

SPIDELIGHTS OF THE STAGE AND SCREEN

Elsinore Theater
 "Another striking opening performance, which will perhaps even eclipse last Sunday's brilliant West Coast opening of the Elsinore theater, is scheduled for the Elsinore attraction starting tomorrow.

Gloria Swanson—glorious Gloria—will be seen in what promises to be her greatest starring picture, "The Love of Sunya," which opens at the Elsinore theater tomorrow in conjunction with the elaborate, lavish Fanchon & Marco stage presentation, "Parisian," (Paris studio models) and smiling Jimmie Davis and the West Coast-Elsinore orchestra.

Tomorrow's performance at the Elsinore is guaranteed by the West Coast theater management, wholly in keeping with the new policy of Oregon's greatest entertainment, and unhesitatingly state that it will be one of the finest ever seen in this city. Fanchon & Marco's "Parisian" idea is most colorful, interesting, and entertaining, featuring a company of twenty odd people, including lists of rare ability, of the "big" calibre, while the Elsinore orchestra, with smiling Jimmie Davis, will play its important part in the presentation, and offer all those who will witness the performance a musical treat.

The feature picture, "The Love of Sunya," has been acclaimed and applauded all over the country, and serves as Gloria's first United Artists picture. It also introduces the Bowles, Miss Swanson's new leading man, who over night has become one of the idols of motion picture fans, especially those numbered among the fair sex. Remember—it's the Elsinore.

A special kiddies matinee will be one of the featured attractions very Saturday afternoon regularly at the Elsinore theater, special effort and programs being arranged for the children's entertainment, the nature of which has been afforded in Salem before. The management of the Elsinore theater lays particular stress on these special children's matinees, as they will afford the kiddies a full afternoon's entertainment, both educational and joyous. The program will consist of a vaudeville, (this week's feature, "Lost at the Front," with Charlie Murray and George Sidney), the orchestra presentation, and the specially selected pictures, to be followed by what will be known as the children's hour, where the theatre entertainment, music, stage, and all things necessary for the happy entertainment of the children will be arranged for them especially.

These plans which are now being prepared for the first kiddies matinee, which will be today, October 22nd, will be the first of its kind ever presented in the city of Salem, and will necessarily have succeeding picture he brings new thrills to the screen.

 In "30 Below Zero," his latest Fox film, he abandons the horse and the good, solid earth for the thrills of the air when he embarks on a mammoth airplane headed for Arctic regions. For Buck has remained a stunt man even though he has soared to the heights of stardom.
 He has always loved adventure though his bashful, diffident, slow-moving manner and drawing speech would fool anyone. Before entering motion pictures he was a daredevil rider and a cowboy with an uncanny skill for making a rope behave in strange and educated ways, in the "101 Ranch" show.

In many of his photoplays he has not only duplicated the daring feats on horseback he learned in the wild west show, but with his two horses, "Silver Buck" and "White Eagle," he has performed stunts that would put any circus thrills to shame.
 In Hollywood, at the invitation of one of his cowboy friends, he went to the studio to just look around, but he remained to work. He started by doubling for many prominent stars doing stunts which required considerable risk and steady nerves.

But his looks and his personality could not be ignored for long, so Buck was signed as an actor. He started doing stunts for himself and he has been doing them ever since.
 In "30 Below Zero" he has some new ones. A spill out of a huge airplane flying high above the snowcovered Polar regions, a tumble down the mountain from a cabin perched on its top, a ride down a monster snowdrift with Buck buried alive in the very center of a huge snowball.

 This is considered one of the hardest places to work, as the Koran is taught there, and strictly followed by the older men; but many of the boys and young men lose their faith in its teaching, and drift from their old religion outwardly with Islam. One of the most able Arabs in public life in Iraq, in discussing the policy of teaching religion in the schools, voiced the sentiments of the older men when he said:
 "Let us have none of it. Who is God that we can teach of Him? Perhaps He is a microbe."
 Miss Garnjobst has many friends and well wishers in Marion county, where she has lived for many years.

FAMILIES MOVE IN AUBURN LAND SOLD

CENTERVIEW GAINS IN POPULATION AS RESULT

CENTERVIEW, Oct. 21.—(Special).—The Willard Women's club was entertained Thursday by Mrs. Fred Knight.

Two new families have moved into this vicinity lately. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Batchelor and four children who bought the Mrs. Alice Kaser place and Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Engeman who bought the O. K. Sebo farm.

Mrs. L. B. Haberly has been under the weather with a severe cold.
 Harvey Kaser, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kaser, thinks this is his unlucky year. In September he fell and broke his arm. After having it out of the sling but three days he slipped Thursday while at high school and broke the same arm. Early in the year he was accidentally shot, and in the hospital for weeks.

Mrs. A. A. Geer was called to La Grande Tuesday evening by a telegram saying her sister Bertha building of a residence on their ranch. Mr. Sloan will join them later.

PRIORITY QUESTION

POWER COMPANY SEEKS TO ENJOIN RIVAL FIRM

Whether the filing of a tariff, rules and schedules of operation gives to the public utility filing such evidence of good faith prior rights in a given territory, is the question that must be determined by the Oregon public service commission in the near future.

The question was raised by the Wood River Power company which would enjoin the California & Oregon Power company from invading certain territory in the vicinity of Fort Klamath, Klamath county. The Wood River Power company contends that it has operated in the Fort Klamath territory for a long time, and that there is no demand there for duplication of service.

Now that it has been discovered that George Godfrey, colored ringster, is an ex-movie actor, it's only a matter of time until the start calling him the Cinemagambian.
