

WHALING INDUSTRY REVOLUTIONIZED

Wireless Equipment Increases
Efficient Hunting of Many Whalers

STANLEY, Falkland Islands—(AP)—Wireless telephony is revolutionizing the whaling industry. In addition to the radio, the Antarctic whalers are being fitted with direction finders because in regions close to the magnetic pole, where much whaling is done, the magnetic compass is of little use.

Wireless equipment has not only increased the hunting efficiency of the whaler fleets, but has also simplified some of the most difficult problems and greatly reduced the possibility of such dangers as isolation and loss of bearings.

In the great change brought about by the wireless methods of whaling, when one of the vessels so equipped sights a school of whales, perhaps after several weeks' search, it may immediately inform the other ships in the same fleet by telephone, and all can make for the best spot for hunting. The "factory ship," which accompanies the whalers, can also be directed to the most suitable position for taking charge of the catches. By a simple system of code words the vital information in any message is kept secret from any other ships of a different company that might be within range.

In one instance by means of a half kilowatt telephone fitted on the floating whaling factory "C. A. Larsen" a conversation has been heard more than 2000 miles by the whaler "Sir James Clark Ross." Normally, however, communication is maintained between whalers and with the whaling station up to a thousand miles.

The actual methods of hunting whales have also undergone almost as great a change as have the methods of communication among the whaling fleets. Until a few years ago the quarry was caught by harpoons cast by men in rowing boats, but today fast steam launches of 150 to 180 tons, specially constructed and equipped with 1000 horse power engines, are used for the pursuit, while harpoons are projected from guns instead of being thrown by hand.

Uses to which the whale is put have also been extended. The whole of the carcass is utilized in the production of oil, bone, cattle, cake, leather, fertilizer and other marketable commodities, the only thing that escapes, like the squeal of the pig in the Chicago packing houses, being the "spout."

SKULL AND BONES FOUND

ILWACO, Wash., March 5.—(AP)—A skull and other human bones, believed to have been buried nearly 35 years ago, were discovered today by men working on the new road from Megler to Ilwaco, which will connect with the new O. W. R. R. & N. ferry to be put in service in the near future.

CHILD GETS SICK CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

Look at tongue! Then give fruity laxative for stomach, liver, bowels

"California Fig Syrup" can't harm children and they love it

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Fig Syrup" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious, "fruity laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside cleansing." Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," then see that it is made by "The California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

FRESHMAN GLEE WON BY W. U. SENIOR CLASS

and gowns had filed in, the program opened with an address of welcome by Eldred Cobb of the freshman class, followed by a harp solo of exceptional merit played by Miss Esther Palmer.

The seniors presented their song in impressive fashion, the effect being aided by the first appearance of the caps and gowns. Their marching to and from the stage was the most perfect of any of the classes.

Harmony Outstanding
Harmony was the outstanding feature of the juniors' offering, "Serenade Song," with words by Frank Alfred and music by Louise Findley and Margaret Lewis. Its adaptability to part singing was clearly brought out, and the interpretation was also exceptional.

The sophomores had the most pleasing formation on the stage of any of the groups, and the impression made by their song was heightened by the excellent work of the class orchestra. The song, "Willamette Reveries," was written by Mary Louise Aiken, and the music composed by June Gaines.

Freshman Song Spirited
The freshman song, "The Spell of the Night," was the most spirited of any, and the class gained approval by the perfect manner in which the large group made its entrance and exit, as well as by its interpretation of the spirit of the song and the artistry of its hummed accompaniment to an interpolated harp solo by Miss Palmer. The words were written by Virginia Edwards, the music by Marjorie Miller, Helene Price and Betty Corskie.

Professor James T. Matthews announced the results, mercifully shortening the moments of suspense with which he has at times in the past good naturedly tantalized the anxious students as they waited for the verdict. A number which almost eclipsed in interest the song contest itself, was the dramatic reading given by Miss Mary McKee, midway of the program. A pleasing violin solo was played by Miss Fay Irvine.

YOUNG GIRL BEGINS STUDYING WITH DIVA

Fifteen Year Old Florida Miss
Starts Work Leading to Stardom

ST PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—Emilie Mackenfuss, a fifteen year old Florida girl who dreams of being a great opera singer, will not have to wait long now before she begins the serious training which may carry her to the heights of stardom.

For as soon as Madame Schuman Heink finishes her present concert tour, she plans to summon the girl to her for instruction. Emilie's soprano voice primarily caused the famous contralto to take her into her arms and promise to help make her an artist. But there also was another reason.

Emilie's life is strikingly similar to the early years of Madame Schuman-Heink. She is of German parentage, although born in Charleston, S. C., and her age is the same at which the contralto was "discovered."

