Salem Matron Is Assistant Hostess at Attractive Albany Affair
Two of the important and outstanding social events of the past week in Albany were the bridge parties given Friday afternoon and evening at the home of Mrs. F. C. Pate with Mrs. Pate and Mrs. Guy Irwin of Salem as joint hostesses.

Some of the events was given in the afternoon with ten tables in play. Mrs. C. H. Murphy winning high honors and Mrs. A. L. Clem high honors and high score. Huge baskets filled with bright colored tulips, irises and spirea formed the attractive decorations about the rooms. Little Miss Virginia Bird greeted the guests at the door at both afternoon and evening parties.

In the evening ten tables were again in play with 40 more Albany women enjoying Mrs. Pate's and Mrs. Irwin's hospitality. Mrs. H. W. Kirkbride won first prize and Mrs. J. Fred Braly received the second prize.

In the afternoon at 4 o'clock a large number who were bidden to call for tea were served with those who had enjoyed several games of bridge. The hostesses were assisted during the affairs by Mrs. Roscoe Ames and Mrs. James Bird and Mrs. Elmer Ling of Salem.

The out-of-town guests who enjoyed the afternoon party were: Mrs. R. Miller of Portland, Mrs. McKelvey, Mrs. C. Steusloff, Mrs. T. Chambers, Mrs. H. E. Worth, Mrs. G. Arbuckle, Mrs. T. Bowersox, Mrs. G. Schuneman, Mrs. Roy Miller, Mrs. Lewis Griffith, Mrs. A. Nelson, Mrs. E. Schoenberg, Mrs. I. M. Doughton and Mrs. Elmer F. Ling, all of Salem.—Albany Democrat.

Evangelical Church Sponsors Special Mothers' Day Service
A large and appreciative audience enjoyed the Mothers' day program given by the United Evangelical Sunday school Sunday morning, May 8. The program consisted of several numbers by the young people's class and recitations by the primary pupils. An exercise by the beginners, entitled "Mother," a duet by Mrs. Ralph Burges and Melvin Epley, with the chorus assisting.

A special feature of the program and one enjoyed by all was the solo by Mrs. Emma Sturges, the oldest member of the Sunday school, entitled, "My Mother's Prayer."
The concluding number was the building of a monument by the audience to the memory of the mothers, both living and those gone on before. White blocks were used for the living and white, with a black band for those passed on.

Much credit is due Mr. Epley, the superintendent of the Sunday school, and his son Melvin Epley, for the success of the program and the building of the monument.

State Convention of Business Women Will Open Tomorrow in Corvallis
The Corvallis Gazette-Times, the afternoon paper of the hostess city, gives first-page space to the following summary of the three-day convention of Oregon Business and Professional Women which will open at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon:

Miss Florence Spencer of New York city, representing the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, will be the honor guest at the Saturday night banquet, one of the features of the state gathering to be held in Corvallis this week. She will also be the speaker.
Delegates to the seventh annual state convention are to begin arriving in Corvallis Friday morning for registration at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon. Social events planned by the local club to promote acquaintance among the delegates include a reception in the Woman's club Friday night at 8 o'clock, the national luncheon in the college tea room at 12 o'clock Saturday, the state dinner at Hotel Benton at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, and the Sunday morning breakfast at 9 o'clock. A dinner for members of the state board is to be at Hotel Benton Friday evening at 6 o'clock, preceding the reception.
Special features for the several days will be solos by Prof. Paul Petr, Miss Doris Zimmerman, contralto, Mrs. Frank Hyland, Ted Roy and other local musicians. Mrs. Marguerite MacMannus is to appear in violin solos. Miss Echo Read will direct an orchestra to play preceding the state dinner. Miss Grace Cronenberger is to read, Miss Lillian McElroy Taylor will play, and Miss Flora McCoy and Miss Ruth Hahn will appear in feature dances. The Corvallis Greeters will lead the singing Saturday at the national luncheon, Dr. W. J. Kerr will welcome the visitors, and Dean J. A. Bexell will speak briefly on "State Education for the Business Woman." Mayor George W. Denman will extend welcome at the state dinner and there will be other musical features and several interesting surprises.

Among the visitors to be here for the state gathering will be approximately half a dozen past national vice presidents and Mrs. Louise Hacker Turner, past state president of Oregon, who comes to Oregon for the annual event. Miss Adelia Pritchard, past state president and past national president, and Mrs. Alice B. Maloney of Marshfield, past state president, are to be among the guests of honor.
Delegates to represent the local club are Mrs. Imogene Bath, Mrs. Walter Hill Kline, Mrs. D. N. Purcell, Mrs. Lillian McElroy Taylor and Mrs. F. H. Whitman. Alternates include Mrs. Stuart, Miss Lois Pratt, Mrs. Frank Hyland, Miss May Gerhard and Mrs. A. C. Van Nuy.

