Mr. Coolidge did not come to Rapid City today, it being his custom to spend Saturdays in the hills. This morning he went to Grace Coolidge creek for some fishing and spent the balance of the day talking with William V. Hodges, treasurer of the republican national committee.

Reports of the demonstrations in the east, believed to be in behalf of Sacco and Vanzetti, were relayed to the summer White House. While no alarm is felt here, the usual heavy guard which has been watching over the game lodge this summer was alert night. and day. The guard at the rear of the lodge was increased from one to three soldiers. There was no prospect that Mr. Coolidge would take any part in this case. He considers it a matter entirely out of his jurisdiction and it is doubtful that he has ever given the case any attention other than reading the newspaper accounts.

It deserves world wide circulation, coming from the tague Gottlieb, who yesterday in work's most successful man in the realm of manufacturing Hollywood shot her way out of the and asiness. The following is the article:

the very best charity we know anything about is to help a man to the place where he will never need charity. Nothing seems more useless than the trouble we take to lease the effects, when half the trouble would serve to destroy the cause.

We get up all sorts of entertainments and functions ture executive of the film city. to raise money to grant a little temporary benefit, and when we get through we haven't touched the real problem. Surely the futility of it all ought to be apparent.

It is not the charitable mind that one objects to, for Notice of Assessment for the Cost human sympathy is a great motive power, and no cool, calculating attitude will take the place of it. One can name very few of the great advances that were not due to human sympathy. It is in order to do something for people that very notable service is undertaken.

The trouble is that we have been using this great motive | ing of the said Council thereafter, force for too small ends. If human sympathy prompts us in the Council Chamber of the City to feed the hungry, why should it not give a much greater prompting toward making hunger impossible?

If we have sympathy enough for people to help them in their trouble, surely we ought to have feeling enough to help Street from the east line of 14th them out of their trouble. But in doing this we must look beyond the individual to the causes of his misery, not hesitating Marion County, Oregon. to relieve him in the meantime, of course, and not stopping with that.

It is a curious fact that more people can be got to help relieve poverty than to devote their energies to removing they have, to said assessment, and poverty altogether. Men in the position of leadership say, "What can we do?" Well, this is certain-whatever is done will have to be done by all of us together.

At present there is far less poverty in this country than ever before; our material life is on a much higher level than it has ever been. But comparing the present with what it ought to be, and what it could be, we cannot fail to see that much is yet to be done. How can we do it?

Our first duty we owe to ourselves. We must do our best where we are. We must be fair where we are. We must do honest work where we are. No one who throws down his tools is helping to abolish poverty. Whatever we do in the future we may be sure of this: We shall never be able to make any program go without work.

- Work is a good quality to be developed. Every man who City Hall of Salem, Oregon, proworks is helping to drive poverty out of the world-first ceed to assess upon and against after, in the Council Chamber of his own and then that of his fellow beings.

Every time a man stops work, he throws that much extra burden on others; he creates that much more fied to appear before the said poverty in the world.

It's not the men who are doing the talking who are they have, to said assessments, golving our problems, but the men who are at work.
