

LABOR WAR GROWS IN CHICAGO MOVIES

Half Million Fans Find Selves Deprived of Favorite Amusements

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Half a million movie fans in Chicago were without their favorite amusement today while theater owners kept their houses closed as a protest against demands of labor unions.

Vaudeville also was missing from the city's list of entertainments as all theaters with the variety bills were affected by the closing.

Starting as an objection by the Orpheum circuit management to the refusal of the motion picture operators union to reduce the staff of operators in a recently acquired theater, the controversy quickly involved 350 theaters showing pictures. The closing order was sent out yesterday.

Film Exchanges Join

Today the film exchanges joined in the issue, deciding to discontinue furnishing pictures to houses that decline to close their doors.

Members of the city exhibitors association today agreed to continue the lockout as long as necessary to win the fight. Jack Miller, manager of the association announced.

Several theaters, some outside the association, open last night, have decided to close, Miller said.

Express Resentment

"The exhibitors are tired of being dictated to by the unions and their officials," the manager asserted. He cited new contract demands of the musicians, whose agreement with the theater managers expires Sept. 5, as reasons for the "rebellion". These, Miller continued, ask a six day week with seven days pay and the introduction of four piece orchestras in theaters with 1,000 or fewer seats, working on a 52 week contract basis.

Contracts with stage hands end tomorrow and new ones ask a wage increase, Miller said. Negotiations with musicians and stage hands were begun today.

The exhibitors association estimated that 500,000 persons attend the moving picture and vaudeville houses here daily. Each day they are closed represents a loss of revenue of more than $250,000.

Officials of the operators' union threatened to urge walkouts in other cities where there are houses belonging to the chains operating in Chicago.

Other than Mrs. Thompson, those who turned sod and the dates when they became members of the Salem Presbyterian church were:

Joseph H. Albert, 1884; Thomas J. Albert, 1887; Mrs. A. L. Condit, 1891; Alice Chaldner, 1890; Maggie McFadden, 1889; Mrs. A. H. Wyatt, 1880; Edna Purdy, 1891; Clara Albert, 1891; Lillian Applegate, 1887; Mrs. Charles Park, 1890; Mrs. George J. Pearce, 1892; J. N. Scalfie, 1907; Dr. L. O. Altman, 1904; Mrs. Anna Junk, 1893; Mrs. Bertha Junk Darby, 1893; Mrs. George Shand, 1904.

Express Hope for Future

Dorothy Pearce, Mrs. Norman K. Tully, Dr. Tully and H. E. Barrett turned sods for groups of young people. Several children who also turned sods were Margaret Slegmund, Rosma Tully, Frances Alice Kells, Gertrude and Dorothy Berg, Donald Ewing and Dayton Robertson.

Several representative people made brief addresses. Mrs. Max O. Burns, president of the Ladies' Aid society, said the idea of the new church started in that society fifteen years ago, and that they had been working on it ever since, and that every member would work harder than ever before to see that the new church was used to the maximum.

Mrs. Estella Green Ford, president of the Women's Missionary society, spoke representing that organization, urging that the Salem Presbyterian church be known as a missionary church.

J. C. Thomson spoke representing the session of the church. Mr. Thomson spoke of the fine spirit of cooperation among the members and officers of the church, and the place of spiritual influence that the church has and should maintain in the community.

W. W. Moore was called upon to speak for the board of trustees. He responded that the trustees were pleased that the work was going forward, and would do everything possible to have it speedily completed. Mr. Moore said that Joseph H. Albert was the real spokesman for the trustees, whereupon Mr. Albert was called to the front.

Mr. Albert quoted a poem which suited the occasion as follows: "If we work upon marble it will perish, if we work upon wood it will burn, if we work upon lead it will melt, if we work upon iron it will rust, but if we work upon immortal souls and build them with the just fear of

SALLY'S SALLIES

My grouchy old uncle says that business is pretty bad, but he notices guests seem to be holding up

God and the love of their fellow men, we engrave upon those tablets something that will brighten for all eternity."

H. E. Barrett, superintendent of the Sunday school, spoke of the fine educational equipment to be provided in the new church, and the urgent need of religious education.

Lidia Childs spoke for the young people of the church and Childs referred to the fact that the church was so favorably located from the point of view of the young people, and that they would pledge their most hearty support to the church.

The song given by Miss Albert was written a few weeks ago by Mrs. Myra Albert Wiggins, a long time member of the church.

Doctor Tully closed the service by thanking the people for their loyalty and devotion to the church, and offered a prayer for the safety of the workmen on the building.

The next service in connection with the new church will be at the laying of the corner stone.

The shovel used by Mrs. Thompson and others will be kept as a trophy in the new church, to remind later generations of the occasion that took place last evening.

This morning Jas. Kappahn will start the excavation with his big power digger. The contractors, Transhall and Pareluis of Portland, started work last Monday.

COLORFUL CROWD TURNS OUT FOR DEATH INQUEST

with me to Portland."

