

SIDE LIGHTS OF THE STAGE and SCREEN

Elsinore Theater

A slash across the face administered by the daughter of a former saloonkeeper to the son of a family of wealth and high social position resulted in an entire change in the ideas the family of wealth had held toward the duty of elders toward the younger generation, and toward life in general.

Whether this change in ideas is for better or worse is something that depends on the viewpoint of the individual; the law would say it was for the better, and so, probably, will most persons, the story is being told on the screen at the Elsinore theater for one day, March 4, where "The Mad Whirl," Universal-Jewel all-star production, is to be shown.

"The Mad Whirl" is the screen version of "Here's How," a short story written by Richard Washburn Child, former minister to Italy. The story created a sensation for it was interpreted as an attack on the lax manner in which present day parents exercise jurisdiction over the conduct of their children.

There is a clear high note of hilarity in the Association Vaudeville bill which comes to the Elsinore theater today, March 4. Loads of clean fun, gay dancing and a splash of melody make it a whirl of cheerfulness. Two comedians, Jack DeBell and Harry Vine, headline with a clever combination of funny chatter and a few songs. Their conversation seems to be natural with them, and they just sit and talk without paying much attention to the audience, and conversation drifts from one amusing incident to another without appearing to have been planned beforehand. The songs are worked in nicely with this talk.

Fifty performing birds that sing, dance, talk, give imitations and do acrobatics, a dog and two cats will be introduced in the Bird Cabaret. The gorgeously plumed and gayly colored cockatoos, parrots and macaws will present a beautiful appearance. In ages, they range from seven to 124 years. A tropical scenic environment adds to the colorful effect of the act.

Davis, Elliott & Wallace will offer an amusing skit called "Ivory and Ivories," in which will be found a variety of entertainment. Davis is a "nut" comedian, Miss Elliott is an accomplished pianist, and Wallace is a capable foil and performer on the musical saw.

John Geiger, in the guise of a street musician will present a real musical novelty in which he introduces his "Talking Violin," an instrument that has given him a world-wide reputation not only for his wonderful ability to play it, but also the marvelous interpretation of the human voice and imitation of birds and animals that he secures from the instrument.

Probably the prime factor in athletics is the ease of execution. A difficult feat if awkwardly executed is ruined. While on the other hand a difficult feat if performed as though it were the usual thing immediately scores. This is one reason for the success of the Herbert and Bolt Trio. They have perfected routines composed entirely of difficult feats but they perform these as though they were simplicity themselves. For ease and graceful movements this trio has no equal. They are undoubtedly the best gymnasts in vaudeville.

"The Storm Breakers" with Ruth Clifford will be the special attraction at the Elsinore theater for one day, March 5.

"The Auctioneer" will be shown at the Elsinore theater for two days, Sunday and Monday, March 6 and 7. In addition to the picture there will be the Fanchon and Marco vaudeville bill.

"The Noose" will be shown at the Elsinore theater for one day, March 9.

Oregon Theater
The picture in which Miss Philbin will be seen next is "The Rose of Paris," Universal-Jewel which will be shown at the Oregon theater for last time, March 4. Irving Cummings who directed Miss Philbin in "Fools Highway" directed, and he surrounded the star with one of the most capable casts assembled in a long time for work before a camera.

The other Universal production in which Miss Philbin was starred is "The Gaiety Girl," directed by King Baggot.

"The Rose of Paris" was adapted from the story, "Mitsi," by Delly, the pen name of a sister and brother who have taken France by storm with a number of novels in the writing of which they have collaborated. It is the story of an orphan girl whose widowed mother died leaving her to the only friend she had after being disowned because of her marriage.
Then the death of the child's grandfather leads to a search for the daughter and discloses the existence of the granddaughter, who immediately becomes the pawn in a game of strategy played by the woman cafe owner and the partner and potential heir of the girl's grandfather.

