DANCY STEPPED UP IN PHONE SERVICE
New Local Manager Takes Charge, Mr. Dancy to Have District Position

C. C. Aller has been appointed manager of the Salem exchange of The Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company. Mr. Aller comes from San Francisco.

W. H. Dancy, who has filled the position of Salem manager for 35 years, now becomes commercial representative, continuing to live in Salem and working in close association with Mr. Aller.

The new manager has for several years been identified with the telephone company in California. He will take over his new work immediately.

He Likes Salem
Mr. Aller says he looks forward with much pleasure to establishing his permanent residence in Salem, which is known all over the coast not only as the capital of the state but as one of the most delightful communities in the west. He will soon remove his family here from San Francisco.

Mr. Dancy, who will become commercial representative, is, by reason of his long service here, one of the best known citizens in the business life of the city. In continuing his residence in Salem and his active identity with the telephone company he will handle many things which his familiarity with the community, his knowledge of the surroundings, his wide acquaintance with his long experience in the telephone business especially equip him to do.

Mr. H. H. Durston of Portland, division superintendent of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company, in issuing the announcement of these appointments, comments on them as direct evidence of the growth of Salem and the growing importance of the city and vicinity as indicated in the increase in the telephone business.

GOOD WILL OAKLAND
SAYS:
We have a 1924 Chevrolet Coupe, in good condition, with the long spring, lots of extras, good rubber and a car that is worth $300.00, for $225.00.

BAYES MAY SIGN TO MEET TAYLOR
With Phil Bayes showing up better than ever before, now firmly established as a favorite, he will give his answer in two days to Matchmaker Harry Plant's bid for a return fight against Allie Taylor of Bend here May 25.

Taylor's only loss this season was the knockout slipped him in the ninth round of an early winter match here in Salem by Ad Mackie. Since then he has traded victorious blows with several good men. He was not in the best of condition against Mackie, being on the road to a siege of influenza.

Bayes is anxious to redeem himself stiff further and turn the cards on Taylor, who laced him last year. However, he is anxious to have a little time to invoice the damage done in the fight Wednesday night and give his body cut eye a chance to heal.

As the semi-windup, Plant will try and match Jack Davis of Oregon City, conqueror of Al Sharp, in fast style, and Jack McIntyre, the latest blood of the local boxing stable. They weigh the same and are willing mixtures. Davis has a terrific punch and a heavy heart for battle while McIntyre combines science with clever punching, guaranteeing a wonder of a card for May 25.
