

SIDELIGHTS OF THE STAGE and SCREEN

Capitol Theater
The Australian National band will be the special attraction at the Capitol theater this afternoon and evening. They have toured in many countries and wherever they have appeared a wonderful reception has been accorded them.

Every member of this band is a musician of rare ability. They are sure to please the music lovers of Salem and vicinity.

A special Statesman matinee has been arranged for 2:30 p. m. and at this matinee children under twelve will be admitted by presenting the coupon and twenty cents at the window.

The evening performance is scheduled to begin at 8:30.

Elsinore Theater
In the Elsinore theater, Wednesday night, June 22, Charles Frohman will present Otis Skinner in the romantic comedy, "The Honor of the Family."

Mr. Skinner's role of the swashbuckling Colonel Philippe Bridau is the most picturesque creation among the many memorable characterizations that he has contributed to the theater.

Otis Skinner is one of the few actors now on the stage who are able by the surety of their artistry to give to a fictitious character a reality and humanness that charms and also convinces.

The reason for this is that Mr. Skinner in his apprentice years in the theater thoroughly learned his business and upon this foundation has added an individual and total personality of acting that has made some roles inevitable his own.

One of these roles is that of Colonel Bridau. It is quite impossible to conceive any other actor in the English speaking theater giving to this part the same skillful and sweeping breadth of portraiture with which Otis Skinner has invested it. It is a thing of art and a thing of life.

"The Honor of the Family" originated in a story by Balzac and so bears upon it the magic of a master of fiction. From the Balzac story "Un Menage de Garcon," Emile Fabre made a play which he called "La Rabouillaise."

This latter, Paul Potter translated into English and renamed "The Honor of the Family."

The story of the play concerns an old miser who has become the victim of the machinations of schemers who are greedy for his wealth. When all seems propitious for the realization of their plans, the old man's nephew, Colonel Philippe Bridau, nephew sonic veteran, dare-devil, and a bit of a ruffian, intervenes and there ensues a battle of wits in which the Colonel proves the winner. The plotters are routed and Bridau saves "The Honor of the Family."

Mr. Skinner is supported by a splendid band of players. These include Jessie Royce Landis, Eugene Woodward, Julia Shaw, Robert Harrison, Courtney White, Harry Burkhardt, D. V. Deering, Edward Butler, William Clark, Albert Berg, William Granger and Wilson Reynolds.

The engagement is limited to Wednesday evening only.

Oregon Theater
"McFadden's Flats," which shows as the feature attraction at the Oregon theater today, is one long, hilarious laugh. The famous old stage comedy has been given a brand new dress, new laughs and a new lease on life that should give screen audiences a new conception of what can be done in the way of film fun.

Charlie Murray, as the hodgepodge Irishman, is irresistible, and teamed up with Chester Conklin as a Scotch barber, Charlie proves one of the greatest comics of the screen.

Of course, pretty faces—and figures as well—have not been overlooked in the making of this picture. Edna Murphy, in the leading feminine role, is one of the most convincing reasons why gentlemen prefer blondes. Then, when Dorothy Dwan comes along—photographing as a decided brunette—one becomes convinced that she might prefer her without losing the slightest evidence of his gentility.

"McFadden's Flats" tells the story of the struggles of an Irishman who, coming to America, has ambitions to get out of the ranks of hodcarriers and become a builder—a builder of a flat building that might bear his name, in fact. He meets a tight-fisted Scotchman—portrayed by Chester Conklin—who becomes his fast friend in spite of their wide differences in taste.

yourself. Let your daily prayer be, "Give us this day our daily bread."

With a command of language and a forcefulness of expression which gripped the students, faculty, relatives and friends of the graduates who filled the auditorium, Mr. Dana told of the opportunities of 1927.

Emergencies Foreseen
"Modern society cannot be served by a man who is just good enough. We must prepare for the emergency—prepare to meet it not with ignominy, but with success," he declared.

Friendliness, happiness, appreciation of beauty in all life, character, and thoroughness in execution of tasks must all be part of the successful life, he pointed out.

