orward Movement Payments Coming In Good But More Funds Needed

Encouraging response to letters recently sent out by the Willamette university administration asking payment on forward movement pledges is noted by President Carl Gregg Doney in letters of acknowledgment mailed yesterday. During the 5 years since the movement was inaugurated, Willamette has paid the last dollar of indebtedness; has built the gymnasium; has provided organized health service for students; has added teachers and increased some salaries; has doubled the budget allowance for library books; has augmented laboratory equipment; has steam-heated Eaton and Waller halls; and commenced to landscape the campus. All of these advances have benefitted the students, declares the president. Smaller classes and more teachers, better equipment, better teaching, higher standards HREE HURT IN ACCIDENT of scholarship, and stronger religious influences have resulted. In the five years Willamette graduated over four hundred students, each carrying to others the impress of the school.

None of these items has diminished the sum of the money paid in, since only the interest has been used for the betterments. Concern, however, is expressed at securing money enough to match all possible general education board offers. After all of the subscriptions are collected, there will still be need for over two hundred thousand dollars.

PORTLAND, SEPT. 6 .- (AP) -Members of the Methodist Episcopal church in Oregon will close their year's work this week, preparatory to attending the annual conference to open September 21 at the First Methodist Episcopal church in Salem. Every minister of every Methodist Episcopal church in the Portland, southern and eastern districts is expected to be present and participate in transacting business, it was said here tonight.

Assignment of ministers to their charges, announced always at the close of the conference, is the high point of interest in every annual session, one impending change may necessitate many moves to fill the place, and often ministers are brought from eastern conferences or those of neighboring states.

The executive committee of the conference, composed of the presiding bishop and the four district superintendents, make the assignments. ROME, SEPT. 6 .- (AP)-The departure of Old Glory today
