

SIDE LIGHTS OF THE STAGE and SCREEN

Elsinore Theater The public has been "bunked" so often with bombastic advertising copy in the exploitation of almost every commodity from cars to clothing that superlatives no longer register with the readers of display advertising.

"Johnny Get Your Hair Cut," which shows at the Oregon theater today.

This is Costello's first appearance on the screen's youngest star, and he is reported enthused with his part. Also included in the supporting cast is Jim Corrigan, the noted character actor; Mattie Wittig, who was brought from New York specially to play the roles of Mother Slapp and Pat Hartigan, one of the very best villains. Frank B. Good photographed the film, which was produced under the personal supervision of Jack Coogan, Sr.

CANTON LEADER FACES TROUBLE ON ALL SIDES (Continued from page 1) calls within the Cantonese regime, was beset tonight by an apparently determined drive of the north-erners and fierce fighting between contending factions behind his own lines.

At least 100 Chinese were killed and 250 wounded in fighting today which grew out of further raids on the native suburbs of Shanghai by General Chiang's troops which have been routing out "reds" for the past two days.

Pickets Shot Down This morning 20 pickets of the Shanghai general labor union also were killed when they attacked the headquarters of the Cantonese troops in the Chapel district. The attack came after a protest parade through the district organized by workers angered by yesterday's raids on union headquarters.

In the shooting that took place, some bullets entered the nearby international settlement, causing some excitement.

This afternoon's raids, which resulted in 100 dead, were conducted as a part of a plan to rid the Kuomintang (Cantonese political organization) of "communists."

Tomorrow the political differences between the moderate wing of the Cantonese party headed by General Chiang and the radical wing which has its headquarters at Hankow, are expected to come to a head at the meeting of the Kuomintang, called by General Chiang at Hankow.

Chiang's advisors at Shanghai say this conference will be a final show down, as to whether the nationalists will definitely go "red" or will oust the radical civil leaders.

It is at this projected conference that General Chiang hopes to rally sufficient strength to oust the Hankow radicals from the party and to expel from the Kuomintang other elements which are not sympathetic with the so-called moderate branch.

Among the questions to be decided are whether the capital of the Cantonese government shall be moved from Hankow to Nanking and whether Chiang Kai-Shek or the radical leaders, of which Michael Borodin, Cantonese adviser, is one, shall dominate the party or whether there will be a definite split, with the communists functioning from Hankow and the moderates from Nanking.

Strike Spreading Meanwhile the police received reports that the general strike called last night in protest against the raids was growing more extensive and it was estimated tonight that 100,000 workers were out in various industrial sections of the city, including the international settlement. It was feared in some quarters that unless the strike ends by tomorrow, the newspapers here will suffer.

The employees of one paper threatened to walk out today but on being told not to return if they did so, the workers remained. It is feared, however, that they may not return tomorrow.

Mohair Film to Be Shown at Normal School Chapel OREGON NORMAL SCHOOL, Monmouth, April 13.—(Special.)—Farmers of the Monmouth community who are interested in the Angora goat industry will have an opportunity to see a mohair film at the Normal school chapel on Friday evening. This film will be given in conjunction with a lecture by A. C. Gage of Portland, who is an authority on this industry. Mr. Gage personally supervised the taking of the pictures of the Angora goat herds in Oregon and also of the reels taken in the eastern factories showing the entire operation of converting the mohair into articles for market. The film and lecture are being sponsored by the Monmouth Commercial club. Mr. Gage will appear at O. A. C. on the evening of the 13th, at the U. of O. on the 14th and at the Normal on the 15th.

DEXTERITY SAVES LIFE Entangled Worker Removes His Trousers and Avoids Drowning

ABERDEEN, Wash., April 13.—(AP)—Joe Delporto owes his life to his dexterity in removing his trousers while immersed in 20 feet of water.

Delporto, carrier driver at the Shafer Brothers saw mill, was pitched into the Chehalis river today when the machine struck a pile of lumber. The drivers' suspenders became entangled in the carrier gear and he was forced to squirm out of his trousers to free himself.

Although he received a severe cut on the head he was otherwise none the worse for his experience.
