JUNKING THE "JENNIES"!

NEW W. U. DEAN REACHES SALEM

YOUTH NO DIFFERENT THIS GENERATION, BELIEVES

Miss Olive M. Dahl, Graduate of Wesley College and North Dakota U.

"Boys and girls of today are just the same as my friends and I were a few years ago—no different, and I like them," declared Olive M. Dahl, new dean of women at Willamette university...

Miss Dahl, who will succeed Frances M. Richards in the deanship, was reticent as to her "politics."

"I came to an empty Lausanne hall, to empty university buildings. So far I have talked but scarcely anyone. I had better wait to speak until I understand conditions better."

As to "rules," Miss Dahl would only say, "It is interesting to study the evolution of rules. Some of those in the past have been so foolish."

Miss Dahl, who is a markedly pleasant young woman, graduated from Wesley college and University of North Dakota, both of which are located on the same campus at Grand Forks.

During the past year, she has

LEGAL LOOPHOLE FOUND

Technicality Results in Freeing Man From Slaying Charge

SAN JOSE, CAL., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Joseph C. Jean was on Thursday freed of the charge of murdering Albert R. Miller at Campbell, near here on the night of May 28, because Miller's wife of two weeks, the only witness of the slaying, was adjudged Jean's common-law wife and hence forbidden by law to testify against him.

According to Mrs. Miller's statement to officers after Miller's slaying, Jean, with whom she had lived for 12 years prior to her marriage to Miller, came to their Campbell home two weeks after the marriage and falling in his effort to persuade her to leave Miller to return to their Los Angeles home with him, pulled a revolver and shot Miller twice. He then attempted to kill her, Mrs. Miller said, but fled when she grappled with him.

LYLE RETAINED TEMPORARILY

DRY ENFORCEMENT OFFICIAL IS NOT DISCHARGED

Treasury Officers Insist New Man Will Be Placed in Position Soon

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—For the present, at least, Roy C. Lyle will continue as prohibition administrator for Washington, Oregon and Alaska.

Assistant Secretary Lowman of the treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement announced late today that Lyle would return to his post "awaiting the outcome of the regular civil service appointments."

Lyle was summoned to Washington two weeks ago to explain reported unsatisfactory conditions in his district.

Mrs. Willebrandt, it is understood declared that Lyle's removal or retention would not affect seriously the outcome of the pending Omstead conspiracy cases, in which he is a witness, if the evidence had been properly gathered.

In announcing that Lyle's status would be held more or less in abeyance, Lowman also made known that he had suspended Alfred M. Hubbard and Richard L. Fryant, prohibition agents under Lyle, from duty and pay for "irregularities in connection with the smuggling of liquor."

The origin of the message was not stated but Mr. Harvey at once had it broadcast through the government radio stations requesting all Canadian vessels in that vicinity to hasten to render every aid.

The text of the message as given by Mr. Harvey says:

"The airplane Old Glory reported...

KEPT CLOSE TAB ON PUBLIC FOLK

CITY CHARTER REQUIRED REORDER TO RECORD

Salem Had Four Wards in 1874; Patrolman's Duties Not Burdensome

By Victor D. Carlson

A half-century ago, Salem citizens did not resort to mass meetings in community clubs to jog up officials who were believed to be negligent of the people's interests.

Instead, they made the city recorder responsible for seeing that members of the council were present at every meeting and compelled him to keep an account "in a well bound book" of their activities.

Five days was the maximum period a city officer could remain out of town without losing his job, except by special permission of the common council.

The city at that time was divided into four wards. All that portion of the city north of Marion street constituted the first ward; all between Marion and Court streets, the second ward; all between Court and Ferry, the third ward; and all south of Ferry street, the fourth ward.

The city surveyor, city attorney, streets commissioner, and the two patrolmen were the only employees to receive a definite salary, all others including the marshal, the recorder, and the treasurer relying on fees or a percentage of moneys collected.

The city attorney received a salary of $100 per year, and the streets commissioner was paid $3 per day for time actually used in the city's service.

Patrolmen received $60 per month. Their duties consisted of "lighting and caring for the street lamps, and taking charge as watchmen of the city by night."

MORE SEARCHERS START

Mazamas, Crak Rats and Members of Advertising Club Go

PORTLAND, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Augmenting searching parties already hunting for Henry Cramer, 23, and Guy Ferry, 26, the Dalles youths lost on the Three Sisters since Monday were parties of Mazamas, Crak Rats and Portland Advertising club members today.

Four automobiles, carrying 14 Mazamas, left Portland tonight for Frog Camp on the west side of the North Sister, where the headquarters of the search have been established.

HOPE EBBS FAST FOR BOY HIKERS

LITTLE CHANCE HELD FOR YOUTHS OF THE DALLES

BEND, Ore., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Hope diminished here tonight that Guy Ferry and Henry Cramer, The Dalles youths, would be found alive on the snow swept slopes of the Three Sisters whose peaks they attempted to scale Monday.

A check of sheep camps near the base of the mountains completed at dusk tonight, eliminated what was held out as the last chance that the two youths might yet be alive.

Men already in the foothills pushing the quest, and those who were at Sister, tonight waiting for the first ray of dawn, were to be aided by another group numbering 35 and by noon tomorrow 50 will be engaged in the rescue attempt.

Only those experienced in mountain climbing and who are properly equipped for the arduous task were accepted. The hunt will be difficult now, it was explained, with rain and snow falling, visibility unusually low and underbrush soaked with moisture.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Sept. 8.—(AP)—The steamer Kyle, under charter to the New York Daily Mirror, has set out on a search for the Old Glory.

PLAN TO HALT CONTINUATION LONG FLIGHTS

Expressions of Sentiment Grow Stronger Than Ever Against Stunts

INDICATIONS MULTIPLIED

Certificate of Air Worthiness Denied Levine; Royal Windsor Called Back; Bremen Trip Opposed

SHANGHAI, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The round-the-world monoplane of Detroit arrived here from Hong Kong at 5:30 p. m. tonight, after a flight of 780 miles.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Old Glory and Sir John Carling, the most recent planes to try the Atlantic crossing, were definitely labeled "lost" today and their disappearance made a sharp break in public enthusiasm for long distance ocean flying.

Plain indications multiplied during the day that the public had had its fill of this type of adventure and public opinion was mirrored in numerous ways.

The navy recalled Lieutenant Lawrence Curtin from his leave of absence to fly with Rene Fonck and Fonck acknowledged that his flight would probably not be made this year without Curtin.

Windsor Recalled

The Canadian competitor in charge of the proposed flight of the Royal Windsor notified Phil Wood and Duke Schlicher to abandon the flight. A rising tide of public opinion against the flight was given as the reason for cancellation.

"Doc" Kinkade, Wright motor expert, left London to sail for America saying that he had refused to give Charles A. Levine a certificate of air worthiness and that a westward flight at this season "would be suicide to attempt." Levine and his pilot, however, insisted they would make the attempt if they got favorable weather.

In Germany, Captain Hermann Koehl, pilot of the Junkers plane Bremen, was fighting what seemed to be a losing battle with the strong tide of public opinion against making a trans-Atlantic flight.

Press Critical

London newspapers carried caustic comment on "fool flights" and opposition to further Atlantic attempts.

THIRTY MEN COMB MOUNTAIN REGION NEAR THREE SISTERS IN VAIN SEARCH
