Games Next Week-end
At Seattle—Whitman vs. Washington.
At McMinnville—Pacific vs. Linfield, Friday.
At Portland—Puget Sound vs. Columbia.

Anne Cornell's College of Idaho Coyotes head the northwest conference percentage table with a perfect score as the result of winning three conference games since the season opened. Whitman follows with a clean slate of two games won, none lost, and none tied. College of Puget Sound has due the game to mix its record, but has not been defeated.

Willamette, by virtue of its defeat by the Coyotes last Friday, dropped into fourth place with one defeat and one tie game. Failure to come through at critical moments in the play Friday, after the touted aerial attack of the Coyotes had been effectively stopped cost the Bearcats a victory.

One of two passes the Coyotes succeeded in completing put the ball within scoring distance of the goal, and a series of line-bucks put it over for the only counter of the game.

Whitman eliminated Pacific in the conference race by dealing out an 18 to 7 defeat to the Badgers in a game at Walla Walla, the only other conference tilt of the week.

The only conference game scheduled for next Saturday is the annual game between Pacific university and Linfield college which is played this year at McMinnville. The two tail-enders in the conference standings will fight it out to see which takes the cellar.

Whitman goes to Seattle to meet University of Washington, Puget Sound meets Columbia in Portland, and Willamette and College of Idaho have open dates.

The Bearcats will get no rest, however, for Coach Keene has ordered stiff scrimmages for every night this week. The men do not know their plays, and Keene is anxious to get them into the best of condition for the Badgers a week from Saturday.

Senator McNary said he would discuss development of the proposed navy aviation base at Astoria with the secretary of war immediately following his arrival in Washington.

Establishment of a passenger tramway to the summit of Mount Hood will be discussed with the chief forester.

MEDFORD DECLINES TURKEY DAY OFFER

Medford high school will not come north for a game against Salem high school Thanksgiving day.

A letter from the principal there to Principal J. C. Nelson yesterday stated that Medford would not forego its annual tussle with its foremost rival, Ashland, on Turkey day.

School officials are attempting to line up a game for turkey day which will be a money maker, and are experiencing difficulty.

As there are few Oregon schools of Salem's size, it may be necessary to secure permission from the state high school board of control to bring in a Washington team for the game.

YEP, PLAN ANOTHER HOP

The Dawn Will Be Ready to Make Next Regular Start Soon

OLD ORCHARD, Me. Oct. 24.—(AP)—Within two days the amphibian plane, The Dawn, forced by engine trouble yesterday to turn back after taking off for Denmark, will be mechanically right again. T. Harold Kinkade, Wright motor expert said tonight after an examination of the damage. The motor which went bad when the plane was off the Nova Scotia coast yesterday was removed from the plane today and studied in the hangar of Captain Harry Jones here. After his examination Kinkade said he would prefer to install a new engine rather than attempt to replace the crippled machine.

The expert telegraphed the Wright factory at Paterson, N. J., and this afternoon received a reply informing him that a new engine was being shipped tonight by train. It will be delivered at the hangar here tomorrow and Kinkade said it would be installed by tonight.

Given a favorable break in the weather, Pilot Wilmer Stultz will be able on Wednesday to put in the five or six hours in the air which he feels necessary as a test for a new motor before embarking on a trans-Atlantic flight.

WILDCAT MONTE GETS KO IN 3RD

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., lightweight champion of the world, tonight knocked out "Wildcat" Monte of Drumright, Okla., claimant of the 135 pound championship of the southwest, in the third of a scheduled 10 round boxing exhibition.

Mondell, carrying the fight to his opponent from the first round, knocked Monte down for the count of eight in the second. The Oklahoma boy staged a surprising come-back driving Mandell around the ring with a flurry of solid rights and lefts to the head and body.

The champion weighed 136 1/2 pounds, while Monte scaled 136 3/4 pounds.

In the semi-windup scheduled for 10 rounds, Fred Whittington of Marietta, Okla., knocked out Ollie Joyner of Miami, Fla., in the sixth round. The men are middleweights.

CLAIMS DEFENSES WEAK

Ports and Guns Along Coast Held Poorly Equipped

PORTLAND, Oct. 24.—(AP)—"There is one corporal and one enlisted man at Fort Canby. There is one lieutenant, one sergeant and a small enlisted personnel at Fort Stevens, engaged almost exclusively in scraping the rust from the big guns."

With these sentences, Colonel E. A. Clark, speaker on the Navy day program at the Portland chamber of commerce forum today, drew a picture of the coast defense organizations at the mouth of the Columbia river, supposedly guarding 250,000 square miles of rich interior land.

