FLAX AND LINEN SURVEY ON FRIDAY

Portland Delegation to Visit Prison Plant and See Our New Mills

A delegation of about 25 business men of Portland, representing the Portland Chamber of Commerce and those who have invested in the Oregon Linen Mills, Inc., will visit Salem on Friday, the 25th.

They will leave Portland about 9:30 or later and will probably go to the Marion for luncheon, or scatter. All will meet at the penitentiary at 1:30. After the visit at the penitentiary, looking over the state flax plant there, the principal visit will be at the Oregon Linen Mills and the Miles plants.

A few Salem men acquainted with the different operations have been detailed to help in showing the Portland people around.

U.S. SENATE HAS ALL-NIGHT SESSION

Sergeant-at-Arms Ordered to Arrest Absentees to Obtain Quorum

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—(AP)—After warrants had been issued for the arrest of absentees, for the first time since 1915, the senate early today mustered a quorum lack of which had kept the business at a standstill during a protracted night session for three hours.

Although David Barry, the sergeant-at-arms, had been ordered to arrest absent members and bring them to the capitol, he adhered to a senate tradition of never forcing a senator to enter the chamber against his will. Instead, he advised missing members by telephone of the situation and urged them to rush to the capitol.

Shortly before midnight with a filibuster against the Boulder canyon dam bill, well under way a quorum call showed only 37 senators present, eleven less than a majority. The sergeant-at-arms first was directed to telephone to absentees, then to "compel" their attendance, and finally, on motion of Senator Neely, democrat, West Virginia, to issue warrants and go after them.

One by one absentees came into the chamber until at 2:14 a. m. Senator Pine, republican, Oklahoma, appeared, providing the needed quorum.

Instead of adjourning, the senate, which then had kept in session continuously for nearly 14 hours, except for the time spent in joint session with the house for Washington Birthday exercises, kept on with the grind.

FALL EXPECTED THIS MORNING IN RIVER

The Oregon flood, which made history in being the most severe in 20 years, established another mark, in that it brought about the first through train service between Portland and San Francisco over the new Cascade line, recently completed between Eugene and Klamath Falls.

The Southern Pacific company had plans under way for inaugurating through passenger service over this line later in the spring, but the emergency caused by the blocking of the present main line induced the company to route through passenger trains over the Cascade line today for the first time.

The Willamette dropped five feet today at Eugene, but nevertheless low lands in that vicinity were still under water, and many families were removed by boats from houses and hills where they had been marooned. No loss of life was reported.

The weather was clear at Eugene this afternoon. Damage to county roads near there was estimated at $50,000 an d the Chase Gardens, greenhouse in the river district estimated its loss at $50,000. High water was receding at Cottage Grove after covering parts of the business and residential districts.

Junction City also was drying out after being flooded. Water remained on some of the lower streets of Springfield.

North Albany was inundated today and at Corvallis the flood waters this afternoon were pouring through the windows of the Oregon Electric depot, and that building was reported on the verge of being washed away. The river at Corvallis was still rising early this afternoon, and had mounted above the top of the gauge.

At Salem the Willamette had passed the 22 foot mark this afternoon, and was expected to reach 25 feet. Water forced closing of the Spaulding Lumber mill, The Albany-Corvallis highway was closed, and the east side highway was blocked at Harrisburg. The Salem-Silverton bridge at Pudding river was five feet under water.

The Willamette continued to rise at Portland, and flooding of lower docks levels was imminent. House boats moored along the banks here were in danger of being swept down stream.

Medford, Grants Pass, and Roseburg, in southern Oregon all reported the floods as subsiding, and highway traffic resuming.

RADIO CONGRESS MEETS

Government Commission to Handle Problems Is Discussed

DES MOINES, La., Feb. 22.—(AP)—The government commission to handle radio problems and the use of the air for direct advertising purposes, are two questions attracting the attention of midwest radio congress delegates here tonight.

The congress which opens tomorrow probably will adopt resolutions on both questions, one favoring the early creation of the radio commission and the other condemning stations using the air during the evening entertainment period to further the sale of various products. The latter resolution also is expected to express a consensus of opinion on the question, "is wave jumping or increasing of power justifiable?"

