

The Oregon Statesman

SALEM, OREGON, FRIDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 9, 1927

There is no great advantage in being President of the United States. Mr. Coolidge takes fewer vacations than most bosses.—Toledo Blade.

Weather forecast: Fair, but fog near coast; moderate temperature; moderate northwest winds. Maximum temperature yesterday 68, minimum 42, river minus 1.1, atmosphere cloudy, wind northwest.

SEVENTY-SEVENTH YEAR

PRICE FIVE CENTS

HONEY DEMAND FAR EXCEEDING VISIBLE SUPPLY

Mead Company Has Orders for 100 Tons, Some for Export Shipment

VALLEY TO USE 50 TONS

Cooperative Concern's Bottling Plant at Brunk's Corners Swamped With Orders, Needs More Facilities.

The Mead Honey company could sell five different car load orders of honey; 20 tons to the car. This is the concern recently organized by H. M. Mead, leading beekeeper and honey dealer of the Salem district; organized along cooperative lines.

But this concern must provide about 50 tons of honey this year for the regular trade—the trade of the stores in Salem and Portland and the valley towns, mostly, and there is not enough honey in sight now to supply one full car, outside of the orders of the trade.

One For Export

One of the car load orders that is offered is for export, from a firm in Seattle. In fact, this firm would like to get large quantities of honey for export; could probably take many cars.

It is likely, however, that the Mead Honey company will handle the car load orders offered. But not with much honey from the stockholders, who will not be asked to meet the low prices at which the outsiders want to buy honey.

One reason why these stockholders are not able to furnish more honey this year is that some of them, though signing up for stock with the Mead concern, have made their sale arrangements for 1927, but will have the Mead company handle their supplies after this year.

Ample Bottling Facilities

The Mead company has a small bottling plant at the Mead apartments at Brunk's Corners, but this is swamped with orders for the trade now. However, the company has made arrangements with the Crimmon Rambler Food Products company, Portland, under

PORTLAND HAS AIRPLANE RACE

DATE DEFINITELY SET FOR 25TH OF THIS MONTH

Spokane-Columbia Gorge-Swan Island Derby to Follow Spokane Event

PORTLAND, Sept. 8.—(AP)—A definite determination to hold the Spokane-Columbia Gorge-Swan Island air derby following the termination of the New York-Spokane derby and the cross-country non-stop flight, on Sunday, September 25, was made here today, following the granting of permission to use the Portland terminus of the race.

Decision to throw Swan Island open to the derby was made by the board of directors of the port of Portland, thus removing the only serious obstacle in the path of the proposed derby. Plans for perfecting the details of the race were put under way immediately by the executive committee in charge. It was decided that $250 in prize money be posted immediately as an inducement to the fliers.

Ansel R. Clark, secretary of the air derby, left Portland tonight for Spokane where he will arrange details of that end of the race. He will stop in Pasco on his return trip to make arrangements for the refueling of the planes of 200 cubic inches piston displacement, of class B, which are unable to carry sufficient gasoline for the entire trip.

The racing planes in the derby will leave Spokane at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. The winning plane of class A should cover the 295 miles from Spokane in approximately three hours, arriving at Swan Island at 2 o'clock. Rough estimates place the number

FORESTERS FAIL TO FIND YOUTHS

AIR PATROL FLIES OVER THREE SISTERS AREA

Searching Parties Start on Expedition to Comb Territory For Boys

EUGENE, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Captain Chamberlain, forest patrol officer and M. E. Slack, state forest inspector, who flew over the Three Sisters area in an airplane today, reported that they saw no trace of Guy Ferrey and Henry Cramer, The Dalles youths who are believed to be lost in the mountains. The airplane flew over an area of 40 square miles.

Searching parties both from Sisters and McKenzie bridge have been made up and men combed the mountainous territory in the Sisters section all day today. Supplies were taken to Frog Camp, headquarters for the searchers and camp will be maintained there.

Temperatures in the mountains at the place where the men disappeared is very low and they would have little opportunity to live through it long. The area combed by the plane is sparsely timbered and trees did not obstruct the view of the ground.

Searchers on the ground made no progress during the day. It was said by Smith L. Taylor, forest ranger at McKenzie bridge.

The area where the boys are believed to be has been closed by the Cascade national forest to hunters to enable searchers to continue their work without fear of losing their lives in being mistaken for deer.

BEND, ORE., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Fear was growing tonight that the so-called "friendly" mountains of Oregon, the Three Sisters, have claimed two lives, Henry Cramer and Guy Ferrey of The Dalles, last seen Monday afternoon on the rough slopes of the North Sister, were still missing as night and another storm hid the trio of peaks.

