Senator Klepper and Senator Dunne however signed a minority report that work a hardship on persons that could not operate their trucks with pneumatic tires. He was in favor of appointing an investigating committee to look into the matter and report their findings to the next legislature. It was a question in his mind if the bill was fundamentally right.

The bill to revise the certificate of title act, introduced by Representative Clark and numbered 284, was found to need so many amendments and changes before it could be really called a law that it was given to the clerk with the recommendation that the changes suggested by the committee be made, the bill re-printed and returned to the committee. Senator Eddy has gone over the bill and spent a great deal of effort to correct it, and it is very likely that this is all that kept the committee from passing it with an adverse report last night. The penalties were considered by the committee to be so heave that they would render the bill ineffective. Senator Dunne said that he has been convinced that the title law is a good law, and with some corrections can be made

Appreciated Good Work Being Done by Judges But No Raise

On motion by Mr. Lonergan the veto message with the bill were laid on the table.

The governor also vetoed bill number 464 by the repeal of laws committee. This measure repealed the law creating the judicial council. The governor considered that the council was necessary and should not be abolished. The message and bill were referred to the committee on constitutional law on motion by R. S. Hamilton.
