

REAL CRASHES FEW. REPORTS MULTITUDE

Wet Pavement Makes More Accidents Than Usual Over Week End

Sunday and Monday saw almost a steady stream of people making out accident reports at police headquarters. This is in compliance with a state law, no matter how slight the accident. Usually in fact over ninety per cent of these reports show nothing more than a broken fender or bent bumper. Still, this must be reported.

Sunday and Monday saw very slippery pavements, due to the steady drizzle that started in early Sunday and is still continuing. Under these conditions police always expect numerous accidents. Quite frequently, however, these accidents are the result of slow drivers. A local autoist said yesterday:

"If there was a fine for slow driving, as there is for excessive and reckless speed, we would be much better off. The fellow who mopes along the highway at 25 miles an hour is the biggest nuisance there is to contend with.

"If the highway were of sufficient width to enable the car behind to sweep past him and not endanger himself or the car coming from the other direction it would not matter.

"As it is, hours of time is wasted on a long trip by having to wait until a string of cars coming from the other direction have got by before it is safe to pass. Usually taking in all of the highway to himself, and holding up an artery of fast moving traffic from the rear. These people should be made to drive the regulation speed limit or get off the road."

Among those reporting minor collisions yesterday were: A. N. Kuensting, 420 Rural street; Earl Lane, 2190 Virginia street; J. J. Fath, 202 1/2 Jefferson; Ed. Hayes, 589 N. Capitol; John Roth, 1255 N. 16th; H. C. McDowell, 376 S. 12th; Jonathan Schindler, West Meyers; D. L. Pingie; H. J. Blossing, 871 Alameda street, Portland and A. L. Stephens, Portland.

VISITORS COLORFUL

COWBOY SKY PILOT, ROPE TWIRLER AND EX-BANDIT

A cowboy sky pilot, a champion rope twirler, and a converted one-time hardened criminal were colorful visitors in Salem during the past week.

They were E. O. Mickel, old-time Montana cowman, now a traveling religious worker; his son, Montie Mickel, and Frank Novak, prominent business man of Seattle, who, years ago, was a notorious bandit.

Montie Mickel gave demonstrations of his rope-twirling ability at the Sunday meetings of the Salvation Army corps. He twirled the hemp 40 different ways. His father preached the sermons.

All three men visited the state penitentiary Sunday afternoon and treated the inmates with a diversified program. Mr. Novak, recommended by Dr. Mark A. Matthews, pastor of Sattle's First Presbyterian church, as an outstanding moral leader, talked to the prisoners, and Montie twirled the rope again.

Novak is a native of Bohemia. He says his father shipped him to America because he was too bad to remain at home.

GIRL RESERVE PLAN SCENERY NOT 'SOLD'

CLUBS TO BE ORGANIZED IN JUNIOR HIGH

Plans are being formulated to organize, with the permission of the principals, Girl Reserve clubs in the junior high and grade schools of Salem, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Baker, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. These clubs are to be under the immediate supervision of Willamette students—two supervisors for each club.

A meeting of the advisory committee was held on Friday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. At this meeting Miss Baker outlined the nature of the advisory work. Those present were: Marian Michaelson, Evelyn Hartung, Bernice Culbertson, Esther Lisle, Loretta Varley, Lysle Scheidt, Minnie Shrode, Bernice Mulvey, Marvell Edwards, Esther Dieffenbach, Dorothy Taylor, Ruth Burch, Leah Fanning, Dorothy Estling and Dorothy Hutcheson.

The Girl Reserve movement is an organization within the Y. W. C. A. for younger girls, and is international in its aspect. The object of this movement, in direct accordance with the purpose of the Y. W. C. A. is to make a contribution to those elements in the life of a girl which set free the ideals and convictions that help her live as a Christian of her age. It endeavors to aid her to grow, thru normal activities into the habits, insights and ideals which will make her a responsible, eager, and capable woman.

Girl Reserves are grouped, usually, according to their ages and interests into "triangles." The duties of the triangle are performed through three committees, membership, social, and service. The teen-age girl is imaginative and easily appealed to by the symbolic. The Blue Triangle of the Girl Reserves should symbolize to every girl who wears it the highest type of service for God and country—the kind of service that requires not mere handiwork but the kindling enthusiasm and the determination to make good.

Sunday School Convention Planned for November 6

PRINGLE, Oct. 10.—(Special)—Mrs. S. E. Coburn arrived home Friday from her visit in Washington.

Mr. Muno and family accompanied by Grandpa Smith are driving to Los Angeles this week and expect to spend the winter there. Mr. Harding lost his horse last week.

The Red Hill program committee met at Fred Scott's Sunday and planned a program for the Sunday school convention to be held at Pringle November 6.

MOTOR ASSOCIATION DIRECTOR URGES PROGRAM

Tourists came to Salem and vicinity from California and the east three-fourths sold on attractions here, and citizens fail to make the job complete, Ray Conway, director of the Oregon state motor association, told members of the Salem Chamber of Commerce yesterday at the regular luncheon.

Every scenic spot, every important building has a story behind it declared Mr. Conway. This story should be told to make the scenery interesting as well as beautiful.

