

RAINBOW VETERANS TO VISIT SCENES

Old Battleships to Be Visited When Men Return to France in 1927.

PORTLAND, Ore. — (Special) — A tour of exceptional interest to members of the Forty-second (Rainbow) Division, has been arranged for Legionnaires going to France in September for the ninth annual convention of the Legion, opening in Paris, Sept. 15, it was announced today by Carl E. Moser of Portland, department France convention officer for this state upon information received from Howard P. Savage, National Commander. This trip is to start and end at Chateau Thierry and will be made by motor at a cost of $7.50.

Leaving Chateau Thierry, members of the Rainbow will go to Belleau Wood cemetery where rest the bodies of hundreds of Americans who went to death in the battles in and near the place of that name. It was at Belleau Wood that the Marines did such heroic fighting. It has been renamed by the French government the "Bois de la Brigade de Marines," in honor of the Marine brigade that took the woods. Next comes Boursches, captured by the Marines, June 6, 1918. The Leathernecks were unable to wrest the railroad station in the town from the Germans since it had been converted into a veritable fortress by the enemy. On July 18, 1918, the Twenty-sixth Division entered the town and captured the station.

Loy-le Bocage is next on the itinerary. For a time this place served as headquarters for the 6th Regiment, Marines. The supply and ammunition dumps of the regiment also were located there. It was along the lines passing through the town that the Marines first met the Germans in battle on June 2, 1918.

On the Vaux the tourists will go. This town is located on the Metz-Paris road and today stands as an excellent specimen of demolition, nearly all of which was done by American artillery when the village was occupied by the Germans. After a destructive artillery bombardment, lasting from 8 a. m. until 6 p. m. July 1, 1918 the village, which the Germans had made into a little fortress was captured. It was taken by the patient. The Price Shoe company is very fortunate in securing a man with the wide experience of Dr. Gronholm, and the people of Salem are fortunate to have a man with such high rank in the medical profession to locate in this city. The way his office has been crowded is the best evidence of the appreciation of the public.

The writer wishes to extend to Dr. Gronholm his best wishes for a long and prosperous stay in Salem.

the infantry regiments of the Second division. Chateau Thierry then comes next. This city, with a population of 7,100 before the war was not a sufferer of great destruction. However, fierce fighting was waged there.

Practically every piece of furniture in the part of the city occupied by the Huns was either removed or destroyed. The church was used as a sort of warehouse by the Germans for the housing of furniture, clothing, silver and copper which they had stolen from the houses and stores in the city.

Fossey comes next and then Mezy and Mont St. Pire. Jan. 31st infantry, July 23, 1918, is gone, captured by the 30th and the next place to be visited by the travelers, La Charnel, captured by the 4th infantry the afternoon of July 25, 1918, will win the attention of the Legionnaires. Courmont and Clerges will be next on the list of places to be visited. The latter place was occupied by the 64th Brigade of the Thirty-second Division, July 31, 1918.

On to the Oise-Aisne cemetery the tourists will travel. Here at Fere-en-Tardenois rest the bodies of hundreds of Americans who died in war. From that place they will go on to Chemery to see the tomb of Quentin Roosevelt, son of the late president, who went to his death when his plane was wrecked in the air by an attacking German aviator. The Germans buried him at the spot where his machine fell. The Thirty-second Division passed through Chemery, August 2, 1918, while pursuing the retreating Germans. On the Legionnaires will go to Croix Rouge Farm, Epieds, Trigny and back to Chateau Thierry and the tour will be completed.

The tour out of Chateau Thierry to Belleau Wood will be one of the most popular offered by the Legion. It takes in a wide area of territory which saw some of the most bitter fighting in the war. Many of America's fighting units participated in the battles in and near the city on the Marne.

An attractive two-color "On to Paris" folder, containing information concerning the tours and a map showing where they are to lead, along with steamship information, may be obtained by addressing the Department of France Convention Officer whose address is given above or the France Convention Committee, National Headquarters, Indianapolis, Ind.

STORY WOVEN ABOUT MOUNT HOLY CROSS

Legend Tells of Party Finding Monk Dead in Attitude of Prayer

REL CLIFF, Colo. — (AP) — Driven now forms an emblem of religious faith 13,978 feet above sea level in the Rocky Mountains near here.

It is on Mount Holy Cross, formed from deep ravines that jut across the face of the mountain which bears its name. The deep ravine forming the upright section of the cross is 2000 feet long in which the snows drift to a depth of from 50 to 60 feet, while the transverse ridge forming the arms is 800 feet across. Nearby, in immaculate raiment of falling snow, is the Supplicating Virgin and at her feet is a body of water known as the Bowl of Tears.

A legendary tale woven around this mountain relates how, many years ago, when the Franciscan Friars were engaged in converting the inhabitants of Mexico, a monk in Spain yielded to temptation. It was revealed to him in a vision that when he saw a cross suspended in the air it would be a token of forgiveness. Filled with unrest, he went to Mexico and wandered over the country in search of the sacred symbol. He joined an exploring party coming north. Arriving one day on the summit of a lofty mountain, they pitched their tents. It was not the hour to camp, but their further progress was prevented by a dense fog. The plous monk, according to the legend, went off a little way from the sound of human voices to pray for the removal of his burden of sin.

The cloud lifted and before him, resplendent with the rays of the sun, was the "Cross." Wondering at his long delay, his companions went to search for him and found him dead in the attitude of prayer, with his face toward the Mount of the Holy Cross. In Holy Cross national forest, 350 acres have been set aside by the U. S. forest service for recreation, educational and devotional purposes.

BIG INDUSTRY RISES FROM GOLD DREAMS

CLINE, Tex. (AP) — Out of the fruitless dream of a wandering gold seeker Uvalde county, Tex., has built its greatest industry.

Forty years ago a man, whose name is forgotten, came into this section of southwest Texas searching for the precious metal. Gold he did not find, but he discovered a vast deposit of asphalt and today hundreds of men are digging into the hills of Uvalde county for the material that is making hard surfaced roads throughout the country.

This trail blazer remembered he had seen the same substance in use in France and recognized its value. He interested New York capital. The asphalt was extracted and used as a base for varnish and oil paintings, but the enterprise failed when fluid asphalt was discovered on the Island of Trinidad. This was before the days of hard roads.

Fifteen years ago J. B. Smyth of Beaumont, Texas, seeing the possibilities of the material for paving, bought 22,000 acres of the land, which was considered a useless wilderness.