Then, too, Emilie roams the fields near her home in a St. Petersburg suburb, singing and picking flowers much in the same manner as Madame Schuman-Heink used to do. She also is a soloist in the church choir.

Emilie is only a sophomore in high school and has never studied music, but Madame Schuman-Heink believes she will develop into a "splendid artist" with the proper training.

KEENE TO BE SPEAKER

State Basketball Tournament Topic for Public Consideration

Roy S. Keene, athletic coach at Willamette university, will be speaker at the chamber of commerce luncheon Monday noon. He will discuss the state basketball tournament to be held here March 10 and 11.

Mr. Keene will urge Salem men to get behind this tournament and buy season tickets. The tournament is a big advertisement for the city, bringing 100 players from all over the state, besides other visitors.

In case Salem does not back the tournament, other cities now seeking it will get it.

SCHOOL VETERAN QUILTS

ILWACO, Wash., March 5.—(AP)—After having served 30 years and three months continuously as acting clerk and director of the school board of this city, J. A. Howerton today tendered his resignation. He resigned from the clerkship of the city of Ilwaco several months ago after having served 30 years in that capacity. Howerton is manager of the Ilwaco Telephone and Telegraph company.

SENIOR CLASS SONG

Winner in Willamette Freshman Glee

DRIFTING

The night's cool breezes, whispering,
Disturb the silent air;
The stars in splendor gleaming,
Reveal their beauty rare.
The mists are slyly stealing
Along Willamette stream,
Come drift with me, my loved one,
While night reigns here supreme.

Chorus

Down on the still Willamette,
Into the starry light
That beams through the shadowy treetops—
Into the quiet night;
Borne on the dancing ripples,
Lulled in our frail canoe,
Losing my life in happiness—
I love to drift with you!

Our bark is smoothly swaying
On soft waves tipped with blue.
Sweet echoes round us are playing,
"May your fairest dreams come true."
We drift along the stream, love,
Amid the soft moonbeams
That fill the night with radiance,
And blend our lives in dreams.

CAP LIVING DOWN BAD REPUTATION

Some Dance Halls in Paris
Show Signs Excluding
Cap Wearers

PARIS.—(AP)—The cap, insignia of the "tough" and the Apache in France for many years, is living down its bad reputation.

The cap, in Paris, is becoming the universal head covering for those interested in sports. People in automobiles more often than not wear caps, but usually they carry hats for use when they get out of their cars.

In the provinces the cap is still looked at askance by the conservative generations.

The opprobrium of the cap dates back many years. There still are dance halls in Paris where there are signs: "Persons wearing caps not admitted."

The cap, it might be said, is proper when the person wearing it is proper. Young men of doubtful pedigrees, picked up by the police still are described in newspapers as "wearing caps," which is an indication of how the French in general still regard what they consider an altogether too negligible top-piece.

Cap-makers, nevertheless, insist there are eight million caps in France, which is one for every fifth person. Certainly a count of people in the streets wouldn't show one person in twenty wearing a cap.

IF YOUR SUPPER LAYS LIKE LEAD

And you Spend the Night
Fighting Hobgoblins

Try a little diapsin. Supper dances, fancy drinks, too much tobacco, coffee and highly seasoned dishes play havoc with the stomach. Diapsin takes the worst sort of combination of foods, settles them, absorbs the gassy, sour heartburn and you go peacefully to sleep without a struggle.

It is embarrassing to have to refuse eating in company. But if you are a dyspeptic you may safely take a chance with any mixture and avoid suffering by the rule of one or two diapsins after eating. You'll get more out of life, more pleasure, more health, more strength and endurance.

Steady digestion and freedom from acid-dyspepsia is guaranteed any stomach by the use of diapsin after eating.

Get a 60 cent package of Pape's Diapsin at any drug store. You'll recommend it.—Adv.

Woman Granted Divorce and Support for Child

Mrs. Inez Nye was awarded a decree of divorce from her husband, Merle M. Nye in circuit court Saturday on the grounds of desertion.

The plaintiff stated that their marriage occurred in 1920, following which they lived together until 1924. She asked for the custody of their four year old son and $20 towards his support.

The court made the provision that if the alimony was not paid the defendant should not be allowed to see the child.

rice Saturday that a car which he was driving had been struck on the Abaqua river bridge between Silverton and Mt. Angel by a car driven by Sig Sorenson of Tacoma.

Rider stated that he saw the Sorenson car coming and had pulled to a complete stop to let him pass, but the Tacoma man was travelling too fast to make the bridge approach and hit him head-on. Sorenson's car carried a California license.

Neither driver was injured. Both cars were damaged by the crash, although not beyond repair.
