do considerable preliminary work before then in the preparation of legislation.

$300,000,000 Cut

Despite the statement of Budget Director Lord after his recent visit with the president at Rapid City that big increases in 68 appropriations were faced next year, administration leaders have been looking forward to a total tax cut next session of at least $300,000,000 and they were encouraged by Mr. Coolidge's views as outlined today at the White House. A surplus of $800,000,000 was piled up by the treasury during the last fiscal year and although present predictions are that this will not be approached by more than half during this fiscal year there has been a feeling among administration leaders that a heavy tax cut could be made.

Fondness for Fruit Causes Children to Devour Letter

BEVERLY HILLS, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Because the Rogers family is very fond of peaches, Rogers, nose-twirling humorist will have to postpone becoming mayor of Yucaipa, Cal., until he learns how to spell it.

The Yucaipa residents sent Rogers a box of peaches with the fruit spelling the name of the town that wants Beverly Hills' former mayor. Rogers had a telegram of acceptance all written, when he discovered that his children had eaten several important letters of the name.

Now, he says he will have to wait until he finds Yucaipa on the map or until he gets another box of peaches.

Some of these presidential booms are going to have to go the way of the Florida boom.

SPECIAL CAMERA PRIZE IS ADDED

Gift to Be Made on the Record Set by Next Saturday, September 24

(The following live news of the contest, up to date, is furnished by the contest editor.)

HONOR ROLL

Highest Daily Cash Report

Maxwell White

Rodney Hardman

Kalman Vadney

Starting today, Sept. 17th, and ending Saturday, Sept. 24, we are going to give away to the boy or girl who turns in the most money on subscriptions between these dates, a splendid No. 2 Goodwin Snapit box camera. This camera is manufactured by the Anco Products Inc., and is a splendid camera for any boy or girl.

These next few days mean everything to you. Now is the time for new candidates to enter and win the special prize. This is an additional prize and does not interfere with the regular contest in any way. All the votes secured in this special period go toward the grand prizes, so, try to get as many subscriptions in on this offer as possible.

We are starting our honor roll today. This write-up will mean many subscriptions to you, as the public reading the paper will become interested in you, knowing that you are trying hard to win one of the valuable prizes. Now is the time for everyone to get busy for this special offer is one worth working for.

Remember, candidates, this camera is for the one who turns in the most money on subscriptions during this period. It is indeed puzzling to the contest editor why so little progress has been made by some of the boys and girls who have signified their desire to compete for so many fine prizes offered by The Statesman by bringing in their nomination blanks and accepting their receipt book.

Although the contest department has many nominations entered, but few have shown their desire to win by turning in subscriptions. The time to secure your votes is now while each subscription counts so many votes and while the field is not being worked by many contestants. The contest department would indeed appreciate it very much if those who have not reported and really intend to be active would signify their intention by reporting at contest headquarters at their first opportunity.

The names of those nominated are being published and it is to the interest of all those who intend being active to have as high a vote standing as possible. The higher your name is in the vote count the more your friends will help you. Let's get busy at once and show our friends that we mean business.

Surely there should be as many active contestants as there are prizes. Surely the prizes are big enough to interest any boy or girl in this field. Taking all things into consideration, there are several live wires in Salem who are missing the opportunity of a life time.

Just remember this one thing. All the prizes will be awarded, and the biggest offers of the entire contest are in effect during the first all important period. There will absolutely be no vote offer as large at any time during the life of the contest as in the beginning. How could any boy or girl spend his or her time more profitably than securing subscriptions to the Statesman among his friends, with a guarantee of at least 8 per cent on each dollar on subscriptions, and at the same time accumulate an enormous vote total toward those splendid prizes to be awarded in a few weeks time.

The Statesman contains the full length Associated Press news embracing both national and international news as well as local happenings.

It is only necessary to read one issue of this "up to the minute" newspaper to realize that its one aim and ambition is to serve the people in this section in the most able manner possible.

While it is true that The Statesman already has a large number of readers, nevertheless, it does not satisfy us, nor will we be satisfied until it reaches each and every home in this section, with a message of progressiveness and its stories of opportunities yet untouched and undeveloped.

Surely it is a duty each citizen owes his family and himself to keep abreast of news and tidings which The Statesman daily sends forth.

We can readily understand why the candidates might have difficulty in selling subscriptions to a less popular paper, but we cannot understand why any one would not consider it an honor and privilege to boost and sell subscriptions to a paper which is at all times ready and anxious to boost the community of which Salem is the hub.

Let's go, let's make this a real banner week and Saturday, September 24, a Red Letter Day.

The superiority of the soil is demonstrated in the fact that the oldest farms, those tilled the greatest number of years, are now the best grain lands in the state. Many of the oldest farms in this county have increased the average yield of grain every year of cultivation.

oar and pull for a while," as he puts it. Later he will give directions as to "the side of the stream to pull for."

The new dean sees in the Willamette law school great possibilities. With its impressive alumni, strategic location, and competent instructors, he hopes to build up a combination law and political science school which will be known widely.

Acquisition of a library for the law students will be the first step in his program. An endowment to make possible additional improvements probably will be attempted later.

Upper class registration will take place next Wednesday, instruction getting under way Thursday.
