. S. at Tacoma, and if it gets going right tomorrow night, has a good chance to win. Keene may try a new combination at the opening of the game, he hinted Monday, but this is not definite.

The Loggers are noted especially for their speed, and they have a sideline break style that is usually effective against the Bearcats' defense. Gillham, Ginn and Wilson are the pace makers for the team that will invade the Willamette gym Wednesday night, and Ferguson is equally good though not so speedy.

HOUSE PASSES BILL ASSISTING COUNTIES

Measure Carried 31 to 24 Over Road Committee's Fight Against Action

Considerable debate arose yesterday in the house over the question of the state highway funds being used to pay the cost of construction of all overhead and below grade crossings designated by the highway department hereafter.

Heretofore the county in which the construction is being done has paid 30 per cent, the state 30 per cent, and the railroad the remaining 40 per cent. Under Senate bill 75 the state will relieve the county of its 30 per cent.

Douglas county seemed to be the chief bone of contention, members in the eastern part of the state feeling that if the bill passed Douglas county would be benefited comparatively more than any other county in the state, due to the fact that more overhead crossings were designated to be built there than in any other locality.

The state now has 47 crossings which cost an aggregate of $1,047,000, and are of cheap construction, and 24 of heavy construction that cost about $40,000 each.

Douglas county now has to build a crossing at Sutherland at a cost of $63,000, one at Wilbur at $73,000, and at Shady Point to cost $69,000.

Those voting against the bill were Allen, Billingsley, Eppinger, German, Graham, Hamilton, Henderson, Hunter, Klesy, King, Kuehn, YaPollett, Macpherson, McCourt, Meind, Miller, Norvell, Olsen, Peirce, Peterson, Schulmerich, Scott, Stewart, Swan, Tom Weatherford and Winslow. The bill had 31 "ayes."

Schissler Dislikes New Shift Rule Alteration

CORVALLIS, Feb. 14.—(AP)—"The real shift or no shift" is the verdict of Paul J. Schissler, head football coach of Oregon Agricultural college, following a test in spring practice of the "two second pause" idea now before the rules committee.

The long pause is "absolutely hopeless," Schissler declared tonight. Pending a decision from the rules committee he will train his men in fundamentals and in plays from simple punt formation, he said.

GAME COMMISSION FOR CONSERVATION

Stand on Saving Wild Ducks Taken; Bremmer Recommended as Warden

PORTLAND, Feb. 14.—(AP)—A definite stand in favor of various steps being taken by the federal government to save the wild ducks of the west was taken by the Oregon game commission at its meeting here today. The commission authorized telegrams to Oregon's congressional delegation urging it to vote for the proposed $350,000 appropriation for the establishment of a game bird refuge at Bear River bay, Great Salt Lake, Utah.

The favorable attitude of the game commission with reference to the Utah project was seen by some sportsmen here tonight as a possible forerunner of a movement for similar work to be done by the federal government in the Malheur and Klamath lake regions where wild fowl suffered heavy mortality last summer due to a malady believed caused by lack of fresh water.

The commission voted tonight to urge Oregon sportsmen to contribute toward the $10,000 western duck fund instigated recently by the Associated Sportsmen's clubs of California.

Suspension of the publication of the Oregon Sportsman, the commission's monthly magazine, after July 1927, was voted. Increased activity of hatcheries and game farms, the commission decided, needed the funds more than the magazine.

CHAMPIONS TACKLE PORTLAND ACADEMY

Hill Military Only Opponent on Home Schedule; West Linn Game Looms

Salem high school will play the only home game of the week tonight against Hill Military academy of Portland, in what is expected to be a hard game, giving Salem some much needed hope on its game with West Linn.

Hill academy has defeated five Portland high school teams and holds victories over several other teams near Portland but was defeated by West Linn on the latter's floor.

The team is in fine mettle after three decisive victories over Ashland high school last week with scores of 48 to 14, 40 to 22, and 28 to 12. After a week's fitness Olinger got back into the traces in the last two games against Ashland and showed his customary power in breaking up scoring over that school. St. Paul defeated one of the physical training class teams 32 to 9 last week and represented their victory as being over the regular second team, which gives the first team a much better scrimmage than most of their opponents.

The preliminary game starts at 6:45, followed an hour later by the main game, the only home showing of the state champions this week.

ALL NEW STREETS MUST BE 60 FEET

City Zoning and Planning Commission Refuses to Change Ruling

Requirements that streets in new additions platted within six miles of Salem must be 60 feet wide, will not be modified, it was indicated Monday evening when the city planning and zoning commission failed to reconsider its action of the special meeting of last week with respect to Candalaria Heights and Moore's Fruit and Garden tracts.

Approval of these two plats was held up pending alteration to provide for 60 foot streets. The plat of McNary's Fruit and Garden tracts had been approved. At Monday night's meeting the matter was brought up again, but no one moved to reconsider.

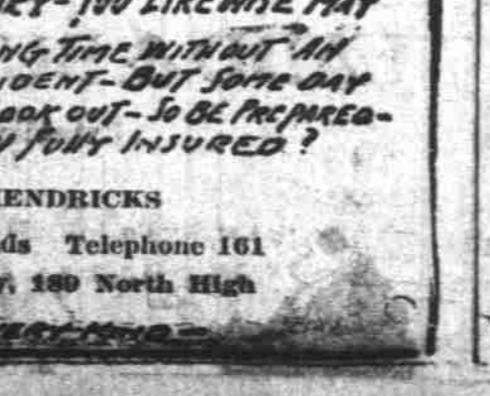

The unfavorable recommendation on an application for a curb pump on South Liberty also stood after the matter had been reopened to permit an explanation of the request.

The commission authorized a special committee to draft an ordinance which will require that all buildings in certain residence districts must be located at least 10 feet from any property line.

BILL FAVORS LOAN

Under a bill introduced by Senator Joseph the state would be able to borrow money from the state industrial accident fund at any time when the general fund of the state is depleted. It was argued that this proposed law would place the state in a position to tide over emergencies and at the same time eliminate huge interest payments.
