MORTGAGE INQUIRY ON Kings Products Stockholders Want Foreclosure Stopped

The circuit court yesterday heard arguments in intervention proceedings brought by the stockholders committee seeking to set aside a decree of foreclosure involving a mortgage of $225,000 held by the Nassau company on the Salem Kings Products plant. J. C. Smith and W. C. Gunther represent the stockholders' committee.

Attorneys for the stockholders' committee charged that George Judd, president of the Kings company, acted at the dictation of the bank in the foreclosure proceedings and that no effort was made to defend the action.

Judge Charles Carey of Portland contended that the old Salem Kings Products company of Delaware had been dissolved as a corporation and has no standing in court.

The mortgage held by the Nassau company previously was foreclosed. The stockholders' committee now requests that it be allowed to intervene and that the decree be set aside.

Extending Markets—When Mr. Adams, who is manager of the Sky Line orchards, handed in the above summary of the report of the Portland meeting, he said the markets for the Mistland brand prunes (the brand of the North Pacific cooperative) have been largely extended for the 1926 crop. Over 4,000,000 pounds went to London, and were distributed by some of the biggest and most reliable concerns in the trade, the managers of which were high in their praise of the pack and quality.

Over 4,000,000 pounds went to one of the greatest buying concerns, in New York, for distribution from that point in this country.

The Canadian orders, to the largest buying concerns in the dominion, were much larger than ever before for Oregon prunes.

acid but little or no sugar. In spite of the large tonnage handled by the prune exchange in 1926, its holdings have been entirely disposed of, and packing will be completed in April.

Because of this remarkable record and the fact that the exchange is now well established as a going business institution, assuring present and prospective members of packing and selling operations at absolute cost, the exchange directors at this meeting decided to accept additional acreage only, however, up to a certain percentage of the tonnage produced in Oregon during normal years.

Diligently Sawing Wood—Very little has been given out for publication during the past year by the board of directors of the North Pacific Cooperative Prune exchange. hour of their valiant attempt to maintain the life of Walter L. Boothe, 18, a farmer boy, by artificial respiration, with only a fighting chance for success.

Hour after hour they lift and lower his arms in a rhythmic sweep to force air into the lungs which collapsed Thursday just before the lad was to submit to an operation for a dislocated vertebrae. Boothe smiles now and then and asks for a cigarette and takes some nourishment but the pain he is suffering becomes apparent when he whispers a word of instructions to his friends or moans in helpless despair.

Attending physicians give the impression that Boothe has little chance of surviving, but friends say he has not lost his nerve.

DENTIST ON STAND IN OWN DEFENSE

Dr. Dobbs Denies Charge of Murdering Youthful Patient at Seattle

SEATTLE, April 25.—(AP)—Testimony of the defendant provided the high lights here today of the trial of Dr. Chester C. Dobbs, on a charge of murdering 14 year old Letitia Whitehall, but failed to furnish many of the sensations which were apparently expected by the hundreds who stormed the doors of Superior Judge Charles P. Morarity's court in an effort to gain admittance.

The accused dentist, who occupied the stand the greater part of the day told the jurors that Letitia Whitehall came to his office in Kirkland, for dental attention on the afternoon of last October 30 and left about 40 minutes later.

He entered specific denials to the state's assertion that he injected novocaine into her body to render her unconscious and that he extracted one of her teeth as an excuse for administering the drug.

The Canadian orders, to the largest buying concerns in the dominion, were much larger than ever before for Oregon prunes.

It is at least rather refreshing to have this report from the cooperative, which has been maintaining its own business, sawing wood, and packing and selling prunes, and doing it all at an astonishing low cost to the grower members.

It is the state's theory that Dr. Dobbs drugged his girl patient with novocaine and then attacked and killed her the night of October 30.

On cross examination he said that he kept in his office a preparation which contained novocaine and admitted ownership of a syringe which was seized by detectives employed by the state, Dr. William H. Dehn, chemist, testified for the prosecution Saturday that he found traces of novocaine on the syringe but the defendant denied that he had ever used novocaine in it.

Crowds which surged at the courtroom entrance throughout the session knocked over police guards and repeatedly rushed the doors, only to be turned back by other guards stationed inside. Women screamed and men cursed, and cries that police were admitting only their friends were freely raised.

INDUSTRIAL BALL SCHEDULE FIXED

Announcement of the schedule of the Salem industrial league was made last night. The 18 games will be played at Oxford park, each game starting at 6:15 p. m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The first game will be played May 3. Chet. Laird will umpire the series.

The industrial league comprises four teams; representing the Portland Electric Power company, The De Molays, Postoffice
