

MACKIE ROUGHS UP SPARRING PARTNERS

What's the answer? Phil Bayes, local flistic idol, says it is that he will make it two straight over Mackie when they meet tomorrow night at the armory in the second boxing commission card of the fall season. Bayes even intimates that he will put Mackie to sleep long enough for the referee to count ten.

Ad Mackie, of Portland, emphasized what he termed to be the correct reply by discouraging three sparring partners who faced him at his gymnasium last Sunday. The three coming boppers took it on the chin so often that they were willing to concede Mackie meant business in his come-back with Bayes.

Manager Sax relayed to Mackie, Bayes' declaration that he would make the decision two in a row over Mackie. Mackie only gritted his teeth, and waded into his sparring opponents still harder.

The Portland boxer is anxious to appear on future Salem cards. He wants to meet Benny Peis here. Benny has indicated his willingness to meet Mackie if the price is right. That's one big incentive Mackie will have to endeavor to reverse the decision of two weeks ago. Should he lose to Bayes, his immediate chance at Peis would be lost.

If Mackie wins, it won't be the first time he has staged a comeback. Sometime ago Freddy Williams, a chipper little battler, gained a decision over Mackie in a six-round bout at the Milwaukee car barns. Mackie got peeved then, just as he is now. He asked for a return bout and got it. The re-match was arranged at the Portland armory. Mackie became suddenly an aggressive fighter. He waged right-through Williams, and the decision was reversed.

As to the knockout by Bayes, Mackie smiles. Danny News failed to do it. Belle Seaman, the New York fighter, failed to do it, after he had beaten Danny Kramer in the Portland featherweight tournament. And Mackie considers these boys tough, stacked up to Bayes.

Nothing but the most vicious fighting between the two men can be expected when they appear in the center of the ring together next Wednesday. The answer must be forthcoming, one way or the other.

For snappy preliminaries, the coming card will be hard to beat. Eddie Graham, Salem's coming bantamweight, will be pitted against Jack Plant, of Oregon City. The Oregon City fight fans support Jack with a vim, and a bunch of them will be at the armory Wednesday.

Against Kid Lange, of Oregon City, Matchmaker Plant has lined up Si Flook, of Mill City. In the semi-windup, Ted Fox will clash with Billy Leonard in a match which would be a credit as a main event, and Al Sharp and Earl Morrison, a Portland slugger, will box a four round special event.

PLAN HEALTH WORK

COUNTY ASSOCIATION TO BE REORGANIZED FRIDAY

The annual meeting of the Marion county public health association will be held Friday evening, October 14, at 7:30 in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. It was announced yesterday by Miss Wilma White, of the Oregon Tuberculosis association.

The health association has been inactive for two years since the coming of the Marion county child health demonstration, but at the suggestion of the executive committee of the county council, it will be reorganized with a view to becoming the permanent health organization in the county when the demonstration departs two years hence.

The nominating committee for new association officers will meet today at the home of Miss Elvora Thompson to discuss possibilities. The committee is composed of Robert Graetz, of Silverton, chairman; Mrs. E. E. Fisher, Salem; W. F. Norman, Woodburn; Mrs. W. W. Allen, Mill City; and Mrs. Paul Smith, of Silverton. Other guests at the luncheon will be Dr. Walter H. Brown, Wilma White, and Mrs. Gordon, of Mill City.

Mrs. J. A. Carson, of Salem, is the retiring president. Other retiring officers are Mrs. F. A. Elliott, treasurer, and Miss Elizabeth Putnam, secretary.

Yankee Stars Expected to Demand Big Salaries

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP)—After refunding approximately $170,000 to world's series ticket purchasers anticipating more than four games, the next financial worry for the New York Yankees seems likely to be its 1928 payroll.

Contracts for next season won't be sent out for some months but there is already the prospect that, as a result of the startling performances of most of its stars, the American league champions will be obliged to "raise the ante" for the coming campaign. The payroll of Colonel Jacob Ruppert's athletes already is the highest in baseball, estimated to be anywhere from $250,000 to $300,000 for the last season.

