O Lord of hosts, blessed is the man that trusteth in Thee

A CITY CHARMING

Generally speaking, Salem residents are loyal boosters of their home town. However, it is a fact that many of us are not keeping in touch with the growth of our own Salem.

Perhaps the reason for this growth is best exemplified by the remark made last night by a California tourist, a visitor at the municipal auto camp:

"This is our second visit to Salem. There seems something about it that is appealing. We don't know how to express it—there is something solid and comfortable and homelike about the town. We have decided to locate here, if possible."

Here we have one of the reasons for Salem's steady growth. Perhaps it is the best explanation of the beautiful new homes constantly being added to our residence districts.

Hundreds of these tourists, not only from California but from every state in the Union, have come to Salem, "just to pess through." Other cities have tried flamboyant advertising methods—

But without trumpets and ballyhooing. Salem is attracting worthwhile citizens, home lovers with independent means who dispose of their other holdings and yield to the lure of the central Willamette-

And new industries and business enterprises follow this movement. Perhaps, in the past, we have not made aggressive efforts to acquire additions to the city's payrolls. Now however, an active Chamber of Commerce and the various good business clubs are working toward the end.

We live in Salem because we love our town and believe in it. It is encouraging that the charm exists not only for Salemites but for others.

WHO OWNS NICARAGUA?

(Portland Journal.)

Secretary Kellogg, who is conducting a small American war in Nicaragua, says Sandino is a bandit,

Perhaps he is. But even if so is it America's business to hunt own bandits in other countries? Haven't we a sufficient job on our ands to hunt down our own bandits? And before we start out to "pe out banditry, if it is banditry, in Nicaragua, should we not first prove our power as bandit smashers by nutting down some of the canditry in our own bailiwick?

Secretary Kellogg says that if our American marines and our American bombers in their bombing planes had not killed the 300 Nicaraguans, the Nicaraguans might have killed some of our marines a great deal of "grief" for all of and American bombers. Doubtless. But what if our American marines had not been in Nicavagua, armed, active and aggressively running affairs in Nicaragua?

Secretary Kellogg says he was invited by the Nicaraguans to keep the peace and require order in Nicaragua. What if he was? Is it America's business to promiscuously go into other countries with armed men and keep the peace and command order and kill those who refuse to keep the peace and fail to be orderly? If in Nicaragua, in an unfortunate predicament why not in China and why not, on the same principle, go over and quell the Austrian riots?

Having maintained the unlawfully elected Diaz as president in Nicaragua, and having interfered by armed force to save Diaz from being driven out by the victorious armies of the Nicaraguan rebels just how much farther is Secretary Kellogg going to take us in his armed enterprise in Nicaragua? Or to put it another way, how much farther is Secretary Kellogg going to permit Wall Street gentlemen with money loaned and investments made in Nicaragua, to lead us in this mad enterprise of bombing planes and fighting maries and dead Nicaraguans?

Meanwhile, is Nicaragua a free nation or American territory? Has the United States annexed Nicaragua, or was it done by Secretary

Also, if a bunch of Nicaraguan marines and bombing planes came into America to suppress alleged bandits or otherwise interfere in our internal affairs, what would the American people do to them?

There is a great deal of buncombe in the mass of matter in the American press of which the above from the Portland Journal of yesterday is a sample; mostly in the Democratic Mostly played up for political effect.

The United States assumed the role of the keeper of the peace of the Americas when President Monroe was in office: when the Monroe doctrine was adopted-

And in addition to this our country has acted in the capacity of a big brother of the weak throughout its history. When our battle ships drove the Barbary pirates from the Mediterranean, in the early part of the last century, for instance, When we went to the rescue of Cuba. When Roosevelt gave the order, "Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead" (hoping the spelling is correct); when Germany was warned by the same president to keep hands off of Brazil or fight the United

When, in fact, we went to the rescue of democracy in the World war and turned the tide of defeat in that titanic

This is not the only time we have had marines in Nicaragua. We have had them there repeatedly, for thirty years

And we do not claim to own Nicaragua.

But we do have an interest in preserving the peace there. We cannot look too closely into legal or illegal elections in that country. There have been few if any legal elections there. And it would be a good thing for Nicaragua; for a great majority of the people of that country, if our country would ake a deeper interest in internal affairs there, with a view to bringing order out of the chaos they have called govern- coming back for second and subment for more than a generation—other trimmings of a real republic under the sway of a majority sufficiently enlightened to understand the meaning of the rights of majorities.

As to the 300 dead Nicaraguans, that is a pity. But rather that many or more dead Nicaraguans attacking our boys there to preserve the peace than that many or more of our boys killed while in the discharge of their peaceful duties.

Are we to abandon the Monroe doctrine? Are we to back- 31: 1925, 56 and 20, and 1926. track and answer now in the negative the first written question of history, "Am I my brother's keeper?" Are we to declare a crime the victory of Dewey and the victory of district from outside districts Schley? Are we to play the craven in the face of our glorious record as a keeper of the peace of the Americas and of the Pacific, and of the world?

In short, having been divinely foreordained and prepared as a nation for world leadership and world leading in the lifting to higher planes of the whole human race, shall we now proclaim the doctrines of the little Americans and wrap our selfish cloaks around us in satisfied smugness and gain the contempt of all the rest of humanity, and lose our own national soul?

"Idle money is an evil. It causes idle men: idle men among those who have the idle money and idle men among those who have no money at all. The time is coming-in the moral sense it is already here—when a man will be held to have no rights in money or property that he is not operating for the general benefit."-Dearborn Independent, Henry Ford's newspaper. This is seasonable weather. We need warm weather in harvest time. And there are unusually bountiful harvests in nearly all crops over the entire state. The industries on the land ought to be prospering. Some are. All our idle and slacker acres can be made to bring good net returns, by greater diversification with the crops in which we excel or may excel, combined with live stock and the right kind of manufacturing and marketing.