After a brief address, the room was darkened, and Mr. Conway showed motion pictures of Salem, Silverton Falls, and Mt. Hood. The film was one of 14 recently made of Oregon attractions, being shown all through the United States.

Only about five per cent of the people coming to Oregon with the intention of seeing, and possibly climbing Mount Hood, ever view its beauties, Conway said, because of citizenry laxity.

The mission of the highway association everywhere is to make traveling for the motorist convenient, comfortable, and economical. Oregon has a county road system, and a market road system second to none in the United States. Farming ranch homes everywhere are connected with highways which lead to the business and governmental centers.

The American automobile association maintains 2500 information offices in the United States for the aid of tourists. There are 15 offices in Oregon, including one in Salem and one in Portland. Phil Eiker, Salem director of the Oregon association introduced Mr. Conway. Mable Vance-Petters sang an ode to Mt. Hood written by Hal Hoss, secretary to the governor.

Dental Unit Activity Reported on At Meet

Activities of the Marion county dental unit for the month of September were reported at a meeting yesterday noon. School children numbering 128 have been given dental treatments, and several conferences have been held by the dental field unit officials. Addresses were made at the O. A. C. summer school session and to the home nursing class at Mill City on the care of teeth, by Dr. Estil Brunk, director of the unit.

Plans are under way for the establishment of a dental unit in Jackson county. A two months survey of the educational work in that county will be made immediately.

RADIOS NOW DRAW WORKERS' INTEREST

Candidates Eagerly Piling Up Votes; This Week Most Important

(By Radio Contest Editor)

The question now foremost in everybody's mind is—Who will be the big prize winner when the judges announce their official decisions on October 22nd. The question is—Will I have enough votes when the final count is made to put me over the line a winner of one of the big prizes.

The most determined efforts in the big race for the beautiful radios and bicycles that are soon to be awarded in the Oregon Statesman campaign have been launched.

Candidates are beginning to work as they never worked before. The spirit of determination is growing in aspirants of the big prizes and the votes are increasing in volume and are pouring into the contest department.

Enthusiasm of contestants has spread to their friends and acquaintances. In many of the sections of the city a great amount of neighborhood pride is being made to have one of the biggest prizes won by the favorite contestants of each community. Many candidates call at the contest department and express their determination to put forth their best efforts during the remaining two weeks of the contest. Letters from candidates in the different districts and their friends filled with the same sort of enthusiasm make one believe that the remainder of the race will be more spirited and exceedingly close.

The last vote period is now on. A bonus of 25,000 votes will be awarded for each club of $8.00 secured up to the close of the contest on October 22nd. This is the final period. Subscriptions will count as much now as any other time during the contest. The longer you delay in getting in full swing, the harder it will be for you to make a strong finish.

You are after votes, or you should be after votes if you expect to be one of the big prize winners. The Statesman's prizes are to be distributed to those who make the best showing from subscriptions in the vote column. This is a campaign of live-wires. The race at this period is truly a neck and neck affair, first one candidate beating and then another, and is attracting much attention all over the territory. It is interesting to see which of the several contenders prove themselves the most popular in the race, and the winners of the three radios and three bicycles.

Second payments on subscriptions taken early in the campaign are proving an important factor in the race now. Those contestants who are working on these are profiting the most. Think of having a prize worth up to $175.00 given for your efforts in this campaign. Think what it means to win any of these fine radios. And there are 20 prizes to be awarded to live-wire hustlers on the 22nd of October. Just a short time away.

As to which candidates will be named the winners among those as the race stands, all depends on who works the most during the short time that remains. Saturday, October 22nd is the last big opportunity to win. Now is the time to get your votes that will make you a winner.

Fleeing Revolutionists Seek Cuban Protection

NOGALES, Ariz., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Official advices to the Nogales Herald tonight stated that Candido Aguilar, son in law of former President Carranza, and John Barragan, prominent during the Carranza regime, had taken refuge in the Cuban embassy at Mexico City to escape arrest as revolutionists.

The advices added that a heavy guard of federal troops had been thrown around the Cuban embassy to prevent the escape of Aguilar and Barragan.

Further official telegrams tonight chronicled the execution of two more generals and a former senator charged with rebellion and predicted wholesale executions within the next few days throughout the republic to finally crush the revolt.

The three added to the fast growing list of victims of government firing squads were: General Porfirio Gonzales, shot yesterday at Monterey; General Carlos Villa Nueve, ex-governor of the state of Chiapas, shot today in Mexico City, and ex-Senator Enrique B. Mantel.

An official announcement from the attorney general at Mexico City said he had in his possession a long list of names of persons known to be implicated in the present outbreak and that these persons scattered throughout various states would be brought before the gun muzzles of the firing squads without delay.

Further advices from the capital said that Felix Palavicini newspaper publisher recently arrested, went on trial today before a civil tribunal there. It was intimated that the government believed it had absolute proof of his revolutionary activities and the death sentence was expected.

The known list of those executed during eight days of revolution shows 18 generals and 64 others.

Reports tonight from Mazatlan stated General Elvaro Obregon, whose re-election campaign is said by opponents of the government to have caused the present revolt had reached that city and expected to arrive at his home in Nogales, Sonora, on Wednesday or Thursday.

Junior Chamber to Hold Meeting Tomorrow Night
