LINEN AS CHEAP AS COTTON

The Statesman began saying, several years ago, that linen would some day be as cheap as cotton...

Now comes the leading flax experts of the world, at Belfast, one of them connected with a company 1000 years old, the largest in the world in the flax and linen industries...

Linen is going to be cheaper than cotton, and the Salem district is going to have a large part in bringing this about.

Henry Ford is not the only man of large affairs who has the vision of cheap linens. Some of the biggest men in the east in the textile industry have it.

Do you know what this is going to do for the Willamette valley? It is going to lead to the use of every idle and slacker acre here.

Linen is worth potentially four to ten times the value of cotton, in durability and wearability and other qualities making it a preferred article the world over.

Every man in the southeastern section of Salem is expected to attend a meeting at the Richmond school, at eight tomorrow evening, to organize the Richmond Improvement Club.

If the people who are boring for oil at Eugene strike a paying flow, as they believe they will, and soon, they will have conferred vast benefits on the whole Willamette valley.

Salem ought to have a factory district. And the place for it is in the southeastern section. Drain that district, and it will open up values almost beyond present calculations...

WILSONVILLE TOLL CABLE COMPLETED

New Span Increases Number of Circuits Between Portland and South

An important project which has been under way for the past two years involving a considerable improvement to the long distance telephone facilities between Portland and San Francisco met with completion with the finishing this week of work on the toll cable span over the Willamette river at Wilsonville, according to W. H. Dancy, manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company.

One of the principal problems that is met with in carrying telephone conversations over long distances, according to Mr. Dancy, is overcoming of line noises caused by induction. Induction is a phenomenon familiar to all electrical engineers which is simply the creation of electrical currents in wires due to the influence of waves radiated from electrical currents in neighboring wires.

The Portland-San Francisco long distance circuits previously were conducted over the Willamette river at Wilsonville by means of open wire. In the rearrangement of these circuits it was found that a transposition would be necessary above the middle of the river which was practically a physical impossibility.

ELECTRIC CHAIR FACED BY GRAY, MRS. SNYDER

perceptibly. Her eyes, roving like those of one fainting, fixed upon the square shoulders of her erstwhile lover. Then she stiffened, her head came back into position and thus, erect and proud, she sat while the jury was polled.

Shows Little Feeling But Gray, whose plea of dominance by the superior mind of Mrs. Snyder had led some to believe him less stoic than the woman who instigated murder into his head, made no more fuss about the matter than she.

They were led, one at a time, before the bench and their pedigrees taken. Then both were led to the obscurity of their separate cells.

Thousands of Patients Come TO the offices of the CHAS. J. DEAN organization of Rectal Specialists, Portland, Seattle, and San Francisco, come patients of every walk in life. This great practice is the result of many years successful experience in treating rectal diseases.

pressed around them.

The court room was jammed long before the verdict was announced. Before the case was given to the jury at 5:29 this evening four women had been carried from the room in a dead faint and dozens were hunching in fading voices to be permitted to pass through the doors that had been locked when Justice Scudder began his 75 minute charge.

Courtroom Jammed

All that was held before the spectators as a promise of something worth while were the summations and the charge. But the crowd came early and celebrities were jammed into corners with nondescripts and the scent of the furs of the actresses was added to the generally fetid air.

William Millard, Gray's counsel told in an hour and a half, how Gray had been snared by the "glistening coils of that serpent woman, that fiend in human guise, Mrs. Snyder." He pictured Gray as a man of weak character, held in psychic dominance by a woman "with a flaming passion inside her greed that would stop not even at murder." He indicated a manslaughter verdict would be sufficient punishment for Gray.

SULPHUR CLEARS A PIMPLY SKIN

Apply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out

Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur. The simple remedy is harmless and inexpensive. Just ask any druggist for a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur and use it like cold cream.