He characterized the situation as "deplorable."

"If a dignitary entitled to a salute of cannon were to visit Fort Stevens, and the salute were given," the speaker went on, "every gun on the reservation burst."

"Preparedness is no threat to peace," Colonel Clark said. "It is an assurance of our own safety and is a powerful check upon the warlike ambitions of other nations."

FORMER LOCAL LAD DIES

H. H. Stapleton, Roseburg Banker, Once Worked in Salem

ROSEBURG, Ore., Oct. 24.—(AP)—H. H. Stapleton, vice president of the Douglas National bank of Roseburg, died here today at the age of 51 years after a long illness.

He was born of pioneer parents at Salem, and after graduating from business college was employed as messenger boy in the Ladd and Bush bank at Salem. In 1897 he came to Roseburg as clerk in the First National bank and in 1910 went to the Douglas National bank as assistant cashier. He was made cashier in 1913 and elected to the vice presidency in January of this year.

He leaves a widow, a sister, Mrs. Joseph Baumgartner of Salem, and a brother, Roy Stapleton, of Albany. The funeral services will be held Wednesday and the body will be taken to Salem for interment.

The Portland club was represented by George Christianson, George Smith, Donald White, Bill Grigsby and Edward Benter. Low scores were made by Hug and Shafer of the Illahee team, with 80 each.

On Sunday, Frank Shafer won from Clarence Schmoeker in the finals of the fall tournament, 2 and 1.

TIDAL WAVE NOT FEARED

University Professor Declares No Danger in This State

EUGENE, Oct. 24.—(AP)—No danger from tidal or seismograph waves along the Pacific coast on this continent is looked for by Dr. Warren D. Smith of the University of Oregon department of geology as a result of the earthquake today.

Seismic waves are infrequent on this coast although they are frequent in Japan and the Hawaiian islands, Dr. Smith said. There is little danger of great damage in narrow necked bays, tidal waves usually causing the heaviest loss in bays which taper down in size from a wide neck.

If the quakes occurred early in the morning, as reports indicate, disturbances would already have been detected along the coast this evening if tidal waves were created, Dr. Smith believes.

ANTI-JEWISH RIOTS HELD

Sinister Demonstrations Reported City of Budapest

BUDAPEST, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Anti-semitic demonstrations are assuming more sinister proportions. They began with serious demonstrations at the National theater Saturday night when the historical drama "His Lady, or Maria Theresa." The work of the Hebrew dramatist, Desider Soromor, was shown. Many were shown. Many were injured on that occasion.

With the growing conviction among anti-semitic students that the government intends to enact legislation supporting Jewish students, the demonstrations today degenerated into the wildest disorders. Students set out to demolish the offices of the pro-Jewish newspaper, Asetz, but the police arrived when only minor damage was done. A hundred and fifty of the rioters were arrested.

WEDDING KEPT SECRET

SEATTLE, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Laughing at parental objections, formal church weddings and wealthy suitors, Charlotte McKear McCormick, Seattle debutante and daughter of George Delmont McCormick, southwest Washington lumber baron, eloped with Robert Loring Shepsard, Portland bond salesman.

"BAT" SLIM TOUTED LIGHT-HEAVY COMER

Harry Slim—known to the trade as "Battling" Slim—will make his bow for the first time to a Salem crowd Wednesday night, when he meets Jack Dillon in the ring.

When George Blake, Fidel La Barba's manager, brought Joe Woods to Portland to fight Charlie Ballinger, he selected Slim to serve as sparring partner for Woods.

Slim made Woods look like a hack number, according to Blake, and then Woods threw gloves enough to give Ballinger a tough fight. Fans were almost unanimous that he should have had a draw.

Blake declared shortly afterward that Slim was one of the most promising boys he had seen for many years.

The attler hails from Bellingham. His gentlemanly appearance which seems wholly at odds with the way he tears into his opponents has given him a popularity which is hard for any other fighter in the northwest to equal.

Joe Levy, Portland matchmaker, thought so much of Slim as a crowd pleaser that he put him on five cards in a row. He has already been signed to appear on the Stribling-Dillon show, a coming event in Portland.

Slim is managed by Tex Salkeld who holds a position as trainer at the Portland gymnasium.

Salkeld, who is familiar with practically every northwest boxer, declares that O'Leary will score a knock-out over McIntyre in the semi-windup event of the card here Wednesday. It is certain that Bobby is up against one of his stiffest fights, and fans will see a bout which would be a credit as a main event.

Jack Dillon, Battling Slim's opponent Wednesday, will hold his final work-out at the armory gymnasium tonight at 7:30. Fans are invited to drop around and look him over.

