Travelogue is Feature of Social Meeting of Salem Woman's Club Saturday

An exceptionally large crowd of women were present on Saturday for the first social meeting of the Salem Woman's club for the season. At this time a program of special interest was presented. The business session was purposely brief in order to allow for a longer program and social hour. Mrs. George H. Alden, chairman of the applied education department of the club, announced that the club study classes would open on October 10. Mrs. Roy Keene will give a course in domestic art. Those interested are asked to enroll either with Mrs. Alden or Mrs. William F. Fargo. Miss Margaret Ryan and Miss Aileen Ryan, violin pupils of Miss Elizabeth Levy, who arranged the special music of the day, played "Herd Girl's Dream," by Labitzsk and "Minuet in G," by Beethoven.

The travelogue feature of the afternoon was given by Mrs. E. C. Cross who charmed her audience with details of her trip across India. Mrs. Cross made a special point of having seen the sunrise over great Mount Everest. This Mrs. Cross, told the club, was the high-light of her journey.

Mrs. William McGilchrist, Jr., and Mrs. Dan J. Fry, Sr., who have also completed recent world tours, loaned a beautiful collection of Indian brasses and Oriental rugs and embroideries for use in the club room. The exhibit was a delightful compliment to the travel talk given by Mrs. Cross. Mrs. Earle Dano was chairman of the social committee which invited the guests into the dining room for tea.

A gorgeous bouquet of fall flowers centered the table on which lighted yellow tapers gleamed. The tea service was in silver. Mrs. F. M. Erickson, club president, and Mrs. C. S. Hamilton, president of last year, presided at the urns.

Salem Man is Married On Saturday in Portland

Miss Elizabeth Donald, daughter of Mrs. R. L. Donald, and Mr. Ernest C. Webb, son of Mr. T. S. Webb of Salem, were married Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the bride's mother's home on Portland Heights. Dr. Harold L. Bowman read the service in front of a flower-banked fireplace and in the presence of a large group of guests.

The bride was in white satin and white tulle veil, and carried a cluster of flowers. She was attended by Miss Florence Griffith of Astoria, who wore rose georgette. Mr. Ezra Webb was the best man.

During the service Mr. Herman Bohlman sang. At the reception following Mrs. Orla B. Wight, Mrs. Wallace McCament, Mrs. James B. Kerr and Mrs. Frederick Strong poured.

Oregon P. T. Congress Will Be in La Grande

In accordance with the by-laws of the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers, the report of the nominating committee has been incorporated in the official convention call, with the name of Mrs. W. W. Gabriel offered for reelection. The honor comes in recognition of the constructive work she has done as president of the congress. The vice presidents have been selected to represent the various sections of the state, and, with the exception of the first vice president, they act as directors of departments. The district vice presidents, whose duties consist of organizing and furthering parent-teacher work in their districts, are nominated from their own districts.

The La Grande council is planning many features of entertainment for the delegates to the convention, which will be held there October 25-28.

The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents at 1505 A street, with Rev. William Hints, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Only relatives and the most intimate friends of the young couple were present.

A bank of hyacinths formed the altar at which the ceremony was said. Asters, gladioli, and gypsophila mingled in attractive baskets here and there.

Mrs. E. M. Harvey played a prelude of instrumental wedding music, after which Arthur Kirkham sang.

The bride was attended by Miss Dorothy Dunham of Albany as maid of honor, while the groom's attendant was Clarence Huntington.

The bride wore a lovely wedding gown of silk crepe combined with organza. She carried a shower of Ophelia roses and sweet peas.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Pulley were hosts at an eleven-cover wedding dinner honoring their daughter and son-in-law. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Harold Johnson (Catherine Pulley), Miss Dorothy Dunham, Clarence Huntington, Mrs. M. McGuire, Mrs. Nora A. Glenn, Miss Georgia Pulley, Miss Margaret Pulley.

Side-Lights on Atwater-Kent Audition Prove Large Amount of Interest Shown

The try-out of the singers who entered the contest in the local audition sponsored by the Atwater-Kent Radio foundation took place Saturday evening, September 24; and the interest manifested both by singers and the general public was far greater than was generally anticipated owing to the short time allowed all concerned in preparing for the event. Genevieve Howard and Edward Fisher were chosen to represent Salem.

The main auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. was filled to capacity with Salem's lovers of music. Fifteen vocalists entered the contest and appeared on the program, 11 women and four men.

Considering the short notice given the aspirants and the consequent lack of preparation on the part of all concerned, the result was gratifying. It showed that Salem had quite a number of singers who showed exceptional talent and possessed promising and pleasing voices that are sure to come to the front. While only two singers could be chosen at this time, other contestants gave every indication of possessing voices that with proper development and attention will attain future prominence.

Genevieve Howard and Edward

Fisher, the successful candidates both received their musical education in Salem and are in every sense of the meaning a Salem product. Mr. F. G. Deckebach, a member of the local committee presided over the contest entertainment and after addressing the audience relative to the audition contest and the objects to be attained proceeded to introduce each singer according to the program adopted for the evening's entertainment.

The contestants after drawing by lot, appeared on the program in the following order:

1. Jewell Gardner, "Oh for the Wings of a Swallow."
2. Kathleen Wrenn, "Ave Maria," Shubert.
3. John R. Forrest, "O Sole Mio."
4. Flora Fletcher Hedrick, "Villanelle, Del Acqua."
5. Ronald Craven, "Comfort Ye My People," Recitative: "Every Valley Shall Be Exalted" Aria, Messiah.
6. Arbutus Ruffe, "The Old Re-frain."
7. Fay Sparks, "The Winds in the South."
8. Eleanor Moore, "Contrast."
9. Nellis Morgan, "The Star," Rogers.
10. Tom Tattam, "Invictus."
11. Genevieve Howard, "One

Fine Day" Aria, Madame Butterfly.

12. Edward Fisher, "Vision Fugitive," Heroldate.
13. Naomi Phelps, "Come My Beloved," Handel.
14. Lillian Scott, "When Spring Comes Laughing."
15. Neva Cooley, "Holliday."
