

FLOWERS PLANTED AT PARRISH HIGH

Plants Donated by C. F. Breithaupt and Work by Hospital Florist

Flower boxes which have remained empty outside the windows of the Parrish junior high school will hereafter be among the outstanding features of beauty about the building, due to the donation of a number of flowering plants by C. F. Breithaupt, local florist, and the work of planting them, which was done by H. C. Jateham, florist at the Oregon State Hospital.

Although the installation of these plants is too late to be noticed by the school pupils themselves, due to the beginning of summer vacation this week, the window boxes face upon the Pacific Highway, and will be noticed by the hundreds of tourists who daily throng the highway, and who will be attracted by this addition to one of Salem's most beautiful buildings.

A variety of colors have been worked into the boxes, with such flowers as double red geraniums, Paris Marquette daisies, pink verbena, blue ageratum, sweet alyssum, pink petunias, blue lobelias, and trailing Dusty Miller. These are all plants which will bloom well and last throughout the summer and fall.

Other donations which have been made toward the beautifying of the Parrish grounds include a number of evergreens and shrubs, donated by the Salem Garden Club, and 1000 tulip bulbs, presented and planted by H. C. Bateham.

KIMBALL SCHOOL PLANS FOR COMMENCEMENT

Cause. A program of musical numbers followed by refreshments will be the order of the evening. This reception, according to Dr. Cance, is a return to one of the distinctive features of commencement which marked the administrations of President Kimball and Dr. Talbot, in the past. It is hoped that the public will take advantage of this opportunity to visit the school.

The program for Tuesday includes an alumni business meeting at 8:30 a. m., the annual meeting of the board of trustees at 10:30 a. m., presided over by Dr. Edward Laird Mills, of Portland, the graduation exercises in Kimball hall at 2:30 p. m., when Dr. J. C. Harrison, pastor of the Centenary-Wilbur Methodist church of Portland will give the address, "Making Our Best Better," and the concluding event, the alumni banquet at 6 o'clock, at the Leslie Methodist church.

This is the 18th annual commencement program of Kimball school. Graduates are Henry Cross, Oliver Gill, and Leroy Walker. Walker is to receive the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

Zero Hour Observance by Kiwanis to Be Monday

"Zero hour" for the Kiwanis International will be observed by the Salem Kiwanis club when it meets at the Marion hotel Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

This event is being observed at the international convention at Memphis, Tenn., and by all local clubs. President Karl Becke of the Salem club is at the convention, and the meeting here will be in charge of W. I. Needham, club secretary. Wives and guests of the members will also attend.

Judge O. P. Coshow will be the principal speaker, according to the announcement of the program committee, members of which are Needham, Charles Wier, Ralph Cooley and Dr. J. D. Lynch.

Kensington Club Holds Enjoyable Afternoon Meet

The Kensington club met at the home of Mrs. Chas. Pratt on Thursday afternoon and practically every member was present for a very enjoyable session. The ladies present spent the time with sewing and talking. At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served.

The rooms were beautifully decorated for the occasion with flowers and greenery.

FLOOD VICTIMS' AID PLANNED BY COMPANY

It is stated by government authorities that this flood is the greatest of the century in American history. About 3,800,000 acres of territory were covered and three hundred thousand people forced to flee from their homes. On the lower Mississippi, where the flood waters are slowly pouring into the Gulf of Mexico, it will be weeks before it subsides. The river at these points forms a lake 225 miles long and from fifty to a hundred miles wide.

SHE'S OUT OVER THE ATLANTIC

NEW YORK, June 4.—(AP)—Giuseppe M. Bellanca, designer of the monoplane "Columbia," now speeding over the Atlantic, Europe-bound, was a student in Milan in 1903 when he was fired with an enthusiasm for flying after reading in a paper that a Frenchman in a flying machine had stayed in the air six minutes.

