DEMPESEY RIPS OFF BIG ROAD MILEAGE

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey ripped off five miles of road work and went through gymnastum exercises equivalent to seven rounds of boxing in his first real workout as he settled down to the grind of training today for his world's championship match with Gene Tunney next month.

Bright sunshine flooded the Lincoln field racng plant, giving Dempsey an opportunity to hit the trail over the roads for the first time since his arrival in camp Monday. With Jerry Lusvardis, his little trainer, and Gus Wilson, another camp attendant, as his companions, Dempsey disappeared in the woodland east of the track shortly after 8 o'clock but angled back within an hour steaming with perspiration.

The former world's titleholder bundled himself in a couple of sweatshirts for the run in an attempt to shed some of the excess poundage to get himself in shape for the first whirl with the gloves next week.

He was in a playful mood on the road, an indication that he was happy finally to start work for what he regards as the most important battle of his career.

In the afternoon Dempsey pulled himself into his gymnasium togs and whaled away at the bags for four rounds, stepped through a round of shadow boxing, pulled from Stevens Point, Wis., around the ring for three minutes and wound up with a session of calisthenics.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—While waiting for the two heavy boys, Jack and Gene, to get under way for their "mint" julep, the sport bugs here are discussing the baseball situation just as pro and con as ever.

Joe McCarthy seems to be getting most of the pro. The White Sox fans feel as if Owner Charley Comiskey has been handing them the con—by his failure to let Ray Schalk run the White Sox, win, lose or drop into last place. They couldn't play much worse baseball than they have been of late.

Chicago scribes always have been lenient with Comiskey because he has long been "the Old Roman" of baseball. But the feeling now is that Commy ought to turn around and give the boys a baseball team. Fans are becoming somewhat weary of paying at the gate to talk about the good old days.

Schalk's admirers insist that his failure to hold the team to a winning pace is due partly to the fact that some of his star players are aware of the fact that he is but a figure-head, without the power needed to wield the whip. Players in question are prone to take advantage of this knowledge and play listless "eight hour" ball.

Watched the Sox here a couple of days and noticed this attitude. At least three of the regulars aren't playing the brand of baseball of which they are capable. One of them is an outfielder—with ambitions to move to New York. The other an infielder who has had managerial ambitions for some time—stuffed to date.

Schalk's lack of control over his team, due to whatever causes may be assigned, is responsible for the in-and-out pitching he has been getting. The general opinion is that the hurlers labor when they feel like it.

The unofficial watchdog duties of Secretary Harry Grabner have also come in for criticism by Chicago writers who are familiar with the inner workings of the club.

They blame his nightly first-hand reports to Owner Comiskey on the day's events as one of the possible reasons for the general demoralization.

It may be that Comiskey is planning on a change of management over the winter to give him a counter irritant against the Cubs next spring. He cannot hope to get away with such a move, however, unless he decides to make the next manager the real boss of the team, unhampered by other agencies.

Meanwhile McCarthy is giving the Cub fans a feast after years of fasting.

It will take some dainty looking pie at the Sox park to lure the fans back there.

And the coffee could be improved.

SHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Saw Chicago Cubs in one of their daily pennant battles here and that battle simply added to my belief—and the general one—that McCarthy has a great ball club—if not one that is set to win the pennant this year.

The game showed the Cubs to be a fighting, dangerous outfit. They were playing the Reds and won, 7 to 2. The final box score didn't indicate that it was much of a game. But there was much to discuss in the playing of it.

The Cubs showed their spirit, for instance, in the third. Rube Bressler, of the Reds, laid down a grounder to young English, shortstop. The young man messed it up and Bressler was safe. Then the Cubs made up for the blot by pulling a lightning double play on Walker's boulder.

George Kelly tried to start another rally by singling. A moment later he tried to throw this

Cub infield off its guard by stealing—and was caught.

In the fourth inning Hughie Critz, a fast man on the bases, drew a pass. Catcher Hargrave drove a long single to right. Cliff Heathcote fielded it and whipped it to a third in time to nail Critz. It was a long chance play and took a perfect throw. The point is that the bet wasn't overlooked.

Perhaps the game was made more interesting because none of the Cubs' tallies were made with roundhouse clouts. There wasn't a home run or triple executed. The Cubs poked out nine doubles, however, most of them being doubles by virtue of speedy work around the bases—hits that might have been held to singles with slovenly work by the runners.

The Cubs stole two bases incidentally.

The hurting of Percy Jones wasn't spectacular. He allowed the Redlegs nine hits. But he kept the hits scattered. The Cubs kept on Red Lucas' trail insistently and finally, in the seventh, drove him out in a rally that tied up the game.

McCarthy hasn't any ball players that are rated as "great." This partly because of the fact that none of them has had a real chance to show his stuff until this year. But he has a collection of good ball players who play together—for Joe McCarthy.

Which is the answer, probably.

PARIS—Lovers of old customs are to have an opportunity to ride in the ancient "diligence" or stage coach. An enterprising transportation concern is planning a series of excursion trips into the suburbs of Paris on Sundays, with everything, as in the days of Louis Philippe. Coachmen will be on the box and postillions will wear vast top-boots and gaily colored liveries.

TEST GIANT BOMBER

World's Third Largest Plane Makes Two Successful Trial Flights

BRISTOL, PA., AUG. 24.—(AP)—The Cyclops, Uncle Sam's biggest and most powerful airplane and said to be third largest in the world, was given its first test flights here today.

The giant bomber, built for the army, made two trips aloft. Remaining in the air 22 minutes the first time and 20 minutes the second.

Lieutenant Frank B. Tyndall of McCook field, Dayton, Ohio, piloted the dreadnaught. He took off after a run of 160 yards, which aviators said was exceptionally good for a heavy plane, and ascended to a height of about 3,000 feet. After circling the field a number of times, the pilot made what was termed a "perfect landing."

After additional tests here, the bomber will be flown to Wright field, Dayton, Ohio, for experimental work.

The Cyclops is a sister ship of the Curtiss Condor recently purchased by the army. It weighs nearly eight tons and has a wing spread of 86 feet. It will carry a military load of four tons, including one ton of bombs and six to ten machine guns, and was built for a crew of five.
