

SIDE LIGHTS OF THE STAGE and SCREEN

Elsinore Theater
As a special attraction, and by far the greatest offering of the kind that will appear in Salem this year, the Elsinore theater is proud to present George Billings, star of the prize film, "Abraham Lincoln," in person today and tomorrow in conjunction with the regular Fanchon and Marco presentation and picture performance. Mr. Billings, known from one end of the country to the other as the only man since the great emancipator's time who has ever borne a complete resemblance to the dead president.

So striking is the likeness that many old veterans of the Civil War, in cities where Mr. Billings has appeared, declare they are again seeing Lincoln in the flesh. Tall, gaunt, slow and possessed of dignity, with the same homely ruggedness of face, the same soulful eyes, with every facial characteristic of face and figure, Mr. Billings is Lincoln of today.

In his sketch entitled "Lincoln Memories," his appearances on the leading stages of America has caused a furor among theatergoers everywhere and left them with a lasting impression of the great martyr that will remain with them always. The Fanchon-Marco program this week is entitled "Specialty Ideas," and consists of a combination of headline talent, including Armstrong and Phelps, "The Boys from Hollywood," in songs and "Marking wit," Mabel Blandell, singing comedienne; Arthur Tutill, world champion harmonica soloist, and Mary Jean Porter, harpist.

It is a well rounded and complete road show offering that will please thoroughly.

Oregon Theater
The "color organ," which projects colored lights to harmonize with its music, and which recently created a sensation in musical circles, has found an odd adaptation in the motion picture. This unique instrument is the basis of a startling screen effect in Clarence Brown's "Flesh and the Devil," an elaborate Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer filmization of the "Undying Past," famous Sudermann drama, and now playing at the Oregon theater, with John Gilbert, Greta Garbo and Lars Hanson.

The new play, based on one of Europe's greatest classics by a master dramatist, is elaborately staged in reproductions of modern Europe; in fact, so accurate are its replicas and so absolutely true its types that at first glance one

Reciprocity in Control of Broadcasting Fails

OTTAWA, Ont., April 9.—(AP)—Possibility of reciprocity between United States and Canada to control radio broadcasting in North America was deadlocked today when the house of commons was told by the minister of marine and fisheries of the dominion's need for exclusive control of 12 high power stations, with partial control of an additional 14 stations.

The federal radio commission at Washington has conceded to give the Canadians exclusive control of six high power stations, with part control of six others, but the Canadians have not departed from their original demand for exclusive control of 12 stations, and part rights in 14 more.

COMMUNITY WORK TALKED AT MEET

HUBBARD, Or., April 9.—Spading, community spirit and painting of old buildings occupied the time of the Hubbard Community club at its meeting held Friday evening at the IOOF hall.

Having at a former meeting agreed that each member of the club spade at least 40 feet of parking in front of his property, those who failed were severely reprimanded. "If we cannot do the little things such as spading, how can we expect to do the big work of the community," asked one member.

The painting season is now on in Hubbard and the Community club again emphasized the importance of painting every faded building in the town. The mayor declared that the city hall would be painted as soon as the spring rains stop. The hardware dealer announced a carload of paints received.

With its community spirit going strong, members announced that the next big job was that of building a community hall for Hubbard. All community meetings are now held in the Odd Fellows hall and the opinion was that as Hubbard was one of the liveliest communities in the county, it should have a community building. It was also announced that the Hubbard community is strong for the county agent idea, and that the leading communities in the northern part of the county were a unit in favor of having a vote on the county agent at the June 28 election.

Addresses of the evening were made by F. J. Taylor, newspaper man of Molalla, Henry R. Crawprior felony convictions in this state, Kentucky and Missouri. Edelman was convicted of a $25,000 burglary of the vaults of the Paulsen office building here in 1922.

His counsel had carried a fight to the state supreme court in an effort to prevent his trial on the habitual criminal charge.

He was returned here from San Francisco some four years after the burglary, and following a nation wide search. Later, while free on bail pending an appeal of the burglary conviction he was arrested in connection with a robbery in Missouri and surrendered by his bondsmen.

FREEZING PREVAILS EAST OF CASCADES

Flurries of Snow Fall at Baker and Bend; Montana Has Blizzard.

BAKER, Ore., April 9.—(AP)—The mercury dropped to one point below freezing here last night and remained at a low point today. The sky was overcast and a brisk wind blew most of the day. A flurry of snow fell during the night. Predictions for tonight were killing frosts.

BEND, Ore., April 9.—With the temperature hovering around the freezing point, Bend today experienced unusual weather. Flurries of snow, blown from the Cascades by a high wind, swept over the Deschutes country. Six inches of snow fell in the Cascade foothills in 24 hours. Snow at Elk Lake is 7 1/2 feet deep. Elk and Twin lakes are still covered with thick ice.

MILES CITY, Mont., April 9.—Snow fell in many parts of Montana today in some sections reaching nearly blizzard proportions. In Beaverhead county, in the southern part of the state, the snowfall