A sheep man and two forest service employes have made their way into the isolated area where it was hoped the youths might have shelter in a sheep camp while the storm of snow beat over.

SHOW OPENING DELAYED

Employment of Curtain Raiser Causes Theater Walkout

In raising and lowering the curtain five or six times a day at the Elsinore theater a full time job? This question caused a brief delay in starting the afternoon shows at both the Elsinore and Oregon theaters Thursday when the projecting machine operators failed to go to work, informing the management five minutes before starting time that they had been notified by the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes and Moving Picture Operators that they could not continue.

Other operators were obtained and the shows started about 20 minutes late.

The question, Manager William Sullivan said, was as to whether a member of the union needs to be employed to raise and lower the curtain. This was not required in the contract between the union and the theater proprietors, as the house manager is in full charge and designates the number of employes; but the union has been seeking to place a union man at $35 a week for the momentous task above mentioned.

HAWLEY HAS BUSY TIME

Will Deliver Numerous Addresses in Coming Few Weeks

The month of September will be a busy one for Congressman W. C. Hawley, according to his itinerary just released.

The congressman will leave today for Eugene where he is scheduled to address the Teacher's association. From there he will go to Cottage Grove, speaking there Saturday.

Salem Rotarians will hear Mr. Hawley at their luncheon next Wednesday.

September 16 and 17, he will take a prominent part in the dedication of the Roosevelt highway and the Ben Jones bridge at Newport, returning to Salem to make a welcoming address for the Oregon Conference of the Methodist church, Tuesday, September 20.

The congressman will be at Astoria for two days, September 22, 23, and at St. Helens on September 24.

SOUTH DAKOTA VACATION ENDS FOR COOLIDGE

Elaborate Farewell Ceremonies Planned by Rapid City Residents

WHOLE TOWN TURNS OUT

Speech by Mayor Responded to by United States President; Chamber of Commerce Appreciative

RAPID CITY, S. D., Sept. 8.—(AP)—With a farewell that is planned to draw out nearly the whole of this gateway to the Black Hills, the people of Rapid City bid goodbye to President and Mrs. Coolidge tomorrow in a way that they hope will show their appreciation for bringing the summer White House here.

Whistles will blow and the fire bell will ring to tell the people the time has arrived for them to go to the high school building where Mr. Coolidge has had his private offices.

Business Stops

The stores and factories have been asked to close for three quarters of an hour so everyone can get in on the farewell.

Mayor Jepsen will make a speech and the president was expected to respond briefly.

As the time comes for the departure for Washington, Rapid City folk are counting over the events of the summer and what they have meant to them. John P. Green, secretary of the chamber of commerce put it into words

BRUNK MAY NOT RESIGN

Councilman May Return, no Vacancy Certain, Learned

The resignation of Byron Brunk as a member of the city council has not yet been received by Mayor Livesley and there is a possibility that he may return to Salem, it was said yesterday. No action in the election of a successor will be taken until definite word from Mr. Brunk is received.

C. E. Albin and George Thompson are being pushed by friends in the Hollywood district to fill the possible vacancy. Mr. Albin indicated last night that he might decline to be a candidate.

RESUME LIQUOR INVESTIGATION

INDICATIONS ARE ROY C. LYLE MAY BE REMOVED

Dry Administrator for Oregon, Washington and Alaska Under Fire

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(AP)—With return to Washington today of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general in charge of the prosecution of liquor cases, preparation was made at the treasury department for an early completion of investigation of prohibition conditions in the Pacific northwest.

Assistant Secretary Lowman arranged for himself and Prohibition Commissioner Doran to confer tomorrow with Mrs. Willebrandt to determine whether removal or resignation of Roy C. Lyle, administrator for Oregon, Washington and Alaska, would embarrass the government's efforts successfully to prosecute pending cases.

The prediction was continued by treasury officials that Lyle would not be continued as administrator, and Commissioner Doran denied sending any word to Pacific coast backers of Lyle that he would not be removed.

Secretary Mellon said the question of enforcement in the northwest and the status of Lyle had not been brought to his attention.

Mrs. Willebrandt said any severance of Lyle from the prohibition organization would not of necessity affect the trial of cases

SALEM WEDDING CENTER

Eight of 10 People Named in Permits From Out of City

Five marriage licenses were issued at the office of the county clerk here yesterday, 8 of the 10 people involved coming from outside the city to obtain the licenses. Mrs. Fannie Collier, 56, of Bend, came to this city to marry Rev. Christopher Johnson, 81, a retired minister. She is his second wife and he is her third husband.

