They shall bear thee up in their hands, lest thou dash thy foot against a stone. Thou shalt tread upon the lion and adder: the young lion and the dragon shalt thou trample under thy feet.—Psalm 91:12-13.

THE STATESMAN'S NEW PRESS

There is being rebuilt at the factory of Walter Scott & Co. Plainfield, N. J., a press and its complete equipment to be shipped about July 1, to be installed upon arrival in the building of The Statesman fronting on Ferry street, next to the alley.

The new press and its equipment will weigh about 100,000 pounds. It will print 24 pages of The Statesman, in colors as desired, folded and inset; will print pages up to 12 at the rate of 30,000 an hour, and from 14 to 24 at the rate of 15,000 an hour.

It will print 96 pages of a magazine, in colors as desired, and fold and insert them. It will thus take the place of two large Miehle presses and a folder in printing the Pacific Homestead and the Northwest Poultry Journal, and release them for other custom work, which is growing constantly more urgent.

And the new press will print as many pages of these magazines in four hours, and fold them, as can now be printed and folded in four weeks.

This new equipment, doing the work of a $40,000 plant, and fully worth that much in the operations of the Statesman Publishing company, will be the largest advance ever made in equipment at one time by The Statesman publications.

The old Duplex press, that has printed The Statesman for 27 years, will be taken out; traded in, to be sold to some other newspaper. It is good for twice 27 years yet, and more, for it is in splendid repair.

But it is too slow for the Salem of the present and the immediate future.

With the new press, the columns of The Statesman will be about an inch longer, and the printing will be very greatly improved. The Scott press manufacturing concern is the oldest in America, and it specializes on equipment for good, clear printing. There are many of the largest publishers in the United States who are particular about the appearance of their newspapers who will not have any other press than a Scott press.

So The Statesman will be prepared, some time in August or early September, to have a much improved output, and to increase its volume many fold.

There is a movement to give Salem a larger place in the very important service of the American Automobile association, known in motordom as the A. A. A. The idea is to give this city a district office, with an active manager looking out for the interests of the users of automobiles. The local office is at the Marion hotel. The A. A. A. is relied upon very generally by travelers by auto, and especially by those who come from California, where the association is very strong—and we get by far our largest tourist travel from that state. The extension is a good idea for Salem; it would be a beneficial thing to have the district office.

The total for Marion and Polk counties of Red Cross flood relief funds is now around $2400, and making good gains. The 100 per cent mark is $3600, and it will of course be reached. Any other result is unthinkable.

Every cent of the Red Cross flood relief funds goes to flood relief. The cost of distribution is borne by the normal work and organization of the Red Cross. Whether you give 5 cents or $500, every cent goes for the purpose for which you give it.

There is to be in The Statesman of tomorrow an account of a visit of a Salemite to the Prunport factory in Portland, which is to be removed to Salem in September, together with the offices of the company. That is to be a Salem concern. There is every indication that it will be one of the big Salem concerns. With possibilities that are far beyond the first expectations of most of the people of Marion and Polk counties who bought stock and made possible the starting in an ambitious way of the enterprise.

There are not enough cows in the Salem district. Not a tenth as many as we should have. Not a fiftieth as many as we could support, with the development of the beet sugar industry. The annual spring Jersey show will be held at the state fair grounds on Thursday, May 26th, and the finals at the same place on Saturday, the 28th. Salem cannot give up Saturday, but her business people ought to declare a half holiday on Thursday afternoon—and everybody attend the show. It is worth while. It would be a general thing. It is good business. Encourage and help the cow men. They will help everybody.

Bits For Breakfast

Going over good—

The local flood relief quota. Of course.

The Oregon prune industry is going to be stabilized, if near 100 per cent of the growers and dealers will agree to cooperate—and then cooperate.

The prune growers of the Walla Walla, Union and Idaho districts are to cooperate this year; 100 per cent. They are to have a trade name for the product of all three sections, and cooperate in advertising. Their prunes are all shipped fresh; not dried. They will mutually profit from mutual cooperation.

The Bits for Breakfast man is for the proposed half holiday in Salem Thursday afternoon, the 28th, to boost the dairy industry.

It will be a fine, generous thing to do; and it will pay.

Man has his weaknesses, but he wouldn't ruin a $25 hat fighting to save two cents a yard on dress goods.

What a pleasure to buy from a green salesman who hasn't learned to gush and flatter as though you were an idiot.

A woman's tears are the most powerful water power known to man.

Los Angeles city limits include 250,000 acres, while San Francisco's incorporate limits include less than 27,000 acres. No wonder Los Angeles claims the largest population. Lucky for Oregon Los Angeles is situated in southern instead of northern California.

Seeks Permit to Build Grade Crossing on Road

The Linn county court has filed application with the public service commission for permission to establish a crossing at grade over the tracks of the Lebanon-Springfield branch of the Southern Pacific railroad. The proposed new crossing would be located near Brownsville.

RUMOR NOT SUSTAINED

Brownlee's Weapon Contained Mixed Ammunition, Report

Possibility of throwing new doubt on Albert Brownlee's guilt through the claim that Eston Hooper, for whose murder Brownlee is sentenced to hang next Tuesday, was killed with a steel jacketed bullet, whereas Brownlee's pistol was loaded with soft-nosed ammunition, seemed remote Friday.

According to Lyle Dunsmoor, commander of the American Legion post here, the gun, found recently by Sheriff Taylor of Lane county, contained mixed ammunition and not soft-nosed bullets alone.

Dunsmoor, who has spent considerable time investigating this feature of the case, said he had no new information on which to take action.

Brownlee's sisters, one from Montana and the other from Echo, Or., arrived here Thursday with affidavits as to Brownlee's war record.

Invitations to attend the hanging were being received by local people Thursday.

TWO TON SAFE STOLEN

Strange Robbery in Kansas Town Believed Experts' Work

PITTSBURG, Kas., May 13.—(AP)—A two ton safe, containing more than $200,000 in cash and securities, was carted away from the McCune State bank at McCune, Kas., Thursday by six men who on entering the village bound the city marshal.

Finger prints left on the corners of glass removed from a desk in the bank furnished the chief clues tonight for officers who were scouring four counties in an effort to capture the thieves.

A hinge from the safe was found near Edna, in Labette county, indicating that the robbers had

Malin Rancher Takes Mother's Body to Europe for Burial

PORTLAND, May 13.—(AP)—Steve Kudr, a wheat farmer of Malin, Ore., one mile from the California line, left tonight on a 7000 mile trip to Czechoslovakia with the body of his mother, that he might keep the promise to her three years ago to take her back to her native land to rest beside her husband in the community church yard at Lovice.

Twenty-four years ago Steve Kudr and his mother came to America. After seven years in the coal mines of Texas they came to Oregon and bought and leased wheat farms near Malin. For several years they worked the ranches and accumulated money from several good crops. Mrs. Agnes K. Kudr, the mother, longed to return to Bohemia and urged her son to take her back that she might die there. Before the trip could be made, however, she died: January 20, 1924, at the age of 70, and was buried at Malin.
