opposition and are obviously reasonable, he contended. City Dump Disgrace As to the $40,000 bond issue asked for an incinerator, "if you are in doubt I wish you could serve on the committee which has been trying to find a place for a city dump for the last three years," the councilman declared. "It's impossible."

Amount Not Excessive The council has been criticized from two sides on the matter of the $500,000 bond issue asked for sewers. Rosebraugh mentioned by some because it is too low, by others because it is too high. As to the latter objection, he promised that the bonds would not be sold faster than they were needed.

Next winter, if flood conditions are as bad as they were last winter, there will be 2,000 basements flooded instead of half that number, the speaker predicted.

75TH ANNIVERSARY WILL BE OBSERVED

Series of Services Planned Sunday by Congregational Church Here

The First Congregational church of Salem will observe the 75th anniversary of its organization on Sunday, June 26, by a series of interesting services.

It was on the Fourth of July, 1852, that a company of four persons under the leadership of Rev. J. W. Goodell united in forming this church.

For this anniversary all former pastors now living and many members who years ago were active in the church have been invited and some will be sure to be here.

This church has counted in its membership during the years many persons prominent in the social and business life of the city, persons whose lives have counted for the best and highest things.

Among those now connected with the church are: Mrs. M. N. Chapman, Mrs. Ida M. Babcock, Miss Nellie Taylor, Mrs. J. J. Murphy, Mrs. Elizabeth Adair, Miss Margaret Cosper and Mrs. A. H. Farrar and Mrs. A. N. Moores enjoy the honor of holding membership longest.

The church has ministered in the broadest way to the religious life of the people of Salem and is still marching forward in strength and influence. The public is heartily invited to join with the congregation in celebrating this anniversary.

Old time hymns and old time choir members, and addresses by those familiar with the history of the church will be features of the program on Sunday.

Chinese, Long Resident Here, Dies at Hospital

Charlie Wong, known to several generations of Salemites as cook, window washer and general handy man, passed away at a local hospital late Wednesday night at the age of 83, after a serious illness.

The ancient Chinese, when received at the hospital a few days ago, told the staff that he "was 45 years old and had made his home in the city for 49 years." Other local Chinese declare he has been here about 50 years and gave his correct age as 83.

Because of his advanced age and feeble condition Wong had of late received some assistance from local charitable organizations.