A. Frich, 45, of Portland, married once before, took out a license to wed Miss E. Leona Staggs, 30, a stenographer of Portland.

H. B. Persing came from California to marry Miss Lillie May Stewart of 494 North 17th street, Salem.

A license was granted to Henry I. Turnbull, 60, of Portland, and Norma Lee Cunningham, 43, of Portland.

Two residents of the state of Washington were issued license to marry when the papers were made out for George I. Scheibe, 38, of Tacoma, and Clara L. Kellog, 42, of Longview.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE TO START

FUNDS TO BE SOUGHT FOR NEW BUILDING PLANNED

"Grand Kick-Off" Set For September 19; Willing Spirit Manifested

The grand "kick-off" in the drive for funds to construct the proposed Salvation Army building will be staged Monday, September 19, when all leaders meet in a banquet meeting at 6:30 p. m. This was announced yesterday by Norman A. Borgen, state financial director for the army.

Large advance gifts will be received by leaders in the drive starting September 12, following a special meeting at campaign headquarters in the Elks Club building, when plans are to be laid.

An executive committee to supervise the fund solicitation consisting of Dr. R. E. Lee Steiner, as chairman, George Vick, Paul B. Wallace, Fred Thiesen, John Farrar, George Arbuchle, Dr. Carl Gregg Doney, William McHugh-List, Jr., and E. T. Slade, has been appointed.

"The spirit of helpfulness already shown indicates that the drive will go over with a will," declared Mr. Borgen yesterday. He with Mrs. Borgen will assist local officials, during the canvass.

The campaign committee has set the goal at $24,219.91 which amount will include the present local resources of the Army. The exact location for the new structure has not been announced as yet owing to the fact that the negotiations are still pending.

The plans for the new home call for a Gothic type building constructed of red pressed brick with terra cotta trimming. It will be 50 by 90 feet, consisting of two stories and a basement. In the basement will be the gymnasium with every modern apparatus for athletic work. All of the facilities will be extended especially to the under-privileged boys and

SHOOTS TROOPERS DEAD

Twenty Three Year Old Farmer Uses Shotgun on Soldiers

BATAVIA, N. Y., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Two state troopers were shot dead today when they attempted to arrest W. Leroy Wagner on a charge of petty larceny. The troopers found Wagner, who is 23 years old, at his farm near Canastota. When they told him he was under arrest for defrauding a garage man of $628, he asked permission to go to his room to change his clothing. A few minutes later Trooper Rose received in the head the full charge of a shotgun fired from an upstairs window.

Trooper Rasmussen then darted up the stairs. Before he had gained the upper floor, he fell with a charge of shot in the side. Tonight 15 special deputy sheriffs and every available state trooper in the region searched the thickly wooded district around Canastota for Wagner.

WAYNE WHEELER BURIED

Last Rites Said for Prominent Leader of Prohibition Cause

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Final tribute to Wayne E. Wheeler as the "undefeated champion of prohibition" was paid today by hundreds of his friends and fellow workers. Amid floral offerings banked high around the altar of the Central Methodist church here funeral services were conducted by dignitaries of the church and officials of the Anti-Saloon League, for which he was counseled at his death.

Dr. W. A. Morgan, pastor of the First Congregational church at Chicago, was in charge of the ceremonies. Dr. Morgan was for seven years Mr. Wheeler's pastor in Washington, D. C.

1874 DIRECTORY OF CITY FOUND

STATESMAN AND WILLAMETTE U. ONLY SURVIVORS

Interesting Historical Data of Salem 53 Years Ago Included in Book

By Victor Carlsson. Interesting facts about Salem life 53 years ago when the population directory dated 1874 recently revealed in a copy of the Salem city directory dated 1874 recently discovered in the Willamette university library.

The directory contains, besides the alphabetical list of residents, a brief history of the city, a resume of its building and manufacturing projects, a history of the title to real estate, a copy of the city charter, and a complete list of city laws and ordinances.

Liquor house advertisements are freely scattered throughout the book. Willamette university, The Oregon Statesman, and The Morning Oregonian have full page displays, and are the only names in the book which are familiar in advertisements today. The Statesman is advertised as "Independent of rings and monopolies."

In spite of the numerous saloons, liquor drinking was subject to several restrictions. Sale of wines and liquors, on Sundays, for instance, was prohibited.

One of the ordinances provided as follows:

"Whenever twenty residents, householders residing within the City of Salem, shall present a petition duly signed by them, to the city recorder, showing that any person is in the habit of becoming grossly drunk, and has kept up the habit for a period of one month, the recorder shall declare such person a common drunkard. Thereafter, it shall not be lawful for any person to sell, give, or in any manner assist such drunkard to obtain any wine, spirituous or malt liquors," under penalty of $20 fine.

