

"APPLESAUCE" TO BE GIVEN

Broadway Success Adds Word to American Language.

"Applesauce," the stage-act, the fame of which has become a by word in American talk, will be the last night offering at this year's Chautauqua, July 20 to 25.

The play has become the most popular form of entertainment in the United States. A few years ago the Chautauquas began presenting some of the more notable successes and nothing in the history of the Chautauqua movement has proved as popular as the plays which have been given. One advantage that Chautauqua goes have in seeing their plays is that they know that nothing but plays which are free from objectionable features are given, and in addition they know that nothing but genuine successes are presented.

The securing of "Applesauce" is one of the outstanding achievements of the Ellison-White management. It is being given this year on the last night of Chautauqua with a professional cast led by Earl Scott and Marlon Gallagher Scott.

"Applesauce" is a story of a father and mother whose only daughter is undecided which of two suitors to marry. One of them cognizing that the British program, with rigid economy as its keynote, would be well received as good politics in European chancelleries, observers described it as a gesture which had now served its purpose.

In the event the British do insist upon the treaty revision, however, it was expected they would encounter the stern opposition of the Americans and Japanese. Ambassador Hugh Gibson, head of the American group, and the Japanese delegate have called the British proposal to their governments and negative answers from both capitals were forecast.

GENEVA, June 25.—(AP.)—The Japanese at the tri-partite naval conference tonight refused to discuss the mooted Japanese-American perpetual peace pact, further than to say that the reports on this subject were "greatly exaggerated and speculative."

To those familiar with official Japanese life, this means that the Japanese do not wish entirely to deny or affirm the reports, but desire that the idea of a pact sink into the minds of Americans, and to await the reaction of the American government and the American people.

ARMY TO ENTERTAIN

CORPS CADETS TO HOLD COUNCIL HERE WEDNESDAY

Local Salvation Army forces are planning to entertain about 100 young delegates who will attend the northwest sectional Corps cadets council to be held here next Wednesday. Major and Mrs. A. E. Baynton, the state commander, will be in charge, assisted by Ensign and Mrs. Eberhart, who are responsible for the young people's work in Oregon.

A corps cadet is a young person—between the ages of 13 and 18—taking special training which will fit them either for Salvation Army officership, or some other responsible position in the corps of which they are members.

It is for the benefit of this particular group that monthly councils have been instituted by the present state leaders. The first was held in Portland a month ago, but the Salem meet will outdo that in attendance, at least, by reason of the central location of this city to other Oregon corps. There will be delegations from Portland, St. Johns, Oregon City, Albany and Eugene, with three Portland corps represented.

Ensign and Mrs. Pitt, with the aid of their forces, plan to give the visitors a real Salem welcome as well as a good time, and the only regret is that the public can not be invited to sit in with these happy young folk on this occasion. Outside of the visiting delegates, only those holding offices in the local corps will be privileged to attend the council.

years that it is imperative this important measure should carry. "It is therefore the duty of every voter of Salem to go to the polls Tuesday and vote Yes on item 104, thereby insuring more adequate fire protection for the City of Salem."

lem, and the installation of a modern fire alarm system. "The city of Salem has grown to such an extent in the last few ditional fire equipment. "One of the principal functions of the municipal government is to protect the lives and property of the residents, the great menace is fire; this menace is ever present and it knows no choice of personal property.

"To provide this protection is one of the most important problems; it is therefore the duty of every voter to vote yes on the item No. 104, on the ballot, calling for a two mill levy to be used for improvements and extensions of the fire department to the rapidly growing sections in the northern, eastern and southern part of the city, and the installation of a modern fire alarm system.

"The entire city, covering approximately six square miles, is now being served from the central fire station.

"The territory covered by this house is getting too large for safety, and often leaves the main portion of the city unprotected when the apparatus is called to distant parts of the city, thus still further contributing to the fire danger by leaving a large portion of the high valued district of the city without adequate protection.

"The new fire stations and equipment, to be located in the unprotected area, and a modern fire alarm system is part of an important program on the part of the city administration, looking toward a still further reduction in fire insurance rates.

"Every voter will realize that any measure taken for fire protection is for the interests of all the citizens of Salem, and raises the standard of fire protection in all sections. For that reason I would urge you vote yes on this item, No. 104, for more adequate fire protection.

"HARRY HUTTON, Fire Chief."

NAVAL PARITY INSISTED UPON BY UNITED STATES

Great Britain on every class of ship.

Won't Concede Supremacy
The American government can see no reason why the British empire should have superiority on account of trade routes or possessions or any other reason, and it was emphasized that at the Washington arms conference the British delegation agreed to an equal ratio for all classes of ships.

Coupled with the insistence upon naval parity was a strong belief that Great Britain will not press much farther her proposal to scale down the maximum tonnage agreed upon for battleships, air-plane carriers and cruisers. Re-
