general conspiracy to distribute throughout the country Tunney-Dempsey and Dempsey-Sharkey fight films was seen by authorities here today following seizure of six reels of the championship W. U. ENROLLMENT 513 match as they were about to be taken out of the state by airplane.

United States attorneys declared they would look to the grand jury to handle the affair, Oscar R. Luhring, assistant attorney general, intimating he expected a number of indictments. Five of the six reels seized were released by Federal Judge James A. Wilkerson who ordered one film showing the entire fight, impounded. Henry Sonenshine, president of Goodart company of New York which took the pictures, was held to the grand jury on a nominal bond, charged with violation of the federal transportation act.

His attorneys argued the law was meant to keep films from beshine, when arrested, said he was about to take the pictures to clared that as far as he was concerned it was all right to send films there as long as they were not dropped off on the way in
