

HE WAS PROMINENT IN SALEM'S GROWTH

J. P. Veatch, Whose Funeral Is Today, Long a Resident of City

James Pinckney Veatch died Tuesday morning, October 18, 1927, at 8:30 in Salem, aged 88 years. He was born in Burlington, Iowa, September 13, 1839. He received a good common school education and also had academic training and was educated for the ministry, affiliating with the Presbyterian church. For a time he preached in Iowa. He was married in the early '60's to Alcinda E. Lawrence. They crossed the plains with an immigrant party in 1863, and all the time thereafter, up to a few years ago, they lived in Salem. Mrs. Veatch preceded her husband to the great beyond, in Salem, several years ago.

Many Monuments Here
Mr. Veatch left many monuments in Salem. He was one of the pioneer concrete builders of this city. He built concrete walks in every part of the city, in the business and residence districts—walks that will stand for many long years.

After the death of his wife, several years ago, Mr. Veatch lived for a time in Cottage Grove. But he made many visits to Salem and kept up his friendships here. He was very proud of Salem and delighted in its growth and progress, in which he was privileged to take part.

Mr. Veatch belonged to a family that has had a large part in the political and other history of Oregon.

He was the father of Alfred W. Veatch of Salem, John W. Veatch of Boise, Idaho, who is the manager of the Capital News of that city, Mrs. G. W. Owens of Portland, Mrs. H. F. Wynne of Cottage Grove, Mrs. Annie Page of Portland, Mrs. W. B. Tibbals of San Francisco, and Mrs. Frank Timmerman of Portland.

The funeral will be held at 1:30 today at Rigdon's mortuary parlors.

FACTORY HERE, DRIED MILK FIELD SUCCESS

takes a low temperature. The one here in the Salem factory requires a temperature of 300 degrees for drying.

The Salem factory turns out 250 pounds an hour of the dried product.

It is High Class
It is a high class article. It goes mostly to the big milling companies for mixing with cereals for chick feed, and to bakeries, chocolate factories and cosmetic concerns. There are about 100 commercial uses for dried milk.

D. A. White & Sons and the Cherry City Milling company, Salem, use some of it.

The man in charge of the Salem factory is W. R. Patterson, who has been in the employ of the Marion Creamery company for nine years.

That a high class product is turned out is attested by the buyers for a number of large concerns. They like it because it is pure and clean and perfectly white; does not have a burnt appearance like the output of some dried milk factories.

Since the Salem factory went into operation, several most outfits of machinery of the kind have been shipped to this coast. There are already several factories on this coast using the atmospheric process, and they are increasing in number. Though dried and powdered milk is a comparative new article of manufacture, it is becoming one of great volume all over the country; all over the world.

The Marion Creamery
The Marion Creamery & Produce company, more generally known simply as the Marion creamery, is one of Salem's institutions. It brings cream checks and brings business to this city from a district running out from Salem 20 miles or more in every direction. It has a direct payroll of more people and operates 12 Crater Lake pictures, views distribution of dairy products.

This is the concern established, owned, and operated by F. G. Deckebach. Associated with him are his sons, Fred C. and Frank Deckebach.

of the milk saves a large amount on freight charges.

Cheese Factory, Too
The Marion Creamery people bought in January, 1924, the cheese plant at Amity. This is one of the best equipped and largest cheese factories of this section. The product goes out under the brand "Marion Cheese." Its quality makes a proper running mate for the high quality of "Marion Butter." Both cheese and butter are sold all over the coast.

Dairy men and farmers generally in the Salem district are realizing that the cow is the best thing on the farm—the most important in the dairy—because it provides the thin cream check, giving direct profit, but also in maintaining the fertility of the soil, and in gathering swine breeding and poultry raising.

Pays Top Prices
The Marion creamery always pays the top market prices for butterfat, and it is sending out in every direction cream and milk. They are anxious to secure new customers, supplying both milk and cream, and encourage already have.

