

SO-CALLED BARBER BILL BRINGS LAUGH

More Appropriation Measure Meet Approval of House; School Fund Hit

Some of the classifications of the so-called barbers bill did not meet with the approval of all the members yesterday when it came up on final hearing and was passed.

The bill requires that to receive a certificate of registration to practice barbering one must be 18 years of age, of good moral character and temperate habits, who has been an apprentice for 18 months, who has passed the state barbers examination and who produces a certificate from a registered physician that he is free from contagious diseases.

Inasmuch as Mr. Lewis goes to a barber shop not only for a hair cut and shave, but for a rest and some recreation, he thought the barbers should be required to read and be able to quote from such books as Robinson Crusoe, Gulliver's Travels, Iliad, Tam o' Shanter, from Shakespeare, etc.

On the other hand Mr. Swan thought that they should be required under the law to be deaf and dumb.

The purpose of the bill is to raise the standard of the barber trade in Oregon. No cost to the state was created by the bill.

Bill number 567 by Briggs was also executed by the house. Under provisions of the bill the county school fund would be appropriated on the basis of the number of elementary teachers in the county instead of on a census basis as now provided.

The main opposition to the bill was in the fact that a large amount of money would be taken from the larger school districts and given to the outlying districts. Mr. Winslow acknowledged that it would take some money from his home district but thought it fair to let the smaller districts benefit by it and so favored the bill.

House bill 34, by R. S. and W. S. Hamilton for the appropriation of $30,000 annually to be used in promoting agricultural development in the state of Oregon passed with only German, Henderson, Potter, Roberts and Swan voting no.

The bill provides for the supervision of a commission of five members of advertising Oregon, the members to serve without pay, and to furnish a bond in the sum of $5,000.

$15,000 to enable the Oregon social hygiene society to extend its educational work throughout the state for the next two years.

was appropriated by house bill number 132, by Watley.

For the purpose of establishing the office of real estate commissioner who shall receive a salary of $3600, and whose duties it shall be to supervise the regulation and licensing of real estate brokers, the house passed number 583 by German.

Number 345, appropriating $6,000 for expenses of the soldiers' and sailors' commission passed with no opposition. $500 was appropriated for use of the board of horticulture in inspecting, quarantining, and combating white pine blight by house bill 145.

For the widow and two minor children of Clyde R. Dindinger $2400 was set aside by the house yesterday also.

Number 64 providing that the school superintendents of each county shall set aside for each district $100 each November and each month thereafter necessary, to be used for the payment of expenses of instituted passed.

$10,000 for 1927 and 1928 to be used for investigating of feeding, incubation, housing and breeding of poultry at O. A. C. passed.

ROTARIANS HEAR ABOUT FIREARMS

Charles J. Lisle Says Custer's Soldiers Had Best Rifles of Time

Soldiers who took part in Custer's historic last stand were equipped with the best rifles then in existence for plains fighting, Charles J. Lisle, local collector of firearms and authority on firearm history, said at the Rotary club luncheon Wednesday, attacking the prevailing story that the soldiers, through corruption in the ordnance department, had inferior equipment and that traders had furnished the Indians with repeating rifles.

The single shot Springfields the soldiers had were effective at long range, while no satisfactory repeating rifle for fighting had yet been invented.

The Indians, because of their superior numbers, could have won that battle by clubbing the soldiers to death, Lisle said.

These remarks were made in connection with a discourse on the history of rifles, which Lisle illustrated by exhibiting a number of the interesting guns included in his collection.

School Rooms Broken Into by Some Marauders

SILVERTON, Ore., Feb. 16.—(Special).—Marauders entered every room of each school building at Silverton Tuesday night. School authorities report that they believe those breaking in were out-of-town people. A good "jimmy" was used by an experienced hand, it is understood. Very little was found by those who broke in. Only a few Ingersoll watches, a little silver change, and a blanket, given to the Girls' League by the Parent-Teachers association, was missing.

Cracker crumbs in some of the rooms were the only trace left.

MOVE TO ACCREDIT WU LAW SCHOOL

College Needs Three Full Time Professors and 7500 Volume Library

Steps toward fulfilling requirements which will result in the Willamette university law school being awarded equal rank with accredited schools of its type.

This is lacking now, not because of any fault of instruction but because of technicalities, are to be taken soon by the executive committee of the university board of trustees, according to action taken at Tuesday's meeting in Portland. It was reported by President Carl G. Doney, on his return to Salem.

The requirements which have not yet been met are three; a library of 7,500 volumes, employment of three full time professors, and entrance requirements calling for a minimum of two years of college credit.

The faculty is already one of the best in the west, and only one graduate of the law school here has failed in recent years to pass the state bar examinations, but most of the faculty members hold other positions as well. The students have access to the state law library. Two years of liberal arts are required for the law degree, but not for admittance as yet.

Thirty members of the board of trustees attended the meeting. The annual reports which were read, were received as generally satisfactory.