The highest salaried individual, the well known Mr. Ruth, already is under contract for next season as well as 1929 at an annual figure of $70,000. In view of the Babe's record-breaking home run streak during the regular season and his great work in the series, observers believe Colonel Ruppert made no mistake when he signed his ace to a three year agreement calling for $210,000. The Babe has asked for $100,000 for 1927 and subsequent developments indicated he was worth probably that much.

Wiley Moore, the Oklahoma farmer and master of the "sinker ball" already has had his salary doubled, it is said. Reports have it that Wiley, who signed for only $2500 this year, his first in the big leagues later mentioned the subject of a raise to Manager Miller Huggins. After the matter has been referred to Colonel Ruppert, Moore was advised he would get $5,000 for 1927. He now stands to get another boost for 1928.

Mark Koenig, Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri and Earle Combs, younger stars who all added lustre to their records this year, seem in line for salary increases, as well as mittie was held on Friday afternoon handed pitcher, who rivalled the veteran Herb Pennock, for series twisting honors.

BAPTIST PULPIT STILL UNFILLED AFTER MEET

later. That's what the church needs if it is to progress.

Promptly after his statement was completed, Rev. Payne moved that the meeting be adjourned. The motion was seconded, carried and passed, leaving the election of a pastor no farther along than it was.

Meet Again Thursday

The board of deacons met in a special session after the congregation meeting, but any action taken was not given out. A business meeting of the congregation was called, however, for Thursday evening, prayer meeting night, and it is possible that the election of a pastor will take place at that time.

Prominent among those mentioned is the name of Rev. Earl Smith, pastor of the Baptist church in Ontario, California.

The deacons indicated that Rev. Payne would not continue to supply the pastorate until the election was held, as he has done for the past two months.

Ever since the departure of Rev. E. H. Shanks, who went to a larger pastorate in Loveland, Colorado, the local pastorate has been without a regular pastor, Rev. Payne supplying at the request of the majority of the church members.

A certain faction in the church is said to have been opposed all along to Rev. Payne, and efforts have been made to thwart his election as regular pastor.

The deacons of the church were named as a committee to investigate possibilities and report to the congregation their recommendations. By a petition, initiated about a week ago, the congregation called a meeting last night to choose a pastor without awaiting the deacons' recommendation. The majority at the meeting were said to favor Payne, and were out to elect him, when he announced his withdrawal.

California Travels North Thursday to Meet Oregon

BERKELEY, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The University of California football squad is to leave for Portland, Ore., Thursday, Coach Nibs Price, announced today. The Bears are expected to arrive in Portland at 3 p. m. Friday and go directly from the train to Multnomah field for practice.

Thirty men are traveling north to meet the University of Oregon team Saturday afternoon. Price said he had not yet picked his players.

COLLEGE OF IDAHO NOW EYED ASKANCE

Northwest Conference Standings

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Whittman	1	0	1.000
College of Idaho	1	0	1.000
Willamette	0	0	.000
Puget Sound	0	0	.000
Linfield	0	1	.000
Pacific	1	1	.000

In the hills of Idaho are some coyotes who are going to give the Willamette Bearcats no end of trouble when the pack comes to Salem a week from Saturday.

The sly way in which they disposed of the Pacific Badgers—depicted as having one of the conference's strongest teams—last Saturday in Portland, indicate that the supposed weakened condition of the pick by the loss of Josh Lowell, the triple-threat halfback, who ran wild last year, is an unfounded supposition. Thirteen to 6 was the score.

Joe Kasberger, assistant coach at Willamette, scouted the game in Portland. He saw through the plays that Pacific didn't, and between now and the clash, a defense will be built up by the Bearcat squad, which may discourage some of the scoring attempts of the Coyotes.

