Odile Matthews Announces Engagement to Kermit Thompson on Saturday

Of much interest in Salem is the news of the engagement of Miss Odile Matthews, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Matthews, to Kermit Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson. Both Mr. Thompson and his bride-elect are popular Salem young folk who are attending Oregon Agricultural college.

The news was revealed at the fraternity house last Saturday night at the spring formal. E. pin, were given to each guest, with the news of the engagement enclosed.

Among the out of town guests present were Miss Carolyn Lamb, Miss Margaret Donnell, Miss Helen Campbell, Miss Maxine Glover and Miss Frances Lutz, all of Salem.

Unique Bird House Entered in Contest

Time Limit Set for 6 o'Clock Tonight; More Expected

Eleven bird houses of various sizes and shapes have been delivered at the YMCA and entered in the Bird house contest, which is being sponsored by the YMCA and the Salem Nature Study club.

The different types of houses present a very interesting study. One unique house was made from the limb of a tree and provided ample space for the bird family. Small windows and doors graced the structure and provided an entrance way and plenty of ventilation. Another house to attract attention was in the nature of a two story affair. It was large and roomy with windows and doors, which added to its attractive appearance. The outside was painted green with white trimming, while the front of the house was graced with a veranda and a green railing.

Twelve prizes will be offered in this contest, which is scheduled to close tonight at 6 o'clock. Before the time limit expires many other houses will no doubt be turned in to the committee.

TELEPHONE GROUP

SEEKS ASSISTANCE

Would Prevent All Unnecessary Breaks in Long Distance Telephone Wires

In order that unnecessary breaks in long distance telephone wires may be prevented, W. H. Dancy, Manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company at Salem is requesting the cooperation of those whose activities occasionally endanger the wires.

Considerable damage to the telephone lines is occasionally caused by blasting, tree falling, house moving and similar activities, according to Mr. Dancy, which might easily be prevented through the cooperation of the parties engaging in the work and the telephone maintenance men.

As each break in the wires cost a considerable amount for its repair, and entails even more loss and expense in the delay occasioned to important telephone messages, the prevention of unnecessary breaks is a matter urgently worthy of effort.

Mr. Dancy therefore requests that anyone contemplating blasting, house-moving, tree falling, or any other activity of that nature in proximity to telephone wires, call the wire chief at Salem at the expense of the Telephone company. The wire chief will immediately cooperate in seeing that the work is performed successfully without danger to the wires.
