

SIDE LIGHTS OF THE STAGE and SCREEN

Elsinore Theater
 "Positively the hit of the new season in vaudeville" is the show now playing at the Elsinore theater, is the opinion expressed by the untold hundreds who witnessed its performance at last night's opening at the popular playhouse. Fast, sweeping and colorful are these exceedingly clever acts headlined by Brock, Thompson followed by Rovo, the European novelty sensation; Eddie Bernard, and Lee the musical favorites, entertainer with pep and personality and the act beautiful with Lipton and Terrell, the performance that is hailed as "different." In addition to the big vaudeville entertainment the feature film attraction of Irene Rich in "Dearie" marks a complete and most entertaining program.

"The Rough Riders"—the most colorful romantic and red blooded drama of American activities in the days of the Spanish American war, with those stellar stars in the major roles, Wallace Beery, George Bancroft, Mary Astor, George Farrell and others is taking the box office of the Oregon theater daily to capacity.

"The Rough Riders" is proving one of the most popular drawing attractions that has been arranged for presentation in the popular playhouse for some time, and is receiving the praise of hundreds daily who witness its showing here.

Lovers of romance, action and the thrill of victory will find in "The Rough Riders" everything their hearts desire. There is no time like the present, and the management urges those contemplating seeing this most remarkable film, one of this year's greatest movie spectacles, to arrange their plans to see it now.

Fanchon and Marco's idea "The Seasons" will be the state presentation act at the Elsinore theater Sunday and Monday only in conjunction with the hilarious feature comedy film "No Control" starring Phyllis Haver and Harrison Ford—offering a combination program that is claimed to be positively unbeatable entertainment. For elaborateness, colorful and daring artistry, beauty and gorgeousness, it is said the "Seasons" is unusual and presents one of the most striking offerings ever seen in this part of the country.

The famous Berkoffs are featured, likewise Jean Winslow, Webber and the gorgeous and ravishingly beautiful Sunkist Girls. The large company of artists in their whirlwind extravaganza will prove unquestionably a theatrical feast for the theater-going public of Salem and surrounding territories. Together with the feature "No Control" which offers a genuine, entertaining unending with its sparkling humor and comical situations this week's combination program is expected to satisfy the most exacting theater-goer. The management has arranged this particular combination mindful of the idea of presenting the "best in entertainment" equal to that offered at any of the deluxe theaters anywhere. It's some show. Let's go.

Oregon Theater
 The acid test of a man's love for a girl is one of the two things—either his refusal to give her up under any conditions, or his willingness to sacrifice himself to insure her happiness if he is convinced she loves another.

The test of love is one of the big moments in "The Rough Riders" the epic film comedy at the Oregon theater starting Thursday.

In this superb Paramount production, Charles Farrell and Charles Emmett Mack are in love with Mary Astor. Farrell is a dashing New Yorker who attempts to sweep Mary off her feet by his ardor. Mack is the home-town lad who has loved her from childhood. They go into battle. Half way up San Juan Hill in the thrilling charge of Roosevelt's Rough Riders an amazing thing happens, something that is indefinitely sad and yet wonderful in revealing the nature of men. Mary is far away but the test of love is decided.

Victor Fleming directed this splendid Paramount picture which has in its featured cast Noah Beery and George Bancroft. Frank Hopper appears as Roosevelt.

Grand Theater
 Honest-to-goodness screen entertainment is what Tom Mix is supplying at the Grand theater in "The Great K & A Train Robbery" which was accorded an enthusiastic reception by the first local audience to see it last night. There's a real, thrilling story which shows the ever-popular Tom in the best role of his career. The scenic effects are gorgeous, the surrounding cast in excellent and the direction of Lew Seiler is all that could be desired. The picture is a Fox Films product.

Director Seiler started out with an excellent plot, which is based upon the novel by Paul Leicester Ford. But he didn't let one opportunity go by the boards. He grasped every situation and developed it to the utmost degree.

The star is cast as Tom Gordon, a noted detective who has been assigned to the tough job of rounding up a gang of desperadoes who have had great success in looting K & A Trains. Burton Holt, division superintendent, is really the brains of the gang and Tom soon finds this out. Meanwhile, he meets Madge Cullen, (Dorothy Dwan) the daughter of the president of the railroad. Madge mistakes Tom for a bandit, which does nothing but add to the detective's troubles. From the time of Tom's big encounter with the bandits to the end of the picture, "The Great K & A Train Robbery" travels at terrific speed.

YANKEES AGAIN BOUND FOR HOME IN AMERICA

 naires, the main item on the conversation at the luncheon being Clemenceau. The delegates who had the honor of accompanying General Pershing and the committee to the tiger's den related the conversation between Clemenceau and Pershing. They said that when the general had told Clemenceau he was younger than ever, the war premier had smiled, but rather disabusedly saying:
 "Yes, just 86 years young. How old is my friend Chauncey Depew?"

The Le Bourget flying show was the greatest that has been put on here in a long time. Fast pursuit planes, battle planes, heavy bombers and light scouts obscured the sky for nearly an hour. Speedy battle planes took off like athletes competing in the hop-step-and-jump fifty yards down the runway and then aloft; they looped the loop, corkscrewed, did the falling leaf, and tall spinned until the 20,000 spectators including 2,000 legionnaires were dizzy.

STEEVES GIVEN LARGEST VOTE FOR LAY DELEGATE

 the general conference. The candidates who get my vote will be those who can take the proper stand on this matter," he declared. Other View Voiced
 The speaker's remarks brought a retort from another layman, that "There has been no achievement without shedding of blood," and it looked as if the session would develop into a prolonged argument on the matter, when the chairman ruled that the speaking was out of order, and that the balloting should proceed.