Chorus Has Part
The commencement program was opened with an organ prelude, Mendelssohn's "March of Priests," played by Prof. T. S. Roberts. The invocation was offered by Dr. John S. Canse, president of Kimball school, and the scripture lesson read by Rev. S. J. Chaney.

Grieg's "Recognition of Land" was sung by a male chorus under the direction of Prof. Emery W. Hobson, and following the address, Miss Helen Bridgeman played a piano solo, "Over the Steppes," by Schytte. Other musical numbers of the program were a vocal solo by Loyd Thompson, Schumann's "The Two Grenadiers," the senior farewell song, "Farewell, Willamette," sung by Joe Nee, and the organ postlude, "March in G," by Stainer, played by Professor Roberts. of the United States that a national band has visited this country from the great commonwealth of Australia. They have come half way around the world to fill a number of big engagements in the east, and are bidding time on the Pacific coast until called east. Australia is a country where musicians are born, as well as made. Their marvelous ability along these lines has been demonstrated many times in all parts of the world, and our visitors today are the very essence of instrumentalists gleaned from the entire country. They recently completed a world tour during which they "copped off" many laurels in many countries. Today's concerts will be a revelation in the art of brass band music, and those who, after hearing them, are not willing to state that they are the greatest brass band in the world will unquestionably be willing to concede that they are certainly the most versatile. Their concerts are really an enormous vaudeville entertainment in music, and if expression is anything in music, then the Australians can be considered perfect.

They will give some special entertainment today by marching in the Flag day parade this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

SILVERTON CHURCH FACES DISSOLUTION

Objection May Bring Court Action, Pastor Declares; No Action Taken

SILVERTON, Ore., June 13.—(Special)—No minister was called at the meeting by Emmanuel church held Friday evening for that purpose. A motion made by L. Oppendahl to postpone the calling of a pastor, was carried by a vote of 118 to 192.

A motion was then submitted by J. L. Hatterberg to the effect that all services be held in St. Johns church, instead of as decided at the last meeting. A week ago it was decided that Norwegian services be held in Trinity church, and English services in St. Johns church for a period of three months. Mr. Hatterberg was a member of the former St. Johns congregation.

L. H. Meyer, chairman of the board of directors, then asked for the floor. He stated that although he had worked hard for a union, there seemed to be none, and he believed it useless to force one. He pointed out the material decrease in Sunday school attendance, stating that other Sunday schools were being fed by the children of Emmanuel congregation.

He could not, he explained, blame any one group, "since all were stubborn. He declared that he was ashamed to belong to the congregation named Emmanuel, because of the continuous trouble.

Mr. Meyer concluded by moving that the option motion be taken from the table and acted upon. This motion was made at the last meeting, to the effect that all those dissatisfied with Emmanuel congregation leave it and organize a new one, and that all former Trinity property be deeded to the new congregation.

John C. Goplerud took the floor and said he believed the motion was a declaration of war instead of peace. He thereupon moved that both the Hatterberg and Meyer motions be laid on the table. Goplerud's motion was defeated with 125 for and 137 against.

The option motion carried with 149 for and 62 against.

Mr. Goplerud moved to adjourn, but this motion was overwhelmingly defeated. John Mae then moved that Emmanuel church dissolve and that everyone return to Trinity and St. Johns, as before the union of the two churches.

Rev. Mr. Lindseth, chairman of the meeting, declared that if anyone opposed this motion, Emmanuel church could not be dissolved without court action. L. M. Larson then asked how Trinity church could be dissolved, as at the time of union a great many voted against it. The first vote was unfavorable, he said, but the second vote carried favorably with but a small majority.

Larson's question remained unanswered.

Although John Mae's motion for the dissolution of Emmanuel church was the subject of much discussion, no action was taken, and the meeting adjourned. Prior to adjournment, however, Mr. Goplerud's suggestion that those dissatisfied with Emmanuel church hold another meeting, was favorably received, and a meeting was set for tonight, to be held in Trinity church.