Puget Sound, Willamette's opponent next Saturday in Tacoma, was ripped up by the Washington huskies, 40 to 0. This is a note of encouragement to local officials, as the showing was poorer than that made against Washington by the Bearcats. Too, the Loggers lost two weeks ago to the team from small St. Martin's college.

Linfield took the measure of Columbia university 19 to 0, in a one-sided struggle, and Whittman demonstrated its power by holding Gonzaga, a strong team seeking membership in the Pacific coast conference, to a single touchdown, the game ending 7 to 0.

The Wildcats will journey to Caldwell next Saturday to meet the Coyotes in a game which the Idaho college should win. Pacific stays at Forest Grove to mix with Albany college Friday, and Whittman will tackle its tough coast conference neighbor, University of Idaho, while the Loggers and Willamette meet in the most important conference game of the week.

BEDDING COMPANY PLANT COMPLETED

The Capitol City Bedding company, whose plant was destroyed three months ago by fire with a tremendous loss, is just about ready to open a brand new $30,000 plant, bigger and better than ever. In fact, it is claimed by the owners to be as modern a mattress factory as can be found on the Pacific coast. The new plant is located on the Pacific highway just outside the city limits.

This factory was established in 1919 by the same men who have rebuilt it now. Dona Paulin, the president of the company, came here from Spokane in that year where he had been superintendent of the Carman Manufacturing company, the biggest bedding factory on the coast. Associating himself with E. W. Muller, he started here. Mr. Muller at that time knew nothing about the mattress business, but in the next few years, under the direction of his partner, he mastered the details of the work and finds himself now equal to the best of them in this line of work.

At the present time the Capitol City Bedding company sells only as far south as Medford. Beginning January 1, the states of Washington and Montana will be added to their trade territory. In this state, the only one they have operated in thus far, they are said to be mighty hard competition for other factories, and as matter of fact, have more than their share of the business.

A big part of their business is the reweaving of used mattresses. People who, for instance, have an all wool mattress of high grade wool for which they have paid upwards of forty dollars, can have that mattress torn apart and completely made over for about eight dollars. A high grade wool mattress lasts indefinitely; in fact, it never wears out. The wool mats together and becomes hard, but the wool is there and just as good as ever. In the factory it is torn apart and the wool put through just exactly the same kind of a machine that it was at the time the mattress was first made. This renovated wool is then packed into a new covering and that is all there is to it. The customer has a brand new mattress, just identically the same as the day he bought it new.

"The big part of our business is the higher grade mattresses, as you might think," said Mr. Muller. "Our big demand is for the cheaper cotton product. Lumber camps use a lot of them, auto camps, rooming houses and places of all kinds that need beds. The silk floss mattress is the finest kind of a mattress to sleep on and costs much less than all wool, but it is short lived compared to the latter. Wool lasts almost forever."

This firm's new plant is being built in three units, one building 40x50, which includes the office and factory; two other rooms 30x40, one for a storage room for new mattresses and the other for raw wool and cotton. From five to six car loads of raw material is carried in stock at all times. The plant, when completed, will have a capacity of 60 mattresses a day, employing 11 people.

The new plant is of fire proof construction throughout. Winsler Bros. were the building contractors. Mr. Paulin is president of the corporation, Mrs. Muller is vice president and Mr. Muller is secretary-treasurer.

Prohibition can't last much longer. No one can think up any more good jokes about it.

"How I Solved My Shaving Problem"

"I had always used a safety razor. I'd insert a new blade—a good enough first shave, then each shave worse.

"The blade got duller and duller until in a fret I'd throw it away and insert a new one. A constant annoyance, an expense.

"I thought I'd go through life shaving this way. Ever dissatisfied. I was in a habit rut.

"Then fortune favored me. I fell heir to a new shaving delight.

"I get a 'first-shave' every day now—with a new-like, super-keen blade.

"For I own a Valet AutoStrop Razor. I sharpen the blade, I shave, I clean the razor, all without removing the blade."
