The Salem Senators, and prop ably other clubs in the Portland City League, will do their best this season to line up teams composed almost entirely of right handed hitters, it is indicated by the fact that almost all of the leading pitchers of the league are sout paws, and good ones.

Four of these port siders are men who have played big time ball, and some of them are still the property of clubs in organized baseball, The Cycols, for instance, who last year would have been a world beating club if they had essessed an effective pitching staff, this year will start with Coovert on the mound.

Fuzzy Carson will be Nicolai's leading flinger, Bob Hewitt will be pitching for the Woodmen, and Lefty Schroeder for Mt. Scott. These three and Coovert have all pitched in organized ball. And Montaville will have Johnny Harkins, who is another wise old head in addition to having the stuff on the ball.

So Manager Leo "Frisco" Edwards of the Senators is hunting for a right handed batting order. and at the same time he is going to have a southpaw who can keep up with the rest of them in Fleury, Chemawa youth who is also an outfielder.

Among the new players who showed up well in Sunday's opening practice, were Long, an infielder from Weed; Fitzmaurice who used to play at Condon, and McFarland from last year's Harrisburg team.

"Red" Rupert, manager of the Albany team last year, was in Salem today and reported that he will organize a fast club again this year. Salem and Albany will probably play one or two holiday

At Monday night's league meeting in Portland, it was decided that the two tail end clubs after 14 weeks of play, should be dropped from the league. All of the teams put up their forfeit money, clinching membership in the league. Another meeting will be held in two weeks. The sched-ule is expected to be completed this week, and will probably not be changed from the tentative outline which gave Salem 20 home games and only one in Portland. The managing committee will hold its second meeting this evening at 7 o'clock at the Capitol

Frank Stellmacher Shows Kiwanis Club Work Done by Aiding Birds

Oregon people should be more concerned with the wild game Winnipeg boxer, in the main event problem than they are, Frank Stellmacher, member of the state game commission, declared at the tion pictures showing the commission's activities in propagating game birds, winter feeding, and other phases of the game problem.

Missouri, Illinois and other eastern states are spending vast sums in an effort to restock with wild animals and birds, and Oregon should do more than it is to retain this attractive phase of outdoor life, Stellmacher sald.

One of the films dealt especially with Oregon birds, and contained a hint as to the assistance that children can give by building and installing bird houses for the use of song birds.