"The present prosperity, well-being and commanding position of the United States and its industries are due basically to electric power."—Frank L. Dame.

BORAH HITTING AGAIN AT NICARAGUAN POLICY

Created surprises in administration senate circles, but spokesmen for that element declined to be quoted.

Democratic and republican insurgent leaders, however, spoke freely on the merits of the resolution, Senator Robinson, the democratic leader, declaring he was "wholeheartedly in favor of it" and Senator Swanson, of Virginia, ranking democrat on the foreign relations committee, expressing the view that "it would do good."

Senator Shipstead, farmer-labor, Minnesota, Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota, and other insurgents declared the resolution would pass with coalition support.

Senator Borah has been a leading critic in the senate of the administration's Central American policy, particularly with regard to Nicaragua, and has advocated arbitration of the Mexican controversy.

Since conflicting reports come from the troubled zones, Senator Borah says he hopes to lead his committee into the territory to interview leaders of all sides and get an accurate line on the situation during the congressional recess.

While Senator Borah was making his move in the senate, Representative Moore, democrat, Virginia, also renewed his opposition to the administration policy toward Central America, offering a resolution asking why American forces in Nicaragua had been expanded.

Meanwhile, in official circles here, an impression gained ground today that proposals of President Diaz of Nicaragua for new treaty relations with the United States would have no immediate bearing on the situation that prompted the increase of naval landing forces there.

The letter from President Diaz will not reach Washington until after adjournment of congress, and there is no chance, according to informed officials, that the administration will present to the present senate for ratification a treaty amplifying American relations with Nicaragua.

Daily Meditation Called Good for Christianity—CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The power of Christianity would be enlarged manifold if a great body of laymen could be formed who daily gave a few minutes to meditation and reflection, Dr. Sheldon P. Delaney, a clergyman of New York, today said before members of the Episcopal church in the Chicago diocese.

"Faith and depth of character can be developed only through meditation," he declared.

"No one will doubt the effectiveness and value of two minutes of silence on Armistice Day, or when the Unknown Soldier was buried in Washington," Dr. Delaney said. "If such a short period of meditation and reflection is so effective, what a tremendous effect a period of 10 or 15 minutes a day, given to quiet thinking, would have upon the nation and Christianity."

SALEM MONTANA CLUB TO HAVE LARGE GATHERING

Having secured the cooperation of the entire business district, the Salem Montana club is planning for the largest reception of new townspeople ever carried out in the city.

Plans have been completed for a full program of greeting to all newcomers who have arrived in the city in the past few years. C. F. Gillette, president of the club, came from Montana a few months ago and found no active organization of people here from his home state. By January he had completed his plans for a suitable club that would promote a friendly fellowship among former residents of the "Grizzly" state.

Having reached a total membership of more than 600 people, the club is making this effort to lawfully let the newcomers know that they are now in Oregon. They will assemble at the armory Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

CELEB AND McLARNIN DRAW SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Jimmy McLarnin, Vancouver, B. C., and Tommy Cello, San Francisco, rival lightweights, fought 10 fast rounds to a draw at the San Francisco baseball park today. The Canadian boy piled up an early lead, which Cello offset by a flashing finish.

SALEM BOY SCOUTS EDIFY KIWANIS

Troop 6 Gives Demonstration of Organization Activities at Lunch

What the activities of the boy scout organization are, and how well Salem scouts have them mastered, were demonstrated by members of troop 6 for the edification of the Salem Kiwanis club, which sponsors this troop, as the feature of the club's luncheon Tuesday noon.

The entire program was managed by the scouts themselves, except for a welcoming address by ex-Governor Walter M. Pierce. Scout Executive Harold D. Ware and Scoutmaster Robert Brady kept in the background and the older scouts directed the show.

Willis Peary recited the scout law letter perfect, and it was not until he had finished that the Kiwanians were told he had been a scout for only three weeks. Phil Morris, with Vernon Schultz as a "patient," demonstrated first aid with the use of a shirt, bandaging about five imaginary wounds and fractures, and quitting with nothing but the buttons left.

Andrey Rankin and Valey Enor demonstrated fire making with the bow drill, and Jack Bush told the significance of the scout badges. Lewis Campbell, Jr. led in an improvised yell, honoring the Kiwanis club, and took com-
