

Mile Record on Fairgrounds Track to Be Broken Saturday, Predicted

25 DRIVERS ENTER FOR RACE EVENTS

With 25 of the fastest cars and fastest drivers of the Pacific coast entered, predictions are being made this week that when the big race most opens at the state fairgrounds Saturday, the one-mile record will be lowered to 48 seconds.

The track here is a mile track, and much better speed can be made than on ovals of half the distance, on which much of the dirt track racing is done. The circuit of these tracks cannot usually be made in less than 34 seconds, and the difference in speed can easily be realized.

Drivers who have entered to date, the cars they will drive, and the numbers of those which have heretofore been assigned, are:

- Bill Doescher, Frontiac special, No. 1, Yakima.
  - Amy Wilson, Sunbeam special, No. 2, Omaha.
  - Russel Lamb, Dodge special, No. 3, Portland.
  - Art Hines, Tye special, No. 4, Denver.

Homer By Adolph in 9th Gives Salem Victory Over the House of David

THRILLING CLIMAX CLOSES FAST GAME

It wasn't "mighty Casey" nor even one of the Senators' recognized sluggers, but modest Rex Adolph, obligingly filling in at first base in the absence of a regular player, who put a thrilling climax on Thursday's game with the House of David ball team and gave the Senators a 5 to 4 victory by crashing a home run over the right field fence in the ninth inning when the whiskered tossers were leading and apparently had the game sewed up.

With the middle western outfit leading 4 to 3, Fleury came up first in the ninth and singled to center field. Then Adolph, batting in seventh place down next to the catcher, came up and crashed one over the wall. It happened all of a sudden, before the fans were really set to enjoy it, but the roar that went up was heard a couple of miles away.

This was the fastest game local fans have seen this year, not even excepting that with the Portland Beavers; there was excitement every inning, but a minimum of scoring. The visiting vegetarians really looked to local fans like a better team than the Beavers, but they lost through over confidence and keeping one pitcher working too long.

The scoring started, as it ended, with a home run. Neither team tallied in the first inning, but in the second Champion, House of David's stocky catcher, leaned on the first pitch that Russel served up to him, and dropped it in somebody's back yard beyond left field. It was just about the mightiest swat that had been seen at Oxford park this year.

The visitors banged them out at a lively rate from the start, but the Senators got in front of most of those hard hit balls and fastened onto them. In their half of the second, the Senators scored two runs when Ridings was safe on an overthrow at first, Fleury sacrificed, and Adolph and Edwards singled. Edwards was caught between second and third after the throw in which failed to catch Adolph, so Russell's two bagger a moment later failed to count.

The whiskered players also lost some chances to score by wild base running. Edwards catching several who essayed to steal second. House of David got three runs in the third when Faust singled and stole second, Danaher hit to right field, and after Danaher grounded out, Hipp homed over the right field fence. Fleury and Edwards again figured in the next scoring adventure of the home team. In the fourth, Fleury singled to right and Edwards hit a two bagger to left, scoring the Chemawa youth from first.

From that time on, spectacular fielding on both sides prevented any more scoring until the ninth. Among the outstanding plays were two catches by Goleman of the Senators, close under the fence in center field, and a one handed stop of Champions liner by Robbins in the sixth, when the third baseman converted into a double play.

The House of David players, for their part, gobbled up everything, their crack infield cutting off apparently safe hits repeatedly at first base. In the eighth, each of the infielders figured in a spectacular play on a ground ball. Miller, the visitors' pitcher, had more smoke than any pitcher that has shown here, but the Senators easily diagnosed his fast ball and curve after the first stanza.

Russel pitched cleverly for six innings, but Manager Edwards undoubtedly used good judgment in sending Barham in to relieve him in the seventh. Barham struck out four men and allowed but one hit.

The House of David players proved to be a colorful aggregation, and the by-play was sometimes as interesting as the game itself. When Champion, after hitting his homer, came up again, a team mate advised Russel to "throw it and duck!" As a matter of fact, that is just what Russel had to do; the ball whizzed right through the place where the pitcher had been, and it was traveling fast, too.

In addition to being the fastest game so far this season, it was the best attended, despite the threatening weather. With better atmospheric conditions, the crowd next Sunday, when the Senators play Mt. Scott, will be another record breaker.