Mrs. Jack W. Smith, who lives at 222 1/2 Crosby street, Portland, told of applying cold cloths to Werline's wounds as he lay on the porch, and of attempting to reassure Mrs. Werline who hovered near the body of her husband, weeping. Mrs. Priest was also near at the time.

Sheriff T. D. Hooker and Deputy Sheriff Brown identified the gun which was used by Priest and told of taking the man into custody and to the jail at Dallas.

Sheriff Hooker repeated the confession which Priest is said to have given.

An air of strained silence pervaded the small plush curtained chapel during the inquest, just before and after. Conversation was carried on in whispers. Even the questioning by the district attorney was low and difficult to overhear.

The testimony was taken down in shorthand by a young girl, hop picker who was drafted from among the witnesses for the purpose. She was out of practice and testimony of the excited hop workers was too fast for her, requiring frequent interruptions of "big pardon."

At first, an endeavor was made to take down the testimony directly by means of a typewriter operated by the coroner's assistant, but this method proved impracticable.

The inquest occupied almost 2 hours, but the jury returned its verdict in four minutes.

UNUSUAL ANIMALS SEEN AT CARNIVAL

Shows Appearing Here Under Sponsorship of Associated Charities

More strange looking animals than were ever gathered in one place before—250 freaks, all of them genuine—constitute one of the principal attractions at the W. B. Evans Combined Shows, now drawing large crowds at the high school athletic field, under the auspices of the Associated Charities of Salem.

The freaks range all the way from a Texas cow pony with eight feet on four legs to a cow with two heads, one of them rudimentary; or a steer with a bulldog face; a cow with its heart in its mouth, or at least in its neck; a four winged goose, a cat with 28 toes or a "Tom Thumb" ox, about two feet high. Not all of the 250 freaks are alive; some of them are stuffed and some mummified, but most of them are alive and are all real.

In addition to this freak show, there is a regular circus sideshow, one of the principal attractions of which is a human freak—Lababa, the two headed man. Then there is the athletic show, the Zoam snake show, the midnight frolic, an illusion show, and others.

Then there are the rides—the ferris wheel, a three deck merry-go-round, and some novelties including the "mix-up," the "Rocky Road to Dublin," and the baby chairplane.

This carnival is not only outstanding in its attractions, but its personnel is far above the average of attractions of its kind, so much so that the carnival is frequently sponsored by churches in the cities it visits. Its higher character is made possible through the fact that all of the shows are under one management. Instead of being concessions.

The carnival will remain in Salem until next Monday evening, with special attractions planned for Labor Day. It is under the management of H. W. Fowzer and W. J. Pickard.

colds, proper posture, breathing, care of the heart (medical aspects only), indigestion, eyesight, cancer and others.

Diseases Discussed
Dr. Irving M. Lupton presented a paper on "Sinus Infection in Childhood" before a crowded room filled with physicians and nurses at the Salem High School last night.

Dr. Lupton cited many cases of meningitis resulting from infections of the sinuses. He spoke of the rapidity of the involvement, with the possible attendant dangers.

Dr. Lupton declared in response to a question on the importance of swimming in sinus infection, that the infection is often already in the nose and throat, and is merely washed out into the sinus while swimming.

Clinical material through the use of the motion picture was extremely well presented by Dr. C. A. Downs, of Salem, in Tuesday evening's joint meeting of the physicians and nurses institutes at the high school building.

Cases of "pseudo hypertrophic muscular paralysis" were presented and discussed.

"Science has found no cure as yet for this malady of early youth," declared Dr. Downs. "There is apparently a congenital tendency towards degeneration."

Dr. Downs cited a case where the disease had appeared in three generations in one family, in each case being transmitted to the boys in the family through the maternal side. The disease, he declared, may begin to manifest itself in the child anywhere from one to eight years of age.

"It is essentially a muscle, not a nerve degeneration," said Dr. Downs, "and the mentality of the child is usually fairly normal. The chances for recovery are poor, no treatment of any value has been found. This hopelessness often makes the patient a victim of freak forms of treatment."

Dr. Downs described the typical case to have enlarged muscles of the calf and shoulders, which display a weakness when they are called into play in climbing, and arising from a squinting position.

"The most important function of the future physician," declared Dr. Fred L. Adair, professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the University of Minnesota, before the physicians' group Tuesday morning, "will be to prevent disease. The early detection of disease will come second in importance. Preventive medicine will be the all-important thing."

"Prenatal care which is simply one phase of preventive medicine is a necessity for the prospective mother concerned, for the community, and for the race. Without prenatal care, maternal deaths from infection, now causing a large share of maternal deaths, could be practically eliminated.

"Let the prospective mother

350 MOVIE HOUSES CLOSE IN CHICAGO

Lockout Follows Strike Order for Projection Machine Operators

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Chicago was virtually without movies today when upward of 350 theaters closed their doors as a result of a controversy between the exhibitors and moving picture machine operators.

