

SIDE LIGHTS OF THE STAGE and SCREEN

Elsinore Theater
Lionel Barrymore, internationally famous for his vivid portrayals of the screen, and world-famous as a stage star, plays one of the outstanding roles in "The Temptress," Cosmopolitan's spectacular filmization of the Ibanez novel coming to the Elsinore theater for showing April 15-16 and the Oregon on April 17-18.

Barrymore will be seen as "Carrac," a French engineer in the wilds of South America. The actor recently scored a sensational success in "The Barrier," filmed from Rex Beach's romance.

Sometimes vaudeville is interesting and sometimes it is decidedly boring. One grows tired of the same singing, dancing and kicking interspersed with "wise cracks" by near-wits. Such programs used to be the commonly accepted thing in vaudeville.

Times are changing for the better. Vaudeville is hurrying from time to time, acts that are really interesting.

Such a one is the headline attraction on today's bill at the Elsinore, "Stars of Other Days," which is a combination of several old time favorites of the footlights who have gathered together in an offering that is unique and very interesting. The older generation will receive them back as friends and the young people will enjoy them as well.

There are two clever comedy acts, a witty monologist with his performing dog, and, to give the bill a musical value, a soprano of quality carrying her own accompanist.

Capitol Theater
Sensational novelty, music, good singing, gymnastic marvels, and wholesome comedy will be the outstanding attraction to be presented at the Bligh's Capitol theater next Saturday on the Levey New York vaudeville bill. The headline feature on this mammoth bill is Harry Claff in "The White Knight," supported by Miss Winnie Wager. This is the first appearance of Mr. Claff in the West and should be a continuation of his former successes. His melodious voice and costumes, including the armor of the white knight, is one of the features of the offering. Ruth Howell Due, "America's Premier Aerialists," are the added attraction. Some of the new aerial sensations will be seen with the appearance of this clever duo who have no equal in their line.

Russell & Vivian are known as "Dixie Favorites." This combination is one of the standard colored teams now playing vaudeville and will deliver comedy patter and songs in a most delightful manner.

Allen & Susie in "Come on Susie" offer a comedy skit presented in an imitable manner. Their comedy patter is bright and scintillating, provoking much laughter. Butler & Claude, "Dainty Delineators of Mirthful Harmony," are all that their name implies and their song cycle and musical offerings are pleasant to both the eye and ear.

On the screen the Capitol will offer James Oliver Curwood's "Prisoners of the Storm," starring House Peters.

Oregon Theater
Charles Rogers is making rapid strides up the screen's ladder of fame.

A year ago he was studying to become a journalist. Then one day he found himself accepted as a student at the Paramount Picture School. Next, he was given ADMINISTRATRIX NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT.

Two School Heads Visit at Monmouth
Several Normal Students Hired For Teaching Next Year

OREGON NORMAL SCHOOL, Monmouth, April 14.—(Special)—Superintendent Elizabeth Murray of St. Helens visited the Monmouth normal yesterday for the purpose of interviewing prospective teachers for next year in Columbia county. At Miss Murray's suggestion Mr. Gentle recommended several promising student teachers, and they were asked to make personal applications with the St. Helens school board. Miss Murray reports that a large number of their teachers throughout the county are normal school graduates and who are doing a very satisfactory type of work.

Superintendent J. W. Crites, of Hood River, also spent part of the day at the normal interviewing teachers through the appointment bureau, and has also asked several to apply for positions in his county.

annihilation," he said. "But business will go on in Rock Springs. I have been here since 1896. I am going to stay."

"I have lost much—almost all—but Rock Springs was built because there was a need for a town in this section. I believe it will be rebuilt, and rebuilt than ever before."

Mayor Lockley said the total value of the property destroyed was a million and a half dollars. This is virtually all the property of the town, as the assessors books show a valuation of $600,000, based on a present per cent assessment.
