

SIDE LIGHTS OF THE STAGE and SCREEN

Elsinore Theater. The attraction for the Sunday and Monday showing at the Elsinore theater is one of those unusual offerings that are eagerly sought by managers but are found all too seldom.

Roy Smoot, nationally known tenor, is the headliner and, unless Los Angeles critics flatter grossly, possesses a voice of unusual charm and quality.

Miss Fanchon personally selected and schooled this particular group of winsome girls, training six of them in original specialties and the entire twenty in a series of ensemble numbers that are exceptionally intricate and pleasing.

The offering is presented in three vividly contrasting but quality pleasing episodes: "Winter Carnival," "Indian Legend" and "The Mardi Gras." The first shows the girls in the chic costumes of winter sports and is lively and intriguing.

On the screen will be Colleen Moore in "Twinkle Toes."

Capitol Theater. The Bligh's Capitol theater will offer a brilliant bill of classy vaudeville today on the Sun's Eastern Circuit.

Hager and Milstead, in "Music Mad," a pleasing little musical skit, exemplifying the difference between the music of the masters and that of the jazz kings utilizing piano, violin and accordion.

The Aerial Allens present a classic of the air a fast and entertaining novelty. Billy DeArmo comedies comedy with a bit of juggling which makes a real hit.

Pantages vaudeville comes again to the Capitol, for Monday afternoon and evening. The Capitol will present this vaudeville for one performance only in the evening, starting at 9 o'clock, the pictures will start at 7 and run until 9, and after the vaudeville the pictures will be repeated.

Headlining the Pantages Vaudeville are the "Mann's Singing Sycophants." They combine an ability to play classic melodies just as effectively as they do quarter time. All the arrangements are made by Hauden Mann, who performed the same service for Paul Whiteman organization.

Lewis and Ames are the added attraction of the bill and bring a rollicking skit "We Know A Thing Or Two." It is an admirable vehicle and affords both members of the team an opportunity to display their ability as singers, dancers and pantomimists.

Monte and Lyons, another team of old favorites will appear in their side splitting skit, "A Letter From Italy." Al Golem and a company of troupers from Persian entertainment circles will be seen in a novelty, Viola Vercler Holman will play "The Serenade," accompanied at the organ by Totten.

"Michael Strogoff" will be the special attraction on the screen at the Capitol theater for four days, March 22-23-24 and 25.

Oregon Theater. A man tumbling into a snow-bank and dropping out of sight generally is regarded as an hilariously funny object. But to John Barrymore, whose first United Artists picture, "The Beloved Rogue," which shows at the Oregon theater on March 20, 21, 22 and 23, such an incident proved not only amusing but a most fortunate happening as well.

His disappearance in a snow-bank, in the role of Francois Villon, famous poet of French history, saved him from arrest by the town watch. Villon, through a strange complexity of character, was not only talented as a rhymer, but was also adept as a thief. The term "porchclimber" in modern parlance, best describes his doubtful occupation at the time of the snowbank surprise.

The use of snow, apart from providing the basis of numerous comedy highlights in "The Beloved Rogue," proved highly advantageous in emphasizing the driving action of some of the scenes.

William Cameron Menzies, art director of "The Beloved Rogue," and rated the leader in his profession, used snowstorm effects particularly during the portion of the picture which reveals the impulsive Villon as a housebreaker. Such an undertaking being best not disclosed to public knowledge, the secretive nature of his prowling over the picturesque rooftops and through the rabbit warren of Paris streets is made more striking by the swirling, drifting snow, which lends an effect of concealment to the scenes.

Barrymore, in his portrayal of Francois Villon, had in support the great European character actor, Conrad Veidt, as Louis XI. Marceline Day as the fascinating Charlotte de Vauxcelles, Villon's sweetheart, makes "The Beloved Rogue" the most colorful, romantic screen story in the history of motion pictures.

Hollywood Theater. Mary Pickford, who has made a score of screen masterpieces and brought pleasure to millions, has just completed a picture which is said by many critics to be the best of her career.

The picture is "Sparrows," a United Artists Corporation release, which shows at the Hollywood theater for two days, March 20 and 21.

The role of Mama Mollie offers to Mary Pickford a splendid opportunity. At times she is an impish, mischievous little hoyden, and yet again the tender mother heart yearning over the sorrows of the babies and comforting them with stolen dreams and magic kisses.

There is no fine raiment for "The World's Sweetheart" in this picture, no gorgeous costumes nor fairy princes. Quainter than Annie Rooney, sweeter than ever, until the very end of the picture, she is tattered and torn, barelegged, ragged, but radiant.

There is not a dull moment in the story, and the picture is brimming with comedy. It has punch and thrills and suspense—everything a successful picture needs, and in addition it has the one and only Mary Pickford.

RICKREALL SCHOOL TO UNDERGO CHANGE

Strictly Graded City System Planned; Teachers Assigned From Normal

OREGON NORMAL SCHOOL, Monmouth, March 19.—(Special.) The demand for practice work in the training department at the Oregon normal school continues to increase.

The new organization calls for the changing of the school at Rickreall from a rural center to a strictly city graded system. The practice work will be conducted there in the same manner as it is now done in Monmouth and Independence, and only senior students of high ranking will be selected for this work.

All the necessary changes for shifting the Rickreall school into the new organization have been made. This gives to this little town a most exceptional advantage in educational lines. It is doubtful if another town for its size in the state will have better advantages for the school children. It is not generally known that practically a new dormitory has been constructed and furnished to accommodate the young women who will teach in Rickreall.

Those students assigned to Rickreall are Thelma Beach, Portland; Edna Drake, Molalla; Georgia Flincy, Portland; Florence Snow, Portland; Fannie Todd, Hermiston; Olga Uotila, Astoria; Beatrice Anderson, Portland; J. Kendall Burkhead, St. Helens; Elva Chapman, Corvallis; Verna Hart, Monmouth; Dorothy Keber, Mt. Angel; Salena Tark, Astoria; Effie Ellis, McMinnville; Grace Esterbrook, Portland; Marjorie which resulted in the mountaineer being sentenced to life imprisonment for a "murder" that was never committed.

BELIEVED SLAIN, GIRL REAPPEARS

Two of the three principals today disclosed the circumstances under which Mary Vickery, 16, disappeared; some bones were found later in an abandoned shaft, and a woman's revenge sent Conroy Dabney, 33, to the Frankfort reformatory under life sentence. The third, Mary Jackson, 27, was in jail as a sequel. Her story has not been told.

Mary Vickery appeared at her former home here today after being missing, and considered dead since August, 1925, and broke a silence that has kept Dabney in prison for more than a year.

"I disappeared from home because I was not happy with the home life with my father and step-mother," she said. "I had Conroy Dabney take me in an automobile to a country railroad station. He took me there and drove away. I took the train to Cincinnati, where I worked in a woolen mill."

"I heard about Dabney being charged with killing me, but I didn't want to be taken back home so I kept still and did not reveal that I was still alive. I stood it as long as I could and then decided to make it known that I was alive, so Dabney could be set free. I didn't want to go home, so I came to Williamsburg, where I formerly lived."

From his prison cell, in the reformatory, Dabney told his story. He attributed his predicament to a chance acquaintance with Marie Jackson, chief prosecution witness