The theater managers resorted to a lockout of projection machine operators after the operators union had ordered projection operators in Orpheum circuit vaudeville theaters to walk out following a controversy with the management of one of these theaters.

The lockout, affecting about 90 percent of Chicago's movie houses, left the second largest American city virtually without theater attractions of any sort as only a few legitimate stage attractions are being shown here at present. Vaudeville houses which also showed movies were closed along with the rest.

The trouble started when the Belmont theater, an Orpheum house which also shows movies, attempted to cut off two operators. The moving picture operators union ordered operators in all Orpheum circuit theaters to walk out in the afternoon and the exhibitors retaliated with a lockout of operators in all theaters belonging to the organization effective at 6 o'clock Monday night.

HOP FARM MAN SLAIN BY JEALOUS EMPLOYEE

lapsed into unconsciousness immediately after the shooting, but lived for about 35 minutes.

Priest was relieved of his gun and taken into custody by Deputy SHERIFF BROWN, WHO IS STATIONED AT THE HOP YARD, AND WHO WAS WITHIN 20 FEET OF THE CAR WHEN THE SHOT WAS FIRED. THE MAN WAS TAKEN IMMEDIATELY TO THE COUNTY JAIL AT DALLAS WHERE A SPECIAL GUARD WAS POSTED.

Just before being placed in a cell, Priest made a confession of the crime, Sheriff T. D. Hooker declared.

"Werline had alienated the affections of my wife," he was quoted as having said. "I tried to get a settlement. I asked for $500. Werline sneered and started to walk away. I wanted to fix him so he couldn't monkey with any other man's woman."

Deputy Sheriff Brown said that Priest had told him when the two were enroute to Dallas that he had not intended to kill Werline, merely to give him a shoulder wound, to show that he meant business.

Werline's body was taken to the Keeney chapel in Independence where it will be prepared for burial. Sheriff Hooker took Mrs. Priest to Corvallis, at her request. She registered there at the Gale hotel.

Priest and his wife came to Independence from Moab, Utah, about a week ago. Priest according to fellow workers who gathered at Independence for the inquest last night, said Werline immediately became attentive to Mrs. Priest and he decided to give up his employment and leave the district.

When he broached the subject to his wife, a violent quarrel resulted. He wanted to take her to Portland with him. She refused to go. He then said he would go to Portland himself and institute proceedings against Werline for damages. His wife is said to have declared that he could not sue Werline successfully.

Priest is said to have uttered a "goodbye Nellie," and gone out. He was not seen again until he drove up and accosted Werline. An inquest was hastily arranged for last night and following testimony from witnesses of the crime, the jury found that Werline had come to his death on his ranch at the hands of Priest.

Werline was well known

THROUGHOUT OREGON. HE WAS THE FATHER OF FOUR CHILDREN, MILDRED, 16, EMMA, 13, JOHN, 8, AND DONALD, 6. HE WAS BORN IN PLUMVILLE, OHIO, IN 1880, AND HAS BEEN A RESIDENT OF OREGON SINCE 1909, COMING TO INDEPENDENCE FROM OKLAHOMA. HE WAS A MEMBER OF THE MASONIC, I. O. O. F. LODGES, AND W. O. W. LODGE, AND THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

Little is known of Priest, the man refusing to give much about his life except that he is the father of three children by a former marriage. One son and one daughter live in Detroit, Mich., and another daughter lives in Kansas City, Mrs. Priest was also married once before. Priest is 58 years of age.

Werline is well thought of in the Independence district. He was, however, involved in an allegation of affection suit filed at Dallas two years ago in which Frank White, of Portland, a cook employed on the Werline ranch, charged his employer with improper conduct with his wife. White asked damages of $20,000.

Mrs. White admitted on the witness stand that she had twice registered at Portland hotels with Werline but the defense made a successful attack on the characters of White and his wife and the jury found for the defendant.

Priest's case will be considered by the grand jury which meets in October.

BRITISH PLANE STARTS FLIGHT ACROSS OCEAN

Vernon Brown were suspicious of the weather and warned Hamilton that they doubted he would be able to take off in such a wind with a heavy load of 4 1/2 tons of fuel.

The officers had also received a report that the fliers would have to face a headwind about ten miles an hour over the Atlantic. Hamilton and Minchin, however, continued their preparations and supplies for the trip were put aboard the plane. These consisted of emergency army rations for two days, strong coffee in a vacuum bottle and "sleep-averting" tablets.

Lockhart's mark was eight-tenths of a mile below the record for all cars of 136.3 miles an hour established by Leon Duray in trials for the June race of this year.

SILVERTON, Ore., Aug. 30.—(Special.)—Much comment is being made on the beauty of the Silverton school grounds. Silvertonians defy any school district in the state to present grounds which surpass their own in beauty. The Parent-Teachers association is responsible for the beauty of the grounds.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back its Beautiful Lustre At Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't say gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Weyka's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommended this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, the natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.
