Garden At-Homes on Wednesday Will Celebrate 5th Week in Salem

That delightful old custom of hanging May baskets and exchanging nosegays will give way to something more pretentious in Salem when tomorrow afternoon the Salem Garden club sponsors a series of exceedingly attractive garden "at homes" featuring Fairmount Hill Gardens exclusively.

Throughout the afternoon, all interested in rockwork, shrubs, perennials, annuals, evergreens—in fact anything that enhances the setting for a home—are invited to call at not only one, but all, of the gardens so generously opened for inspection.

The first garden in the itinerary is that at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Farmer at the corner of Saginaw and Lincoln streets. During the afternoon Mrs. Walter J. Kirk and Mrs. E. V. Meachen will assist in receiving the guests. The Farmer garden is a noteworthy development of a somewhat small hillside corner. A cove of evergreens, rocks in what appears to be their natural habitat, a secluded pool, and carefully terraced are features of this garden.

Continuing up the hill, the visitor tomorrow will arrive next at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis B. Cross, at 222 Lincoln street. This beautiful dwelling of Spanish stucco is embellished with a double rock terrace filled with iris, the lovely gold of alyssum, and the peerless purple of aubretia, together with many young shrubs. Assisting in the receiving at this garden will be Mrs. E. C. Cross and Mrs. Chester Cox.

A spectacle of sheer loveliness awaits those who call at the home of Mayor and Mrs. T. A. Livesley where tulips are as plentiful as the Wordworthian daffodils must have been in England. A running rivulet, a long expanse of fir trees, with rhododendron clustered at the roots, a wild flower garden, with Solomon seal, johnny-jump-ups, and fern are only part of the interesting landscaping on this estate. Hostesses with Mrs. Livesley will be Miss Edith Hazard and Mrs. Edwin Hoffnell. Callers will be particularly interested in the magnificent view which may be had from this English Tudor house.

At the home of George Putnam on the west crest of Lincoln Hill many important alterations have been completed since the garden was opened to the public two years ago. A new rose arbor has been erected south of the house at the base of which three varieties of ever-blooming climbers have been planted. Lovely clusters of rhododendron, some in first bloom, reach from the arbor to the entrance at the east, in luxuriant growth. Lilies have been transplanted and the extensive rose garden augmented with choice new varieties. Mr. Putnam has 210 rosebushes, including more than one hundred distinct varieties. A new vista of lawn has been completed below the dry rock terraces that drop down from the veranda of this Elizabethan house that is so at home in the setting that has been given it. An incomparable view over the lowlands and the western mountains is available from almost any point in the garden. Hostesses at the Putnam home will be Mrs. Fred Zimmerman and Mrs. Sarah Schwab. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weller have undertaken an extremely interesting project in the development of a long gradual east slope. This garden is interesting from the standpoint of personal interest that is manifest in the garden. Each stage through which the garden has passed represents a definite approach to the ideal, both in spacing and in species. A dogwood, transplanted from its native habitat, is as hardy as it ever was in the wood. A full-grown cherry tree was even transplanted from its original setting in order to open an unbroken view of Mount Hood. Miss Mattie Beatty and Mrs. C. A. Kells will assist in showing the guests about the place.

Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Shipley have developed an extremely pleasing landscape around their home in the comparatively short time they have lived on Fairmount Hill. They refused to sacrifice the east yard, which has been converted into one of the most successful rock gardens in Salem, to the garage which was made a part of the dwelling. Tulips and dionysium give colorful motifs, adding variety to the green. Mrs. H. T. Love and Mrs. B. L. Darby will entertain with Mrs. Shipley.

The home of Mrs. J. H. Cradlebaugh at 1791 Saginaw street has, of course, the oldest, and certainly one of the most effective, rock gardens on Fairmount Hill. Much individual thought has gone into the completion of a garden setting worthy to attract the most particular of connoisseurs to the "open garden" tomorrow afternoon. The rock plants have attained that fresh vigor to which every gardener aspires.

Miss May Florence Bollier Announces Betrothal to Richard Chittenden

A host of Salem friends will be interested in the news of the engagement of Miss May Florence Bollier to Mr. Richard Chittenden which was formally announced on Saturday evening at the home of the parents of the bride-elect, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bollier on the Garden Road.

Miss Ethel Bollier, sister of the honor guest, was hostess for the announcement party. She was assisted by Mrs. Edward Scharf.

The news of the betrothal was cleverly told by means of tiny photographs of the couple in a cupid-guarded frame concealed in candy filled May baskets of yellow and pink, decorated with yellow and pink streamers and clusters of buds of forsythia.

The presentation of the baskets followed the completion of a "Romance of Flowers."

Delicious refreshments were served late in the evening.

While the date for the wedding has not been announced, it will probably be an event of June.

Miss Bollier and Mr. Chittenden are both of Salem. Miss Bollier is a teacher at the Parrish Junior

Beatrice Crawford Newcomb Honors Willamette May Queen at Tea

Miss Mildred Tomlinson, whose coronation on Friday, May 6, will make her Queen Mildred I of Willamette university, was delightfully honored on Sunday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock when Beatrice Crawford Newcomb entertained for the attractive monarch at her country place on the Dallas Road.

Mrs. John H. Crawford assisted her daughter in the details of this appropriate first-day-of-May tea.

Little Miss Joan Newcomb, daughter of Beatrice Crawford Newcomb, greeted the guests at the door. Joan has been invited to be one of the flower girls at the coronation on Friday.

Mrs. Charles N. Ruggles presided at the tea table which was centered with a May basket filled with spring blossoms—Ophelia roses, sweet peas in flame and orchid tints, tulips, sweet phlox, and spice pinks. Tall tapers and an open fire shed light on the scene where the girls themselves in their pastel frocks were not unlike flowers.

Musical features of the afternoon included a vocal solo by Willis Hathaway, accompanied by Miss Genevieve Junk and a piano solo by Miss Mildred Gilbert.

DECIDING TIES—IF ANY

In case of tie those tied for any prize will be presented with a second puzzle which will consist of drawing a line across the face of a chart of figures so that the figures thus connected when added together will total the greatest sum.

You Like Puzzles. Then Here's a Good One More Fun Than a Cross-Word Puzzle

THE PROBLEM

How many miles? How many hours? How far does the automobile travel in how many hours? Add the figures to get the miles and count the circles to get the hours. No trick or chance involved. Only patience and accuracy required in the solution of this problem. If you can do simple addition, you can figure out the amount of miles traveled by this automobile, and how many hours, correctly. Circle spots consist of a period with a circle around it. Combined they are counted as one each; that is, count each period with its encompassing circle as one hour. Simply add them up to get the solution.

There are no marks, lines or characters in the automobile except figures and circle spots. The figures range from 2 to 9 each standing alone. There are no groups of figures such as "22" or "42." The heads of the 6's are distinctly curved while the tails of the 9's are straight or practically so. No trick or chance involved.

Yes sir! $1,502.50 may be won in this unique competition and prizes will be awarded promptly after May 4th. You can win as much as a Pontiac Sedan, value $1,075.00.

Free charts mailed on request. Send your answer on a sheet of paper with your name and address and we will at once mail you a splendid illustrated prize list describing the prizes and giving you full information and rules.
