where barricades erected for protection against the mobs which have tried to take the foreign districts. Of course the financial condition of China has suffered greatly during all this internal strife, and no one knows when it will be over.

Java Prosperous

"In Manila we found much evidence of the desire for independence on the part of the Filipinos, but I think it will be some time yet before they are actually ready for it."

"Our next stop, in Java, brought us to a country which has less poverty than any other Oriental country visited. It is owned by the Dutch, and as far as we could see, is well administered."

Taj Mahal Visited

"From Singapore we went on to India, where we stopped at Calcutta and took the train across to Bombay, stopping at Benares and Agra. Benares is the location of the most beautiful building in the world, the Taj Mahal, and it is all and more than it has been described in books. We saw the pilgrims bathing in the Ganges by the thousands."

"While we saw no actual cases of starvation on our trip through India, we were told that conditions inland were much worse. The most primitive methods of cultivation are being used on the land, and probably the clumsy, laborious methods provide work for many who under our system would be replaced by machinery. Manufacturing has hardly a start there as yet."

"In Egypt we visited the sphinx and the pyramids. Poverty is rampant there, as in other Oriental countries. About a week was spent in the Holy Land, visiting the hills sides and cities, the rivers and lakes made holy by the presence nineteen hundred years ago of Jesus."

"A few hours spent in Athens, then on to Naples, where we left the ship and went on a land tour of Europe, spending two months among the countries there, visiting Italy, Germany, Holland, Belgium, Norway and Sweden. In June we attended the International Rotary convention in Ostend, Belgium, where we met Dr. Findley and Walter Jenks. Then a trip through England and Scotland, and back again to London, from where we headed for Southampton and home."

"Conditions in Europe as a result of the war are bad, but I think are being gradually brought back to normal. Germany seems to be working hard to pay her debts and settle her war obligations. France's trying, it seems, to find ways and means of escaping her debts, instead of working to pay them. And the old hatred still exists between the two countries. Italy has more soldiers, under Mussolini, than she ever has had before."
