EDITORIALS OF THE PEOPLE

All correspondence for this department must be signed by the writer, must be written on one side of the paper only, and should not be longer than 150 words.

ONLY ANOTHER HORROR

Editor Statesman:
In Exodus 21 we read "Thou shalt give life for life, eye for eye," and in Matthew 5 we read: "It hath been said an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth, but I say unto you that ye resist not evil." Which of these commands should Christians of the present age obey? If the law of Moses, why not be consistent and obey all the laws of Moses? If the laws of Jesus are our guide, why not obey them? But we like to have both laws in use, for the merciful laws of Jesus are beautiful for ourselves, and the cruel laws of Moses are lovely for other sinners. Jesus did not revoke one command of the moral law which was written on tables of stone. But he did revoke many of the laws of Moses, which he tells us were given only on account of the hardness of their hearts.

If we like to see others "reap what they have sown," we should be willing to reap what we have sown ourselves or else be guilty of disgusting selfishness.

If the deaths of Willos and Kelley would bring any pure joy or solace to the hearts of those whom they have bereaved, I should probably desire their death. But I cannot believe that it would. I believe that it would only add another horror to what they have endured already.

If the death of these men were to help in diminishing crime in the future, I might wish them to die, but I do not believe anything of the kind. I believe that capital punishment only helps to familiarize people with crime and horror.

MOB IN FURY ASSAULTS CONSULATE IN FRANCE

Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers, will coxer the sides and windshields of the long line of automobiles in Sunday's funeral procession, it was learned tonight from members of the defense committee.

Protests against all associated with bringing about the execution of the two radicals will be of the same nature as those carried by pickets during the short lived protest meetings near the state house and on Boston Common before last Monday.

Thousands who did not see the bodies of the two men last night at the north end funeral chapel, and hundreds who came again to pay them honor, passed through lines of police and the four-man guard of honor to gaze at the flower-banked coffins in steady, orderly streams today. It was estimated that about 25,000 persons had visited the undertaking rooms.

Neither Miss Vanzetti nor Mrs. Sacco would view the bodies, defense committee members said.

Miss Mary Donovan, member of the defence committee arrested last night for displaying placards at the undertaking rooms, was charged in municipal court today with "advocating anarchy and inciting riot." Her request for continuance until Monday was granted by the court and her bail of $25 was renewed.

that on last Sunday labor agitators had gone to the Amparo mines from Guadalajara, forty miles to the east, in an attempt to incite Mexican workmen to take action against foreigners in the event of the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti. His report today made no direct reference to such propaganda, but said that the mining property was seized yesterday by "red syndicates."

Satterwhite reported that all foreigners had left the mine surroundings and taken refuge in Guadalajara except the 18 Americans and 11 British subjects at Amparo itself.

The state department revealed also that Satterwhite, accompanied by the British consul, had on last Sunday drawn the attention of the federal military commander at Guadalajara to the anti-foreign propaganda which was being spread at Guadalajara, and to the evil results which might derive from it.

RAIN BEGINS TO FALL

EUGENE, AUG. 26.—(AP)—

At 11:30 tonight rain began falling gently, the first since July 26. As the harvest of grain in this district is nearly completed the shower will be welcomed.

ELBERTA PEACHES FOR CANNING

Our early prediction that there would be few local peaches for canning has been verified. We still have a fine lot of Elbertas which we are selling at a price equal to what good local peaches would cost you could we get them. Elbertas are fine canners as they stay firm and are not stringy as some of the other varieties. While they last
