ties with all the necessary information on train movements so that the soldier escort can always be provided.

These protective measures have been taken, it was announced because it was thought that many groups of bandits were attempting to take advantage of the recent revolutionary attempt.

Automobiles leaving Mexico City in any direction are being searched by the military police for arms and ammunition. This precaution is being taken several days ago of an automobile leaving the capital on an apparently innocent mission, but in reality containing a machine gun and ammunition, presumably intended for rebels.

Dean of Women at Normal School Entertains at Tea

OREGON NORMAL SCHOOL, Monmouth, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—Jessica Todd, dean of women at the Oregon Normal school at Monmouth, was a gracious hostess at a tea Saturday afternoon given for the attendance of the school. This is the fifteenth annual tea given by Miss Todd. The spacious reception hall and living rooms were beautifully decorated with cut flowers. During the afternoon Miss Todd received more than seven hundred students and many townspeople and faculty members.

Mrs. J. S. Landers, Miss Alabama Brenton, Miss Bertha Brainerd and Miss Laura Taylor poured, and several girls assisted Miss Todd in the receiving line. During the afternoon musical numbers were given by Mrs. J. S. Landers, Louise Woodruff, Grace Mitchell and Mrs. Sylvia Osborn.

Hollywood Theater The style show at the Hollywood theater was not big enough to hold the crowd that wanted to see it last night, and for that reason the demonstration of autumn styles will be repeated tonight, the management announced.

"March King" Accorded Great Ovation In Salem

By M. S. McSherry As the curtain ascended promptly at 8:15 last night for the opening of the hand concert in the Elsinore theatre, Lieutenant Commander John Phillip Sousa strode briskly to the director's platform as the thunderous applause of a house filled to capacity echoed and re-echoed from column to column of the spacious theatre.

The concert opened with the overture, "The Flying Dutchman" by Wagner. With wonderful technique this difficult selection was presented in a fascinating manner and at times the huge band seemed as one instrument as the magic tones literally rolled in pleasing harmony from this stage.

The cornet solo "Carnival of Venice" which was played by John Dolan, to the accompaniment of the band, was truly a masterpiece. At times the band seemed to be a great organ as its delightful tones blended in perfect harmony with those of the cornet.

The closing selection of the suite was "Mars and Venus" by Sousa. It was lively, fascinating and this wonderful selection was all the more pleasing, as the military airs lent the swing of the march. The playing of the drums from the small sound heard in the distance to the sonorous roll near by was an especial feature of this selection.

Miss Marjorie Moody delighted the huge audience with her pleasing solo, an aria from "Traviata." She responded with an encore which touched the hearts of the listeners. The band accompanied her in the singing. Softly and sweetly came the closing selection for the first part of the program as the strains of "Kandian Cantabile" by Aschallowsky played with artistic skill reached out and gripped the hearts and souls of the vast audience. As an encore the band responded with a spirited selection "U. S. Field Artillery," by Sousa. The swing and dash of this selection are characteristic of the military airs, which stir all peoples. A second encore was "The Mingling of the Wets and the Dries."

The second part of the program opened with the rendition of "The Feast of Spring" by Ambrose Thomas. Swiftly the band carried along the air into the end and gave to the piece the very feeling of spring. The saxophone has always been the center of many jokes and might be called almost the outlaw of the musical instruments, yet last night it came into its own the balance in an attempt to be the first of her sex to cross the Atlantic in an airplane.

Ruth Elder, 23-year-old Lakeland, Fla., aviatrix, was the woman. Dressed as if for a game of golf, she hopped off today with her pilot and townsman, George Haldemann in the Steiner-De-troitier, "American Girl."

The hop off was made at 10:04 p. m. Their destination is Le Bourget field, Paris, France, where Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh concluded his famous trans-oceanic flight.

The "American Girl" took the air gracefully after speeding down the runway for about 2,000 feet.

Waves from Window Miss Elder, also known as Mrs. Lyle Womack, waved goodbye to the few spectators from a cockpit window. She carried with her a tiny bible, given by her mother, a Chinese ring and a toy cat, all of which she considered of equal value in bringing good luck.

For rations on their 3600-mile air journey, Miss Elder and Haldemann carried each three turkey wiches, a flask of bouillon and three flasks of coffee. Caffein tablets were carried in case of drowsiness.

The plane carried 520 gallons of gasoline, 20 gallons of oil and a radio sending outfit capable of flashing messages about 75 miles. Their course was to be 1,400 miles due east, thence in a north-easterly direction, following the ship lanes to the English channel. The fuel supply was considered sufficient to carry them 4400 miles. The radio call is WPAG.

Anthony Euwer Addresses Oregon Normal Students

OREGON NORMAL SCHOOL, Monmouth, Oct. 11.—(Special.)—Anthony Euwer gave a lecture entitled "We Who Create" before the regular Monday student body assembly at the Oregon normal school at Monmouth. Mr. Euwer, the well known Portland artist, author and lecturer, is one of the most popular speakers on the normal school yeucum program. The lecture and readings he gave this morning were enthusiastically received by the students, many of whom had heard him before during his lecture engagements at the normal.

It would occur to a man up a tree that the League of Nations, if it decides to "consider" the Panama treaty will find itself a great deal like the fellow in the story who took in too much territory.

