Margaret A. Fleming, president of Oregon Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, has been visiting the Roseburg, Coquille and Coos Bay clubs over the week-end. They are all enthusiastic in regard to the convention at Corvallis May 15 to 23, she reports. A number of the girls will drive up.

Ellen Rudnas of Marshfield will bring several in her car, and Dr. Loretta Smith, president of the Roseburg club, also plans to drive. The Coos Bay club cooked and served dinner Saturday evening in their own club rooms.

Miss Fleming spent Saturday evening at Corvallis conferring with Gertrude F. Nolan, convention chairman, and Bertha S. Davis, president of the Corvallis club. The Women's club of Corvallis has put its club house at the disposal of the federation for business and social meetings. Benton hotel is headquarters and the banquet Saturday evening will be served there.

Puthians Contribute to Flood Sufferers

Several features of the regular Saturday evening convention of the Salem Knights of Puthians were of outstanding interest to its membership. The guest of honor was Leslie E. Crouch, supreme vice-chancellor of the order, and a speaker of unusual prominence in fraternal circles and the probable successor to the present supreme chancellor Witte after the next convention of the supreme body. His address was an inspirational urge for the good of the order.

At a luncheon following the address and regular order of the lodge procedure the Puthian Sisters were guests. Observance of Mothers' day was stressed in brief addresses, after which the Sisters participated in drill work.

The Knights demonstrated the humanitarian principles upon which the order was founded, by contributing $25 to the flood sufferers of the south. The lodge directed that an appeal should be sent to all members for individual funds for the same purpose.

RICHMOND MEETING BIG THIS EVENING

The Most Populous Residence Section of City to Turn Out to Boost

Looks like a big crowd at the Richmond school tonight. The indications are that every man in the southeastern section of the city will be present or at least every man who has a spark of pride in his home section and wants it to grow and prosper and become more beautiful.

The meeting is to be called to order at 8 o'clock, and it is to be held for the purpose of organizing the Richmond Improvement club.

If signs do not fail, that is to be the biggest club of the kind in the city, and the most active.

The reason is that there are a lot of things crying to be done out that way.

First, there is drainage. The people out that way want to make an attempt to have the flood waters of the rainy season taken care of. This will mean a system of improvement by drainage and irrigation that will reach all the way up to the Santiam country—up to Mehana. It can be made to mean many millions annually for that section of the city and Marion county.

Then there are zoning questions. There must be a manufacturing district out that way. That is the natural place for it. And residence sections must be protected, too.

And there are schemes for making that section more beautiful—Oh, well, there are hundreds of things to be done, for the good of all the residents and all the property out that way, and, by the same sign, for the good of the whole city, county, state and nation.

POPE OPENS CRUSADE AGAINST IMMORALITY

number is too great to permit detailed examination by the authorities of the holy see.

To call attention of Catholics that the reading of evidently immoral books constitutes a mortal sin whether or not such books have been expressly condemned by the ecclesiastical authorities or have been registered on the index of forbidden books.

The holy see, says the document, is horrified not only by the existence of a huge number of books brazenly depicting the minutest details of sensual vices, but by the spread of works which dare to justify morbid sensuality by false religious mysticism, shamelessly invoking God and religion.

Quoting scripture, the document says that "Faith without good works is dead" and asserts that "in view of the great frailty of human nature and its great tendencies toward sensual pleasures" nothing can justify the plotting of immoral and sensual pleasures.

"It is no wonder that the world, seker as it is of itself even to the point of despising God, should delight in these books," the document says, "but it is painful that writers, calling themselves Christians, should write them."

FLOOD CONTROL POLICY SOUGHT BY SECRETARY

said, "that the $10,000,000 heretofore allotted annually by congress for flood control and navigation of the Mississippi will have to be increased. Just how much we will not know until our study is completed."

Mr. Davis estimated that the war department had furnished material and supplies valued at $3,000,000 for relief work in the present flood.

CRESTS APPROACHING NEW ORLEANS, MAY 10

(AP)—Two flood crests were approaching Bayou des Glaizis and the Old river tonight as hundreds of residents of the threatened district bent every effort to the task of reinforcing embankments holding back the mounting waters.

One of the crests, south of Rayville, La., with a narrow ridge separating it from the other, was that of the waters released by breaks in the Arkansas river levees. Moving southward to meet waters from the Mississippi freed by crevasses in that system, they have moved upon Rayville and Mer Rouge, but at both places the water was falling, indicating that the crest had passed.

SECOND CREST DELAYED

The second crest, exterior the Tensas basin through flood waters streaming from breaches in the main Mississippi levee system at Cabin Teale and Winterquarters, still was in Madison parish and was due at the mouth of Old river between May 11 and 15.

Already these waters had covered several Louisiana parishes. Those released by the cracks in the two levee systems had covered or threatened 9,098,840 acres in northeastern Louisiana. Tallulah, La., was under six feet of water. At St. Joseph and Ferriday, below Tallulah, water still was rising at the rate of five inches in 24 hours, while at Sicily island, in northeastern Catahoula parish, a rise of a foot and three inches had been shown in the last 24 hours.

SALEM GENERAL HOSPITAL GROWS

More Growth Needed; a Far Vision About What It Should Do

It is interesting to note from the last quarterly report of the superintendent that there is a substantial increase in the service rendered in all the departments, but especially is it reflected in the number of patients and in the number of days service rendered. This is more striking since the report does not include any of the enlarged activities made possible by the opening of certain parts of the new building which is just now gradually being put into service.

MORE FURNITURE NEEDED

However, before the new rooms, wards and service rooms can all be fully utilized there must be considerably more furniture and equipment provided, and this no doubt will be forthcoming as soon as the good citizens of Salem realize the needs of the most valuable of all her public utilities.

WHY HOSPITALS RUN BEHIND?

Speaking of hospitals as public utilities leads the writer to suggest that it would be of interest to all who read this if they would turn to the first editorial in last week's Saturday Evening Post on "Why Hospitals Run Behind?"

This thoughtful study of the hospital question by the editor of this great magazine sets the matter before millions of people, it is suspected in an entirely new light. No doubt that many Salem readers will also get from it a much broader idea of the relation of the individual to the community hospital.

WHAT IS COMING

The time has arrived when the sick and the injured, no matter what their station in life, are entitled to and should receive the best available opportunity for speedy recovery and earliest possible return to their vocational duties, and this opportunity can be found in no other place except in a well organized, standardized hospital.

It cannot be found even in the best equipped homes. The day may not be so far distant when thoughtful people will realize that prevention is cheaper than cure, and will systematically go to a hospital once or twice a year to take a cheerful room for a few days rest and relaxation. In the meantime their physician will have a fine opportunity to give them careful observation.

SALEM CHURCH HAS VENTILATION NOW

System Like Those Used in Theaters Keeps Good Air Coming From Outside

An electric ventilating system has recently been installed in the First Methodist church which is doing effective service. The system consists of two large electric fans which circulate and change the air in the large auditorium. They have the capacity of 2000 cubic feet each per minute and are so arranged as to take the air from the auditorium or the outside and are practically noiseless in their operation.

The system is similar to those used in theaters and other public buildings.

While Rev. F. C.
