Portland and Salem Artists to Combine in Presenting Concert Saturday

The Schubert Octette of Salem and the Nevin Octette of Portland will join in presenting a concert at the First Baptist church, Saturday evening, June 25. J. Scott Milne, prominent Portland baritone, will also sing two groups of songs. Mr. Milne has been very popular in Portland musical circles, is a member and soloist with the Apollo club there, and also at the First Congregational church in Portland.

Also assisting on the program will be Robert Alexander, popular young pianist of Salem, Lawrence Deacon, baritone, and Pauline Gerth, violinist. The two latter artists will assist with obligatos.

Miss Elva Amsler will accompany the Schubert Octette, the members of which are: Jean Percy, Eleanor Moore, Hilda Amsler, Dorothy Brant, Grace Fawk, Ruth Swart, Myra Gleason, Elaine Chapin, and Arbutus Rudie. Guest sopranos with the octette who were formerly members will be Flora Fletcher Hedrick and Eva Roberts.

Members of the Nevin Octette are: Francis Ripke, Elvira Rizzo, Laura Dumas, Doris Allen, Altabel Dumas, Lucille Atkinson, Florence Warmoth, and Beatrice Thompson. Miss Dorothy Walton will be the accompanist for the Portland group.

Silver Tea for Benefit of the Oregon Fine Arts Building is Announced

An informal silver tea, the benefits of which will go toward the fund which is being raised throughout the state of Oregon for the erection of a Fine Arts building at the University of Oregon, will be given by a group of Salem matrons at the lovely hillside home of Mrs. Arthur J. Rahn, 1510 Fairmount, Thursday, June 23, from 3 until 5 p. m.

Matrons of Salem have been organized by Mrs. Irene H. Gerlinger, of Portland, chairman, and member of the board of regents of the University, and the Thursday tea is being sponsored by one division of the Salem group. The Salem quota for the $116,000 building fund has been placed at $1,900.

There is a threefold purpose behind the erection of the Fine Arts building, first, it will afford a place for the display and housing of the extensive and priceless exhibit of Oriental art that has been collected and given to the University of Oregon by Mrs. Murray Warner, as a memorial to her husband. The space now occupied by the museum, the third floor of the Woman's building, is so inadequate for the collection that it has been necessary to store much of it in boxes until some proper place can be found to display it to the public. The rooms are also needed by the women of the University.

Secondly, the building will be erected as a fitting memorial to the late President Prince Lucian Campbell, whose fine sense of the beautiful and whose taste and interest in art and the finer things of life make only some such a dedication as this a worthy memorial to this leader who made the university the great institution that it is today.

Furthermore, the building will house relics and old articles of historic interest to the state of Oregon. At present there is no suitable place to perform this function in the state, and at the University of Oregon the state's treasures will find an appropriate home.

The tea Thursday is under the direction of Mrs. W. Carlton Smith, Mrs. J. H. Eglertman, Mrs. William B. Mott and Mrs. Arthur J. Rahn. A program, which will especially interest those connected with the University and its work, is being planned for the afternoon and will be announced later.

Kenneth Allen Gains Wide Range of Praise on Concert Friday Evening

A most exceptional concert was given at the First Baptist church, June 17, by Kenneth Allen, young Salem tenor. Though only 18 years old Mr. Allen gave a very interesting and varied program, his large repertoire extending from lighter, and modern songs to the arias, including songs in both French and Italian, character songs, Negro spirituals and ballads.

The young soloist shared honors with his teacher, Miss Minnetta Magers, whose thorough coaching was brought out in the fine style and clear diction of his interpretation. His concept of the text seemed far beyond his years.

Mr. Allen's charming personality combined with a pleasing and cultured voice delighted and interested the large audience, which included many of Salem's best musicians and music-lovers of the city, as well as Portland visitors. All of Mr. Allen's songs were delivered with a poise which was both modest and natural. Especially noticeable was the ease with which he took the high pianissimo tones, perfectly placed and clearly enunciated.

The deepest of spirituality was evidenced in his group of Negro spirituals, while the character songs such as “The Wreck of the Julie Plante,” “Lohr,” “Tally Ho,” “Leoni,” and “La Russe,” Kountz, were portrayed in a most interesting manner.

A difficult selection, “The Round-Up Lullaby” by Ross, which pictures the cowboy making his rounds at night and singing a soothing lullaby to prevent a stampede of the cattle, was very effectively done.

All numbers were heartily applauded and while it was understood that no encores were to be given, insistent applause brought forth the repetition of two numbers, the well loved “La donna e mobile” from “Rigoletto” and the “Al Nostri Monti” from “Il Trovatore.” The latter number was sung with Miss Arbutus Rudie, popular contralto of Salem and member of the Schubert Octette. Her fresh and clear contralto was well suited to blend charmingly with Mr. Allen's tenor in the duet work.

Mr. Allen was most ably assisted by three of Salem's most talented young people, Miss Mildred Roberts, violinist; Mr. Clarence Wenger, pianist; and Miss Rudie, contralto.

The ease, naturalness and youthful gracefulness which Miss Roberts displayed on the concert stage and her brilliant work in “Hejre Kat!,” Hubay and “Fräzquita,” Lahar-Kreiser endeared her even more in the hearts of Salem music lovers. The rapid and difficult finger work of her first number and in passages of the second was taken with an unassuming ease which was particularly noticeable, and won her applause which demanded an encore. Miss Roberts also played a well worked-out obligato for Mr. Allen in Massenet's “Elegie.”

Two piano numbers, “Nocturne Lyrique,” by Borowski and “Bourée” by Bach-Saint-Saens, were most effectively and carefully interpreted by Mr. Wenger, who has already won an enviable place among the younger musicians of Salem. His accompaniments for Mr. Allen were played with exceptional merit, and showed skill and fine interpretive ability.

Mrs. Gertrude Cameron, teacher of piano at Silverton and an aunt of Miss Roberts, most artistically accompanied Miss Roberts' violin solos.

Women's Alliance to Give Silver Tea in Gardens of W. E. Anderson Home

Among the outstanding events on next week's social calendar will be the silver tea garden party given by the Women's Alliance of the Unitarian church in the beautiful gardens of the W. E. Anderson home on Court street, tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Milton Meyers will have charge of the dining room, and Mrs. W. E. Anderson and Mrs. L. F. LeGardie will receive at the door.