In the report from the city recorder 63 arrests are shown to have been made in the year 1873, as follows: 43 for being drunk and disorderly; two for fighting on the public streets; four for driving without license; one for burglary; two for drawing deadly

IGNORANCE IS NOT BLISS

Keq of Moonshine Falls to Sink When Thrown Into River

ASTORIA, Sept. 8.—(AP)—C. A. Prior's ignorance of the fact that a keg of moonshine won't sink led to considerable useless risks and exertion on the part of himself and officers last night.

Officers were watching a suspected "booze depot" on the waterfront here late last night when Prior and his wife drove up in the place in a small car, went in, came out with a 10 gallon keg and drove away.

The officers gave chase and led them a wild dash through the heart of Astoria, ending on a dock at the Columbia river's edge, where Mr. and Mrs. Prior hurled the keg into the river.

Officers recovered the keg. Prior paid a $250 fine today for illegal transportation of liquor.

COMMISSIONER RETURNS

H. H. Corey Addresses American Bar Association in East

H. H. Corey, member of the public service commission, returned Thursday here from Philadelphia, where he gave an address at the recent convention of the American Bar association. Enroute home Mr. Corey stopped off in Chicago where he attended the grain rate hearing held under the direction of the interstate commerce commission.

Mr. Corey said the weather was warm in the east, and that business conditions were reported as favorable.

FIND JAIL BIRDS FLOWN

Two Prisoners Take French Leave; Whereabouts Unknown

ASTORIA, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Marion Beck and J. McBride, two "trusties" at the county jail, eloped some time this afternoon while employed in carrying wood into the county court house here. The men are thought to have headed for the interior of the state.

Beck had served two months of a six month's sentence on a statutory charge and McBride was serving 60 days for driving an automobile while drunk.

DRAINAGE PLAN BEING SPEEDED SURVEYS FIRST

Contract for Thorough Study of Engineers Made Ready for Submittal

REPORT DUE ON MONDAY

Problem Too Large To Be Entered Into Hastily, Members of Sewer Committee Show; Must Go Carefully

Complying with a request from Mayor Livesley that a report be made ready for the special council meeting Monday, members of the sewer committee met last night in City Attorney William's office and finished drawing up an engineer's contract. Those present at the meeting were Mayor Livesley, Chairman E. B. Grabenhorst, B. E. Herrick, W. H. Dancy, and Williams.

Details of the contract were not made known. The paper first will be submitted to Cupper, Simpson & Cooper, local engineers, for their approval. Then it will be presented next Monday night for ratification by the city council.

Legal Question Delays. If the contract meets with the approval of all concerned, the engineers will be immediately employed to make necessary surveys and prepare plans and specifications for the new sewer and drainage system. This preliminary work will require about 60 days, it was said.

"There is more involved in this work than people realize," declared Grabenhorst following the meeting. "Engineers could not be employed to begin the surveys until funds were provided. Doubt as to legality of the bonds, not removed until last week, prevented final passage of the bond issuance ordinance through which funds will be obtained. When formalities are out of the way work will proceed just as rapidly as practicable."

Discussion Expected. The contract was almost ready for submission at the last council meeting, Mr. Grabenhorst said, but the full committee had not

HILL STARTS FOR ILLINOIS

22 YEAR OLD YOUTH ABANDONS EXTRADITION FIGHT

Fugitive Makes Decision to Face Trial for Murder of Own Mother

SEATTLE, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Harry H. Hill, 22, tonight started back to his home town of Streator, Ill., to stand trial as the murderer of his aged mother.

The young fugitive, who was arrested here last Saturday night after fleeing across the country in his automobile, left by train at 8 o'clock tonight in custody of three Illinois officers. His father, Dr. H. C. Hill, wealthy Streator physician was also aboard the train which is due in Chicago at 7:55 Sunday evening.

Seated in the train suite which he will occupy on the journey east, the youth once again reiterated his denials of any part in the slaying.

More so than any time since his arrest, Hill appeared in a practically cheerful frame of mind and was apparently unconcerned over the forthcoming trial for his life. Before boarding the train, the prisoner had been allowed to shave a week's beard and he looked even younger than his 22 years.

Elaborate plans to resist extradition were abandoned today when young Hill announced to the trio of Illinois officers that he was ready to return to Streator for trial.

Young Hill was as firm as ever in his denials that he is guilty of the crime of which he is accused. His father was equally positive in his expression of confidence in his son's innocence, and offered an explanation of the peculiar flight of the youth.

"I want to say at this time that