"Risky Business" featuring dainty Vera Reynolds will be shown at the Oregon theater for two days, March 5 and 6.

"Silken Shackles" will be shown at the Oregon theater for three days, March 7, 8 and 9. This picture features Irene Rich.

Capitol Theater
The Bligh's Capitol theater will offer a double bill program last times today. As an added attraction the Hollywood players, in the latest comedy hit of the season "Almee's Lost Shack" on the screen Elinor Glyn's production "Loves Blindness" featuring Antonio Moreno and Pauline Starke.

When Erich Von Stroheim made "The Merry Widow" for Metro Goldwyn-Mayer, the motion picture industry was shown what was meant by a "passion for detail."
Down to the shoestrings on the most far-flung extra of the greatest mob, Von Stroheim insisted on rigid authenticity.

Now on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot there is another motion picture creator who exercises the same rigorous supervision of detail, perhaps less ostentatiously, but none the less thoroughly.

This time it is Elinor Glyn, who supervised the production from her own novel of "Loves Blindness," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture now at the Capitol Theater with Pauline Starke and Antonio Moreno in the leading roles, which John Francis Dillon directed.

Mme. Glyn personally supervised the selections of every player that appears in the film, down to the most inconspicuous extra, and not only that but every detail of dress and department of every player had to be visited by Mme. Glyn before it was photographed.
She chose every piece of furniture dressed and passed on the architect's drawings of all the buildings.

MONMOUTH, Mar. 3.—(Special.)—Regular meeting of the Monmouth city council was held Tuesday night and at the invitation of Mayor H. W. Morlan, R. E. Koon of the firm of Stevens and Koon, consulting engineers of Portland, met with and offered expert advice on the permanent program planned for Monmouth.

The main work of the council was determining the most economical and practical manner for paving the city residence districts, which are now requesting improvements. These streets are sixty feet in width, which makes paving almost prohibitive. Mr. Koon agreed with several of the members that paving a twenty-four foot strip down each street and converting the remainder into wide parking strips was the most feasible plan. No definite decisions were reached and Mr. Koon was requested to meet with the council at a special meeting next week. Plans for financing this paving program were also discussed.

Elkins Jersey Calf Club Reorganized
Boys Of Community Have Been Very Successful In Work

OREGON NORMAL SCHOOL, Monmouth, Mar. 3.—(Special.)—Re-organization of the Elkins Jersey Calf Club was effected in that district last Saturday and the election of officers was completed at this meeting. County Agent J. B. Beck talked to the boys with regard to the objectives of the organization, after which the boys held a general discussion concerning the business of raising pure bred Jersey calves and formulated a set of by laws for their club.

Boys of the Elkins community have had a Jersey calf club for the past four years and have been very successful in raising calves of high grade, some of which won state recognition and sold for fancy prices. Through their past efforts and success these boys are encouraged to raise calves on a larger scale and are planning to exhibit in both county and state fairs next fall. Ownership of a pure bred Jersey calf is one of the requirements for membership in the club, and one had regretted not being among the charter members because he had not yet found just the right calf he wanted to buy, hoping to find one that would be a winner. The boys in this community talk with the wisdom of their fathers regarding the calf industry and go about it in a very business like manner. Some of these boys attended the Club Boys and Girls Agricultural two weeks' course offered at OAC last summer and speak of those two weeks as a very happy and profitable event in their lives.

Mrs. H. P. Stith, millinery. Most beautiful hats in Salem; all shapes and colors; full stock from which to make fine selections. Best quality. 333 State St. (*) start immediate construction on the Dayville-Mitchell section of the Ochoco highway, a 32 mile piece of road which would provide the last link of a trans-state highway through central Oregon. Members of the commission explained that construction of the road, which will require an outlay of approximately $800,000, undoubtedly will begin in a year or two as an important phase of the commission's policy of connecting the main arteries of the state. Lack of funds prohibited the commission from proceeding with the work at the present time, the members explained.

