

JOCKEY TO DRIVE LOCKED TO WHEEL

Prybylek to Drive Continuously for Four Days and Nights; Starts Today

The hearts of Salem flappers will go "Pit, A Pat," today and they will "Pit, A Pat," for a real live jockey is going to do his stuff in our city. Albin Prybylek, well known where ever the turf has made its appearance, is the jockey in question. Albin is not going to do any galloping of horses while her, but is going to do a real iron mon stunt, something that will keep him in the minds of public more than a mere horse race. Prybylek will attempt to drive a Whippet coach for four days and nights with out sleep or food other than a good grade of milk supplied by the Fairmount Dairy. During the entire time Prybylek will be handcuffed to the wheel of the car and Chief of Police Minto will retain the key until 5:30 p. m. Saturday.

A large crowd gathered at the Gliese Furniture company last night to see the youthful driver enjoy his last rest that he is to have for four long days and weary nights. Prybylek will be called from the "road" bed at exactly 12:30 today to start the test from Gliese Powers and if successful in staying on deck till Saturday will finish there. Albin is willing to trade places with any one who thinks the stunt is easy. Extra police will be on hand to direct traffic and take care of the crowd that is expected out to see the start of this sleep defying driver and the well wishers who are interested in seeing Prybylek bring home the bacon. Every possible care has been taken to help bring this test of man and machine to a successful ending. The Smith and Watkins company have put a set of Kelley Springfield Tires on the car so Prybylek's tire trouble is over and General Petroleum company will supply the Parahese oil and general gas for the entire run so every thing is in Prybylek's favor for success. If Albin can hold out till Saturday at 5:30 p. m. the time set by himself to finish he not only will be reimbursed with cash but will win a beautiful nurse as his wife, the marriage to take place on the stage at the Capitol theatre Tuesday evening March 1. Prybylek states: "I am not only looking forward to the wedding but also to the finish of the drive when I will go to the Salem restaurant, Saturday at 5:30 p. m. and enjoy a good steak. Butter Nut bread and specially prepared vegetables." Macdonald Auto company who handle the Whippet is driving will keep their sales room open Saturday evening to the public to see the condition of the driver after the run who will be asleep there for 5 hours the doctors claim that after being up four days and nights that Prybylek would be apt to go in to a sleeping sickness were he to sleep longer than five hours.

MARINES TO MARCH INTO NICARAGUA

Town 20 Miles From Capital of Country Object of Coming Expedition

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 21. (AP.)—United States marines are ready to proceed to Masaya, 20 miles southeast of Managua, which was the scene of an engagement between conservatives and liberal forces this afternoon. Some of the wounded have been brought to Managua.

Preparations have been made several days ago to remove the capital to Masaya in case of an emergency, such as a liberal attack on Managua.

Details of the battle are meager but some of the conservative wounded reported that neither side had gained any decided advantage.

As Masaya is on the railroad between Managua and Granada, with part of the American forces scattered along the route to guard the tracks, a detachment of marines was ordered in readiness for extra service at the scene of the conflict.

Khaki tents and khaki-clad Americans are part of the picture along the railroad between Corinto and Managua, and guards of marines are riding every train. The liberals are greatly agitated, asserting that the action of the United States has passed far beyond the bounds of protection of the lives and interests of Americans and other foreigners.

Oil Damages Oklahoma's Cotton Crop

A Scene in Seminole County Where Oil is Destroying the Cotton Crop

Oil, the same black fluid which has brought millions to many, may reduce cotton planters in Seminole and Hughes counties, Oklahoma, to poverty since it is constantly reducing their acreage. The Seminole pool has ruined more than 1,000 acres of fine cotton land and promises to ruin as many more. Other counties in the state are likely to be affected also.

RELIEF SEEN FOR SOME OF FLOODED SALEM

that the sewer committee should have freedom to spend the money available as it thinks best. Patton then changed his motion to conform to Purvine's suggestion.

Conditions in the north end were described by several citizens, one saying that it had been impossible to hold school for weeks at a time, because fires could not be built.

This critical situation is a blessing in disguise, Street Commissioner Low declared, because it brings to public attention the general inadequacy of the drainage system. Large areas are drained by single lines of eight inch sewer with little fall. A surface drainage system is needed, he said, and then the sewers will be adequate for the rest. Many new buildings have been erected in North Salem, and their down spouts all run into the sewers. The city has sewers for a population of only 15,000, whereas there are now 27,000 people here.

Blame for the flooding in some districts was laid to the laying of small, inadequate tile under new street pavement, in the discussion by citizens living on the east side and in the vicinity of Bush's pasture. It was stated that some of these places had never flooded until after the pavement was laid last summer.

Conditions, as bad as they are, are no worse here than in Portland, Albany and Eugene, and not nearly as bad as in Medford, where the fire engines are being kept busy pumping out basements.

BONAPARTE BEGINS PLANNING OF CITIES

Salem Adopts System in 1925; Four Classes of Districts Provided

City planning, as carried out in a vast number of cities in the United States at present, has the distinction of having been introduced to the world by Napoleon Bonaparte, members of the Salem Chamber of Commerce were told by Lewis P. Campbell, chairman of the Salem city planning and zoning commission, in a talk at Monday's luncheon. Napoleon instituted zoning laws in several of the cities which came under his control.

New York City, the first city in the United States to adopt such a system, did not do so until 1916 although some restrictive ordinances were in existence in eastern cities as early as 1904.

The practice has become so popular that half of the cities of populations over 18,000 now live under such rules, Campbell reported.

The Oregon law enabling cities to adopt city planning ordinances was passed in 1919, and the Salem ordinance was adopted in 1925. The present commission was appointed in August of last year. The constitutionality of the ordinance here is safeguarded in that it copies after the Portland ordinance, on which the supreme court has ruled favorably.

Salem is divided by the zoning ordinance into four classes of districts. In the first, residences alone are permitted, although churches and other buildings not inappropriate to a residence district may be built under local