 Dr. B. L. Steeves, president of the board of trustees at First church and Willamette university, received 81 out of a possible 99 votes cast. E. L. Wells, of Rose City park church, received 70; Ernest W. Peterson, Centenary Wilbur church, 67; and Dr. E. L. Gregg, Ashland, 51. The necessary number to elect was 50.
 Senator L. L. Mann, Pendleton; L. A. Umphrey, Cottage Grove, and R. A. Booth, Eugene, were named alternate delegates.

Complaining at the dominant position the Portland district has held in conference elections, and denying that "the Portland district had all the brains of the state," a group of eastern and southern Oregon delegates introduced a motion calling for election by districts, so that each would be represented. The motion failed by a slim margin. All districts were represented in the resulting election, except eastern Oregon.

Only one resolution was acted upon by the laymen. This was to the effect the Oregon ministers should be boosted for the larger Oregon pastorate, instead of transferring in mass from other sections of the country. It carried.

Officers for the layman association during the coming year were elected as follows: O. V. Badley, Portland Sunnyside church, president; Walter Winslow, Salem, vice-president Salem district; Clyde Umphrey, Cottage Grove, vice-president southern district; J. O. Gibson, Bend, vice-president eastern district; I. Waring, Portland, vice-president Portland district; Ernest W. Peterson, Portland, secretary; and C. W. DeGraff, Portland, treasurer.

Both morning and afternoon sessions were held by the laymen, also meeting in a joint session with the ministers at 11 o'clock.

DATA ON RAILROAD EXTENSION SOUGHT

Public Service Commissioner And Officials Leave to Inspect Route

Data to be used at a hearing called by the interstate commerce commission to consider the application for an east and west railroad through Oregon, will be gathered by Edward Ostrander, member of the public service commission, who left here Friday to inspect the route of the proposed new line and confer with various commercial organizations interested in the project.

Mr. Ostrander was accompanied on the trip by William P. Ellis and W. C. McCulloch, attorneys for the public service commission; L. P. Wiggins, statistician, and J. P. Newell, consulting engineer with headquarters in Portland. The petition for the proposed new railroad was filed with the interstate commerce commission several years ago, and much data in connection with the line was submitted at a previous hearing. The new railroad sought by the public service commission would extend from Crane's to Odell, where it would connect with the Natron Cutoff completed recently by the Southern Pacific company. Mr. Ostrander was to confer with members of the Bend chamber of commerce Thursday night.

VANCOUVER MILL DOUBLES CAPACITY

New $750,000 Unit Starts Today; the Sulphite Mill Is Also Doubled

There are a good many stockholders in Salem of the Columbia River Paper mill at Vancouver, Washington.

The new $750,000 unit of that mill starts operating today. The new equipment was ordered and shipped and erected all within a period of seven months, and no noise has been made about it, and it doubles the capacity of the Vancouver plant.

The sulphite mill there is also doubled, and the grinders for newsprint, too. The Salem papers and most of the other valley newspapers get most of their newsprint stock at that mill.

The new machinery will be used mostly in making light weight papers, like fruit wrappers, etc., but the big new paper machine installed and other stock as occasion may demand.

GERMAN PLANE DIVES TO EARTH, 6 KILLED

 than 150,000 miles for Lufthansa without an accident. The inability of aviation authorities to establish a definite cause of the accident gave rise to rumors that sabotage was responsible. Officials of Lufthansa said there was no foundation for this report.

Baron Killed Instantly
 It was established that the baron, pilot Charlett and three passengers were instantly killed. The mechanic died shortly after the crash. The passengers included Hans von Armin, son of Admiral Volkmar von Armin, who was in charge of the traffic division of Tempelhof airbase. He had been assigned by Lufthansa to accompany the baron. The others killed were Hans Osmer, pupil at the Staaken air pilots' school, Rudolf Roell, clerk at the main offices of the federal railways and mechanic, Seidel.

The baron, who was on holiday from his post at Washington, boarded the plane at Berlin this morning. He had been the guest of Herbert Gutmann, director of the Dresden bank during his stay in Berlin which was a round of social and business appointments hastily concluded to permit him to fly to Munich to meet the baroness and their only child, Edith.

Makes Easy Take-off
 The plane took the air without difficulty and flew to Schkeudnitz, which is the combined air-drome for Leipzig and Halle. Another successful takeoff was made and the plane headed southward.

EXHIBITORS AHEAD IN PREPARATIONS

Nothing more was known of it until a terse message telling of the crash and the ambassador's death was received.

The baroness learned of her husband's death when she arrived in Munich, where they had a rendezvous. Private advices from the foreign office at Berlin were handed her. She immediately retired to Hainhaused castle, near Munich, which is the country home of Baron von Hall, former counselor of the German embassy in Washington and now Prussian minister to Bavaria.

The debris offered a pitiful sight to those who rushed to the rescue. All the bodies were badly mutilated, the plane was demolished with the exception of one wing, which seemed to bear out the eye witness story of a wing crumpling and falling off as the plane plunged downward. The plane had been driven deep into the ground by the force of the impact.

Six Applications Received For Position at Roseburg

Election of a successor to George W. Riddle, commandant of the Oregon Soldiers' home at Roseburg, who has died, will not be considered by the state board of control before early next week, according to announcement made Thursday.

There are six applications for the position on file in the office of the secretary of state. These include F. M. Compton, of Sutherlin, Sam Starmer of Roseburg, Robert S. Huston, James Renshaw and Byron Sheffield, all of Portland, and Oscar J. Hull of Salem.

Electric Service Supplied To Curry County Group

The J. C. Leith company has filed with the public service commission here application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to give alternating electric service in the community of Gold Beach, Curry county. The company previously attempted to give this service without a certificate, with the result that the commission ordered it to desist pending a hearing.