700 Miles Fog Ahead

Ahead of the fliers was some unfavorable weather. While most of their journey, according to weather forecasters, will be good, there is a stretch of fog, an area of about 700 miles, in mid-ocean. Some stormy weather also was to be met, Haldemann said.

In case of a forced landing at sea, each was equipped with a rubber life suit, with gear for carrying the head. A pocket in the front of each suit carried a breath condenser, to provide water to drink, and a sealed canister of emergency rations. They had no rubber life raft, Miss Elder considering the rafts without value.

Very lights, a very pistol and navigation flares also were carried. Part of the navigation equipment were three compasses, an earth inductor, a magnetic and an a-periodic. The usual charts were carried.

The markings on the plane were NX 1384 on each side of the radiator, the figures on the top of the right and the underside of the left wing. "American Girl, Wheeling, U. S. A." appears on both sides of the fuselage, and "Ruth Elder" under the window of the right side of the cockpit, where Miss Elder sat.

Smith Reaches Frisco SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—(AP).—Captain Charles Kingsford Smith arrived here shortly after 6 o'clock tonight in the trimotored P. O. K. K. K. monoplane Southern Cross, in which he hopped off at 10:12 this morning at Fort Lewis, near Tacoma, Wash. Smith and three associates expect to fly the plane to Australia.

The plane landed at Mills field and the fliers reported an uneventful trip south with ideal weather. The landing was effected after dark, and the facilities at San Francisco's municipal airport went high praise from the five persons aboard the plane.

Another Poised for Flight OLD ORCHARD, Maine, Oct. 11.—(AP).—Tessed and re-tested, carrying every pound expected of her on the trans-Atlantic hop to Copenhagen, the Sikorsky plane, "The Dawn," stood tonight on Old Orchard beach ready and poised for its flight.

Despite the earnest plea of Mrs. Relph O. Brewster, wife of the governor of Maine, in behalf of the women of her state that the flight be postponed until another season, Mrs. Francis Wilson Grason tonight said that she and her crew had thoroughly considered the hazards involved and were determined to go forward at the earliest possible opportunity.

Before its final (public) test, the amphibian plane had been christened by Mrs. Brewster in the presence of state officials with spring water bottled in this state from which the start is to be made.

Balks at Getting Wet Although she has not shown a tremor at the prospect of crossing the Atlantic, Mrs. Grason dropped back as the bottle was raised and said, half jokingly, "I am afraid of getting wet."

Before she smashed the bottle on the nose of the ship, Mrs. Brewster said: "Prayers of women everywhere will go for your success, if you shall decide that it is now wise for you to start. The hazard of the enterprise, however, and the question as to fruits lead me to express what I believe to be the earnest entreaty of Maine women that you may decide to wait."

Frenchmen Arrive Senegal PARIS, Oct. 11.—(AP).—Dionandone Costes and Lieutenant Joseph Le Brix safely completed their flight to Buenos Aires in the bi-plane Nungesser-Cappi this morning, landing on scheduled time at St. Louis, Senegal, on the west coast of Africa, at 11:10 a. m.

ZANDRA'S ANSWERS

Herewith are more of Zandra's answers to questions submitted to him in writing during his present engagement at Bligh's Capitol theater, where he will appear for two more days:

Y. W. Will I ever again win the love and admiration of my wife? Answer—You can. Your late experiences have taught you a lesson and with this knowledge there is not any reason why you can not be successful. Your wife tion that should be of interest to you. E. G. Would the acreage investment I am considering prove to be a good investment? Answer—Under the terms you have outlined this should prove to be a splendid investment. I consider it a safe one.

P. W. Have been working in a garage for years but do not seem to advance much, am I in the wrong line? Answer—You are in the wrong field and according to natural tendencies never were fitted for this type of work. You have selling, not mechanical ability. Change your field and you will make splendid progress.

G. F. Will my mother's health improve? Answer—Your mother's health will improve but owing to her age I do not believe she will remain with you over another year. There, however, is no indication of serious sickness of any kind—keep her mind happy.

R. Q. Will my husband ever return home to his family? Is he living? Answer—Your husband is living. I see him on water in the South at this time. He will be with you the first of the new year and you will be very happy as he has been successful on his journey to South America. "Elsie" should take up music.

Y. S. Is there any cure for my husband's ailment? Answer—He will find the solution to his trouble through a milk diet.

O. K. R. Where can I locate the missing jewelry and neck piece? Answer—The jewelry has been stolen and disposed of in Los Angeles in such a manner that you can not hope to recover it. The fur is still in your trunk that you left in the apartment for storage.

H. I. I. Do you think there will be any financial changes in the future or will I always have Answer—The partnership appears to be unwise and the other party is apparently trying to take advantage of you as his proposition does not seem mutual. You can handle this alone to much better advantage and would have no difficulty in borrowing the necessary funds, to make the enlargements you have in mind.

C. O. The letter that I received this morning seems to indicate that all is not as it should be domestically—is this right or wrong and if correct will you give me the name of the woman involved? Answer—There are grounds for this letter. I would not care to give the name of this woman through the columns of this paper not only for the reason that she is well known here but that it would not be displaying good judgment. If you will come to the special performance for "Ladies Only" Thursday P. M. at 2:30 I will give you additional information.
