

Senators Will Test Strength Against Papermakers This Afternoon

LEAGUE'S OPENING WEEK FROM TODAY

Local Team Entered for Portland City League Honors Not Yet Picked

With the opening of hostilities in the Portland city league just a week away, the Salem Senators will give local fans the first real inkling of their strength this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when a practice game will be played with the Papermakers. This team is expected to make things interesting for "Frisco" Edwards' crew, and the game will show better than the contest between the regulars and yanigans a week ago, what it can do.

The game will be played at 3 o'clock, the Senators' practice being slated for 1:30 o'clock.

Edwards was not certain Saturday just how his team would line up to start today's game. He still has enough players for two good teams, and some of them naturally are going to be left out when the league season starts.

For first base, the race is between Adolph and Sullivan; at second, between Grinton and Proctor; at third, Bishop and Mason are working for a regular berth. Ridings has things more or less to himself at short. Clinton is a promising player who came here from Weed, Cal. He looked especially good last Sunday.

In the outfield it looks like Steep, Bliss and Coleman will be the regulars, with Fleury, who is also a pitcher, also a contender. The pitching staff now includes Barham, Meyers, Ashby and Russell, in addition to Fleury. Edwards will work behind the bat, with Bliss as alternate.

The only thing that is bothering Manager Edwards at present, aside from a none too perfect diamond at South Twelfth street, is the fact that financial support is slow in coming in.

To discuss ways in which this difficulty may be removed, another meeting of the managing committee and interested fans will be held at the Capital Motors sales room Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Every fan who has the interests of the team at heart is urged to attend.

The admission into the league of Camas, which opens here next Sunday against the Senators, has not disrupted the schedule, but since some of the games have been transferred to the Camas ball park the schedule with these changes is here reprinted. Salem plays at Camas May 22, and St. Johns at the coast league park in Portland June 22. All the rest of the Senators' games up to July 7, when a new six-club schedule will be made out are at home:

CANZONERI FIGHTS CHAMPION TO DRAW

Easterner Outboxes Taylor, but Bantam King Lands Harder Punches

CHICAGO, March 26.—(AP)—Buddie Taylor, recognized in Illinois and 17 other states as world's bantamweight champion, was held to a draw by the youthful Tony Canzoneri of New York, rated as the leading bantamweight of the east in a furious ten round fight in the Coliseum tonight.

The decision of Referee Joe Choynski, the old time heavy-weight and two judges, was unanimous. They agreed that Canzoneri slightly outboxed Taylor with his long, willow lefts, but that the Terre Haute terror forced the fighting and landed the cleaner and harder punches. Canzoneri surprised Taylor by sluggering with him in their furious exchanges and refusing to yield ground.

Canzoneri scored with amazing speed in popping left hands into Taylor's face. Taylor tried to do the same thing, but gave up in disgust in attempting to hit his elusive target and centered his attacks to the body.

BIG LEAGUE TEAMS IN BEST CONDITION

Good Weather Brings Early Form; Pitchers Ready for Season Opening

NEW YORK, March 26.—(AP.)—Herb Pennock, star Yankee southpaw, has deserted the ranks of holdouts and signed a three-year contract, the Evening Post says today in a dispatch from St. Petersburg, Fla. The terms were not revealed, but the dispatch says "it was intimated Pennock got his salary demands."

He was understood to have asked for $20,000 a year.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 26.—(AP.)—As major league baseball clubs prepared to take the road north, a quick survey shows that generally fair weather in Dixie has brought candidates for the "big show" to a satisfactory form in most instances.

While injuries have crippled one or two squads, notably the Washington Senators, which have been handicapped by the temporary loss of five veterans, including Walter Johnson, pitcher, and Stanley Harris, manager, most have fared well in all respects and more or less sidestepped this, the most feared of all training breaks.

The batteries of the 14 clubs in the south have loosened up probably better than usual, and such hurlers as Vance or Petty of the Robins, Ehmke and Rommel of the Athletics, Alexander or Haines of the Cards, Harris of the Red Sox, Coveleskie and Thurston of the Chicago White Sox, Whitehill of the Tigers, Genewich or Benton of the Braves, Van Gilder or Gaston of the Browns, May or Donough of the Reds, Bentley of the Giants, Shaute or Miller of the Indians, and Carlson or Friest of the Phillies would not prove unexpected selections for opening games.

All of these veterans have now rounded out well, and Pennock, star of the Yankee staff, is expected back in the Huggins fold in time to get away to an early start.

The infield and outfield veterans have also conditioned excellently, most managers agree, while such time-worn stars as Eddie Collins, Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker and Veatch had a slow time getting off, all came fast once they got started.

The curtain is descending on the training stage. The teams are heading home.