FOR 28 TO 35 YEARS SUGAR BEETS HAVE BEEN TRIED IN WESTERN OREGON AND HAVE MADE VERY GOOD SHOWINGS

Before 1900, 105 Analyses Had Been Made, 97 Showing Above 12 Per Cent Sugar; 74 Above 14 Per cent, and 35 Above 16 Per Cent; Average 14.8 Per Cent—Later Reports Have Shown High Analyses and Good Size to Beets—We Should Grow the Sugar to Can the Fruit

Experimental work by the Corvallis station from 1891 to 1898 inclusive, showed conclusively that sugar beets of good quality can be grown. The sugar content was good—very good—and the roots were of fair size. That was 28 to 35 years ago. There are better sugar beets to work with now and better methods.

Here are some of the results: The data presented below are extracted from an old bulletin covering work done before 1900.

Year	No. of Analyses	Average Weight in Grams	Sugar in Juice	Purity
Season of 1891	81	13.7	77.9
Season of 1892	41	14.7	81.7
Season of 1897	115	15.1	85.6
Season of 1898	105	14.8	85.0

More recent trials at Corvallis and Astoria show high analyses for the beets and also good size to them.

Grow the Sugar to Can the Fruit
The experimental advice says we can grow sugar beets and good ones. Now we buy all our sugar from other states or countries. Think what that means to our canning industry as well as to our home users. If we can get this new industry established, many of our small fruit growers can grow a rotation that will grow the sugar to can their fruit.

Beet Farmers
Horseback farmers, important as they are in the cattle and hay countries, are rarely able to interest themselves in the careful intensive sugar beet industry. A

Mrs. John Lau, also of the music section, will be first vice president, and Mrs. C. J. Lisle, of the writers' section, will be second vice president.
Miss Mirpah Blair was named art director; Mrs. Clifton Mudd, secretary; S. H. Van Trump, treasurer, and Mrs. Blanche Jones (re-elected) financial secretary.

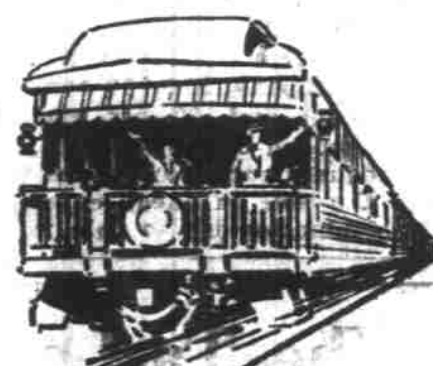

Of the 195 analyses reported, western Oregon, 97 show above 12 per cent sugar in the juice; 74 above 14 per cent, and 35 above 16 per cent. The average of all analyses for the season for western Oregon was 14.8 per cent sugar in juice, purity 85, weight of beets 425 grams (14.87 oz.).
Results obtained other years are:

County	No. of Analyses	Average Weight in Grams	Sugar in Juice	Purity
Benton	3	691	13.0	82.9
Clackamas	9	390	17.0	86.8
Coos	1	545	13.8	85.7
Douglas	15	852	14.8	86.2
Lane	12	474	14.9	86.1
Lincoln	7	604	14.6	86.9
Linn	21	554	14.5	88.3
Marion	6	703	14.0	82.9
Multnomah	10	556	14.8	86.6
Polk	2	595	11.8	84.3
Tillamook	3	377	17.3	90.6
Washington	4	413	15.3	87.6
Yamhill	12	564	14.3	82.2

REAL VALUES

beet farmer must be a careful farmer. He must understand handling small plants carefully, as a good stand of beets is necessary to success. He must know where to get labor and how to use it. Doubtless many of our hop and small fruit growers accustomed to provide camping facilities and to the work of women and high school boys and girls will most readily meet this situation.
Sugar Beet Lands
Deep, mellow, rich lands are best. Mellow bottom lands well drained and well farmed are the ones to use. The roots go deep for moisture and plant food. They make their best development in mellow soils. Rich soils that give rapid early growth before the dry season, and that makes a yield in the fall. Clover sod, fall or early spring plowed, is a fine place for beets. Liberal early spring manuring helps a great deal. Other legume sod is good. Alfalfa so frequently leaves coarse roots that interfere with cultivation, and that sprout up, that it is better to wait a year after breaking for the beets.
There is plenty of good land here for a dozen factories. A careful estimate of the acreage of good sugar beet land in western Oregon is presented by counties in the following table. These figures are conservative, and I have no doubt that there are 200,000