Increased production of those things is the aim. The Marion Creamery is complete for carrying on their manufacturing and shipping and it is capable of handling increasing volume of business.

MANY ACTIVITIES AT S.N.S. FRIDAY

Senior Class Starts Novel Trousers, Initiation, Game Schedule

Friday will be a big day at Salem high school.

A nine o'clock student assembly is slated in the morning, at which time a number of things are due to happen.

The senior boys and girls are going to present stunts.

The snappy dramatic society will exhibit 22 sketches in every form of ridiculous attire.

They are Gerald Simpson, David Eyre, George Beecher, Aulden Reeder, Robert Boales, Alvin Bowes, Herbert Hobson, Roy Maden, Charles Cloggett, Victor Wolfe,

Dr. Dublin concluded, however, that prohibition has had a favorable effect upon about one-half of the population. He said the death rate for adult men in such diseases as heart disease, kidney trouble and pneumonia were also on an increase but that it was impossible to tell what degree indulgence in alcohol would explain these increases.

negotiations with Sinclair for its lease.

Gag Used, Claim
Moreover, Finney said Fall had imposed silence upon his associates concerning the lease which lay on his desk for days while senators and others vainly sought information as to whether a lease had been executed or whether there was intention to execute one.

Relying frequently upon documentary evidence, which Finney identified, the government showed that in leasing Teapot Dome to Sinclair, without public notice and competitive bidding, Fall departed from a practice obtaining both as to wells leased in the naval oil reserves in California and the public lands in the Salt Creek field of Wyoming, adjacent to Teapot Dome.

Interruptions Many
Throughout Finney's examination, there were frequent exchanges between Roberts and George F. Hoover, chief counsel for Sinclair. Roberts conceded at one point that he was "peevish" with Hoover because of his frequent interjections, but the government lawyer showed unusual cordiality toward Littleton, Sinclair's chief lawyer.

Finney's examination had really only gotten under way when court adjourned for the day and he will be recalled tomorrow for questioning especially as to the danger of drainage of Teapot Dome, a danger which Fall contended influenced him to make the lease. He will be subjected to long cross-examination.

In concluding his two and a half hours address to the jury Littleton indicated that the government would show that the policy of secrecy about Teapot Dome of

A pep rally with new features will stimulate spirit for the first Willamette valley competition football game against Albany high school in the afternoon.

Efforts are being made to secure dismissal of classes for the afternoon so students may attend the game. No special train will be chartered.

The big feature of the morning assembly will be the appearance for the first time of the senior boys' new distinctive attire. The corduroys, long a tradition at the high school, will go by the boards, for haberdashery which rumor has it, will astonish the city.

Efforts will be made at the assembly to sell tickets for the excursion to Corvallis November 5, when the football boys play the high school there.

Minute men, one from each first period class, in charge of selling student body membership tickets will be introduced.

Figures Presented
Sinclair's lease called for royalties on extracted oil ranging from 12 1-2 per cent to 50 per cent whereas the evidence was that the royalties fixed by the government on the Salt Creek field lands was from 25 per cent to 33 1-3 per cent plus a cash bonus of the leases themselves.

One bit of evidence presented by the government was what associate Justice Zutler recently described in the supreme court decision returning Teapot Dome to the government as the "exultant" letter of Fall to Edward L. Debeny that the interior secretary had obtained complete control of the naval reserves and would handle them without consulting naval officials except possibly on questions of policy.

In concluding his two and a half hours address to the jury Littleton indicated that the government would show that the policy of secrecy about Teapot Dome of initiated with Theodore Roosevelt Jr., as assistant secretary of the navy; that the policy of exchanging royalty crude for fuel oil and tank storage originated with Robinson and that the possession and sale of oil by the Continental Trading company, Ltd., originated with H. M. Ritchimer, a consulting government witness.

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indications that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In the proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Mt. Vernon, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.
