SIDE LIGHTS OF THE STAGE and SCREEN

Capitol Theater
A program of music, song, stories, and comedy by masters of the vaudeville world and put over in showmanship manner, is billed for the Capitol theater today.
Ernest, Young, and Ernest, in an artistic dance offering which they call "Footloose," is the headline attraction on the current unit. Mr. Young is a novelty tap-dancer and the young ladies are not only clever soft-shoe dancers, but also prove most decorative in exquisite gowns. Mr. Smith of Smith and Bernard, more often known as "Piano Bill from Louisville," is a composer of many song hits while his dainty partner is a possessor of a melodious and cultivated voice. Allen and Francis in "Eccentric Oddities" are two clever entertainers in a comedy offering. Laughter is their middle name and it comes fast and furiously during their entire act. Burke and Durr in "Mirth and Melody" introduce double piano accordion numbers, singing and dancing. It is a pleasing act showing class and ability. Fred Welle, known as "A Sensational Aerial Artist," has many novelties in his offering and keeps his audience on edge.
There is also a very clever and entertaining picture "The Demi-Bride," a farce-comedy featuring Norma Shearer and Lew Cody. It is the story of a girl who couldn't wait to fall in love. She leapt straight into the most hilarious and refreshing series of adventures of the heart, you've ever roared at.
The short subjects are a news weekly, a cartoon comedy, and a special reel showing Capt. Lindbergh's start from New York for Paris.
