

SIDE LIGHTS OF THE STAGE AND SCREEN

Elsinore Theater
 "An Affair of the Follies," a screen story produced by Al Rockett of "Abraham Lincoln" fame, for First National, is at the Elsinore today and Monday. Adapted from the magazine story, "Here 'Are Brother," by Dixie Willson, the picture retains many clever plot kinks, and one in particular that caused the story to be cited as one of the outstanding bits of short fiction of the year. Briefly, the novel "twist" is this: Three men lunch at adjoining tables in a New York chop house daily for a year without becoming acquainted. Fate, however, is entangling their lives through outside events and when they finally become acquainted two of them seek advice from the third.

The third capably advises them—and by following his advice the two-outwit their kindly advisor! Lewis Stone, Billie Dove, and Lloyd Hughes are featured in the pictures.

Great Scott, these Fanchon and Marco girls are versatile. Not content with being acrobats, dancers, songsters, toe dancers, adagio experts, the girls seen in the Aerial Ballet "Idea" this week, make one wonder where the Fanchon and Marco girls find time to eat and sleep.

The girls climb high, twisting themselves around ropes and doing an aerial ballet, which would prove amazing even to circus people.

This week's Fanchon and Marco presentation is called the Aerial Ballet "Idea" and includes twenty Sunkist Beauties and an all-star cast of performers who appear in a gorgeous stage setting. They are at the Elsinore today and Monday.

Capitol Theater
 "The Outlaw Dog," one of the most absorbing dog stories ever written has been used as the latest starring vehicle for Ranger, F. B. O's canine marvel, which is now showing at the Capitol today and Monday. The theme is centered around the escape of a dog who has been falsely accused of attacking his master. With almost human ingenuity the animal makes his "get-away" by riding the rails of a freight train in the most approved hobo fashion. A fugitive, homeless and hungry, he gets off at a small town where new adventures await him. He is befriended by a man whose life he later saves, and they become the most devoted pals, sharing the perils and pleasures alike until the fatal day when Ranger is discovered and must be taken away from his beloved friend. A happy solution is attained only after some breath taking thrills in which Ranger proves not only his innocence, but that he will risk his life for mankind.

Oregon Theater
 Maybe it is foolish to be superstitious. And maybe it was merely caution which prompted the "White Gold" company to chase a black cat off of their stage at the De Mille Studio. It was the first day of the picture; everybody was excited. Then the feline strolled in. Several electricians saw it first. They made faces at the animal, hoping to scare it off, but it wouldn't scare. Then they tried to catch it.

Finally the cat beat a retreat, but not until after it had made several wary faces at Jetta Goudal, the star, William K. Howard, the director and Kenneth Thompson the leading man. "White Gold" will be shown at the Oregon theater today and Monday.

Facsimile of Statue of Liberty Received
 PRINGLE, June 4.—(Special.)—Mrs. William Propst recently received by mail from her son, Carl, a miniature fac simile of the Statue of Liberty. Carl Propst has been in the navy nearly three years and intends to re-enlist for four more years. The ship, Doyen 280, on which Carl is serving is now at Newport, R. I.

The Pringle school board has employed Rex Jones of route 8, Salem, to fill the place of the school left vacant by the resignation of R. J. Miller.

The Pringle-Pleasant Point Ladies club had their annual June picnic at the state fair grounds Saturday. Of course it was a very enjoyable frolic, basket dinner, ice cream (the real home-made article) strawberries, besides contests and races of various kinds.

Mr. and Mrs. Gildow of Portland were visitors at the J. M. Coburn home Friday.

The robins are taking an unusually heavy toll from the ripe strawberries this season.

Harold Meeks has returned to Oregon City where he has a desirable job.

Ernest Clark sheared sheep and planted potatoes Thursday and Friday.

Governor Patterson Talks on Income Tax at Grange
 BRUSH COLLEGE, June 4.—(Special.)—Governor I. L. Patterson delivered the main address at the monthly meeting of the Brush College grange. The governor discussed the income tax.

Other numbers on the program were as follows: Vocal duet, "Just to Hear You Whisper," Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Scott of Zena; encore, "Just a Song at Twilight," sung by Mrs. Scott; solo, "Light I Love Best," sung by Mrs. Stewart of Gervais.

Brush College went on record as favoring the income tax and the fourth amendment raising the tax base.

Programs of Interest Planned for Church
 Three programs of interest to the public will be held at the Jason Lee Memorial church, corner of North Winter and Jefferson streets, beginning this morning, with the final on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. This morning at 9:45, 40 children will present a children's day pageant to the church school assembly. The title of the pageant is "Gretchen's Great Adventure." The program is full of color and will interest everybody. This annual event is looked forward to by all who have attended other years.

In the evening at 8 o'clock a chorus choir of young people will lead the singing. The officers of the Epworth leagues will be installed with appropriate ceremony and will assume their duties for the new year. There will be a special message by the pastor.

Then a fine climax will be reached Monday with an elaborate pageant by young people, entitled, "The Rich Young Ruler." This is the most elaborate Bible play ever presented in the church and should be seen by a full house. Miss Mary McKee has coached the cast.

Four Pupils Pass Eighth Grade Examinations Here
 HALLS FERRY, June 4.—(Special.)—The eighth grade pupils, who passed the state examination at the Halls Ferry school, were: Orville Ekin, Evin Doley and Frederick Noeske. Arthur Bailey passed the test in the December examinations.

Vernon Brown passed the seventh grade examination and Mildred Shelton and Louis Cummins were the sixth grade pupils who passed the tests in Physiology and Oregon history.

Mrs. Stalcup taught here this year and there have been no failures resulting from state examinations.

TAXES SHOW INCREASE
 Heavy Sale of Gas and Distillate Brings State Revenue

Taxes collected on gasoline and distillate sales in Oregon during the month of April this year aggregated $310,655.14, according to a statement prepared here yesterday by Sam. A. Kozler, secretary of state.

Dealers reported aggregate sales of 9,788,145 gallons of gasoline and 680,431 gallons of distillate. The gasoline sales increases 11 per cent and the distillate sales 21 per cent when compared with the sales during April, 1926.

Despite the unfavorable weather conditions which prevailed during the first four months of 1927 motor vehicle fuels sales were nearly seven per cent greater than during the same period a year ago. This is almost exactly the same percentage by which automobile registrations increased, there having been a total of 186,319 motor vehicles licensed in January, February, March and April of 1926, and a total of 198,810 during the same four months in 1927.