The status of the commission's obligations was explained briefly by Roy A. Klein, secretary of the commission and state highway engineer, who stated that $35,366,000 on April 1 will represent the total bonded indebtedness of the highway fund, a reduction of more than $3,000,000 from the peak indebtedness of two years ago. On April 1 a warrant for $1,525,863.32 is due, of which $700,000 is principal and $825,863.32 is interest.

Among the contracts awarded today were the following:
Lewis and Clark river section of the Roosevelt coast highway, Clatsop county. Construction of 3200 square yards of concrete pavement, awarded to John Slotte company, Astoria, for $8,231.

Prune Growers Get Blanks to Fill Out

Number of Residents Ill With Flu; Hastings' Return

SUNNYSIDE, March 3.—(Special.)—The flu is still an unwelcome visitor in this neighborhood. Mrs. W. Dyer and Mrs. Frank Barnett are among the latest victims.

M. S. Chandler and family of Silverton were Sunnyside visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hastings have moved back on their ranch in this district and old friends and neighbors are glad to welcome them back.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller Porter of Rosedale spent the day with D. S. Pearsons' Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Heckart spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Marian Curry of Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Beckley were Salem visitors Monday.

The prune growers of this district have received blanks regarding their prune acreage, age of trees, etc., and are urged to fill them out and return them as soon as possible. This is to assist in the investigation of the prune business which is being made by the United States department of agriculture.

Luckiamute Garden Club Completes Organization

OREGON NORMAL SCHOOL, Monmouth, Mar. 3.—(Special.)—Luckiamute Garden Club in the Elkins district south of Monmouth completed their organization last week under the leadership of Wm. McDowney. The term garden included both flowers and vegetables, and the purposes of the club are to encourage the boys and girls to raise gardens and flowers as a worthwhile industry—educationally and financially. There are each year, many beautiful flower gardens and splendid truck gardens in the Elkins community and every encouragement will be given the members by the older people in the district.

Officers elected are: president, Chester Smith; vice president, Jess Tedrow; secretary, Earl Johnson. One other charter member is Jim McDowney, but several others are expected to join at the next meeting.

TRIAL STILL UNSETTLED

State and Federal Government Both After De Autremont

PORTLAND, March 3.—(AP)—Decision has not as yet been reached as to whether the state or the federal government will first try Hugh De Autremont, one of the three brothers charged with the holdup of Southern Pacific train No. 13 south of Siskiyou, Ore., on October 11, 1923. De Autremont is now en route to the United States on the transport Thomas.

A conference held today at the office of George Neuner, United States attorney, was attended by Newton C. Chaney, district attorney of Jackson county; Charles Riddiford, post office inspector in charge, Spokane, Wash.; Charles B. Welter, post office inspector from the Portland office, and Mr. Neuner.

NEW HOTEL STILL UNDER DISCUSSION

Water Commissioner Suggests That City Be Asked for Bond Issue

SILVERTON, Ore., March 3.—(Special.)—No definite action was taken on the proposed hotel proposition at the chamber of commerce dinner Wednesday evening. However, many suggestions were offered and much discussion was held. The committee in charge of this proposition is composed of Norris Ames, M. G. Gunderson, T. R. Reistgen, L. C. Eastman, and P. L. Brown.

The industrial committee had a great many other suggestions also. One of the most urgent questions was whether the chamber should seek to develop the outlying districts or enterprises within the city itself. There were suggestions of boosting the electric light system in the country, of establishing a milk condensory, another creamery and a cheese factory in the old Silverton creamery plant and many other ideas which will be considered.

Dr. C. W. Keene, junior member of the water commission, recommended that Silverton be asked to approve, by special election of a $45,000 bond issue to replace and improve the water system.

one guilty and the other defendant not guilty.

The other note asked the court at what time a juror's vote was final. The judge explained that his own consciousness of inability to change his vote should be the only guide in the matter, although he would listen to