He saw a greater future in this country than in Italy and in 1911 came here. A few months later he was ridiculed when he appeared at Mineola field with a plane which was immediately dubbed the "parasol" plane, because its wing covered the pilot. It not only flew, but was the foundation for the present monoplane bearing his name.

In this plane Bellanca taught himself to fly. The "parasol" is still in existence and was flown by Clarence Chamberlin in 1921.

Perkins School Ends With Fitting Program

Patriotic Exercises With Dialogues and Songs Entertains

PERKINS SCHOOL, June 4.—(Special)—Friday, June 3, marked the closing of Perkins school. The event was celebrated by closing exercises which were pleasing. The program, largely patriotic, was interspersed with charming dialogues, songs and recitations.

Miss Ina Delle Koon, the present teacher will have charge of the Perkins school again next year.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Mears and son, Donald, will be home from Portland the latter part of next week.

Mrs. Will A. Mumpert has returned from several days spent in eastern Oregon attending the graduating exercises of her niece, Miss Velma Mathis of Kent, Oregon.

Jesse Mathis is building a new residence on his Willamette nursery property on the Pacific highway. Mr. Mathis is one of the school directors of district 102.

Grain was never looking better, and fruit is better than was at first anticipated. Among the remarkable gooseberry picking of the past week was ten hundred pounds picked by a Canadian young man named Albert Barry. Mr. Barry did this exceptional picking in the Rickman Brothers yards of Claxton.

Big Family Re-Union Is Event at Stayton

Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Harold Dine, Relatives and Friends

STAYTON, June 4.—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Harold entertained relatives and a few old time friends at their beautiful home here Sunday, May 29.

The long table was placed in the yard near a large Governor Wood cherry tree on the west side and two climbing red rose bushes on the east side. Four United States flags were placed in the center of the table, surrounded by the delicious eatables.

The honor guest was G. F. Harold, Raleigh's father and an old time pioneer of Linn county. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Cole and children, Howard and Erma of Astoria; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Harold and daughter, Doris of Eugene; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Chrisman and daughter, Marcel of Lebanon; Mrs. Della Harold Young and daughters Evelyn and Virginia of Wenatchee, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schelberg of Salem; Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Lambert, G. F. Harold, Ray and Vilas Harold.

Levine Surprises

Beside him in the cabin was Charles A. Levine, his financial backer and a surprise member of the crew. Levine is 30 years old, began life as a stable boy, and then became wealthy as a dealer in metals. He is an amateur flier but has done very little flying, and whether or not he could be of practical assistance to Chamberlin was a matter of speculation.

Both men are married, and Levine is the father of two girls. Mrs. Levine tonight had recovered from an attack of hysteria suffered when she first learned her husband was to make the trip as he hopped into the cockpit at the take-off. Mrs. Chamberlin kept at home what was expected to be the longest vigil in her experience as an aviator's wife.

Wife Not Told

The flight was marked by great excitement because of the element of mystery that enshrouded its beginning. Until the very last moment it was not known that Levine, who is managing director of the company which owns the Columbia, was going along. Absolute secrecy had been maintained as to the man who would accompany Chamberlin, and even Levine's own wife did not know of his intention.

When the monoplane was close to the runway at Roosevelt field, from which Lindbergh took off more than two weeks ago, Chamberlin appeared in flying clothes and took control, but no navigator was on hand, but he was in ordinary business clothes and bare headed.

Intention Guessed

"Is it possible that you are to be the second man yourself?" someone asked Levine, and he laughed shortly as his wife looked at him in sudden concern.

"Where did you get that idea?" he asked, and then added, "I'd like to go."

When the plane was ready Levine hopped into the cockpit beside Chamberlin. Somebody said something about his going to take a little test flight. Mrs. Levine showed some concern, but was reassured by friends.

The plane started down the runway. Someone cried, "They're off!" There was excitement, confusion, people ran here and there and called unintelligible messages. The plane slowed and stopped was hauled back to the runways top. Levine was still in the cabin. He waved. He looked beseechingly at his wife, and again the plane reared down the runway.