JUDGE OVERRULES DEMURRERS FILED

Legal Skirmish Lost by Emery Olmstead, John Wheeler Defense

PORTLAND, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Deciding against the defendants upon each point raised, Federal Judge Bean today overruled demurrers which had been interposed against the indictment in the case of Emery Olmstead, former president of the Northwestern National bank, and John E. Wheeler, former president of the McCormick Lumber company and ex-newspaper publisher.

The demurrers were filed following the indictment of the two defendants by the federal grand jury upon charges of conspiracy and the violation of the national banking act and the misapplication of moneys of a national banking institution.

"The indictment contains 22 counts," Judge Bean said in his general review of the case at the opening of his opinion. "The first charges Mr. Olmstead and Mr. Wheeler with a conspiracy to misapply the funds of the bank by paying them to the McCormick Lumber company without security with intent to injure and defraud the bank."

"It is alleged that this scheme was to be carried out by a false and fictitious credit on the books of the bank by means of worthless checks drawn by the McCormick company on banks at different places and deposited by Mr. Wheeler with the knowledge on the part of both conspirators that there would be no funds available for the payment of the checks and that they would not be paid but that the money paid on account thereof to the lumber company would be wholly lost to the bank."

ONCE MILLIONAIRES SENTENCED TO DIE

Three Years Trial for Military Espionage Comes To End in Russia

MOSCOW, Oct. 24.—(AP)—With faces deathly pale, sunken eyes and convulsive twittings, despite their feeble efforts to bear up, two brothers, Vladimir and Cyril Prove, and their brother-in-law, Kornepanoff, all former Russian millionaires, heard their death sentence pronounced this evening by M. Ulrich, head of the military tribunal of the supreme court. In the same breath M. Ulrich extinguished all hope in the hearts of the condemned men by asserting: "The sentence is final and unappealable."

For three days the Prove brothers and Kornepanoff, together with Podrezkoff, an aviation officer, and Nanoff, clerk in the war ministry, have been on trial of charges of military espionage, consisting of systematically supplying Edward Charnock, first secretary of the British embassy at Moscow, with secret military data. The brothers confessed and turned state's evidence, hoping thereby to save their lives.

Kornepanoff, admitting frequent conversation with Charnock at his father-in-law's home, pleaded lack of knowledge of the espionage character of Charnock's queries.

Nanoff and Podrezkoff, who, according to the evidence of the Prove brothers, supplied secret documents, were sentenced to two years imprisonment each, the court taking into consideration Nanoff's proletarian descent and Podrezkoff's military record and lack of authentic evidence.

In his final statement Cyril Prove, known before the revolution as one of Russia's best sportsmen, broke down and wept bitterly, begging the court to forgive his past.

The death sentences wound up with a long statement by the military tribunal, citing various instances of espionage alleged to have been carried on by the British embassy at Moscow since 1921 under the leadership of Sir Robert M. Hodgson, charge d'affaires and commercial representative, who, according to the tribunal, obtained for the most part financial and economic secret data while Charnock, who had lived in Russia under the czar, carried military espionage.

It was announced last week that OGPU, Soviet political police, had discovered the Prove brothers and three others were members of espionage organizations which had been supplying information to the British. The OGPU accused the former British minister in Moscow of having utilized its diplomatic immunity to leak Russian military secrets.

Severe Earthquake Rocks S. E. Alaska; Cables Break

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Earthquake shocks of considerable intensity shook southeastern Alaska today, severing cables maintained by the United States army signal corps between Ketchikan and Wrangell and between Peneau, Haines and Skagway, breaking dishes and windows and stopping clocks.

Residents of the Nickeyville residence section of Ketchikan reported slight earth movements about 8 a. m. of about the same intensity as tremors which rocked Alaska in February, 1925.

At Everett, Wash., Y. M. C. A. officials reported that the water in the swimming pool swayed gently from side to side about 9 a. m., spilling into a trough normally about six inches above water. The movement lasted about an hour and a half and no local explanation was found for the phenomenon.

Cordova, Alaska, several hundred miles west and north of Juneau, reported pictures hanging on the walls swayed lightly, but the phenomenon was not identified as an earthquake until dispatches telling of the disturbance in southeastern Alaska were received.

Dr. Perry Byerly, seismologist of the University of California, reported from Berkeley that the chart of his seismograph indicated the disturbance centered 1,650 miles northwest of Berkeley. The earthquake was of great intensity Dr. Byerly said, and lasted from 8:05 a. m. to 10:30 a. m. Pacific time.

In Honolulu, Dr. T. A. Jagger, director of the Mount Kilauea volcano laboratory, notified the hydrographic office that tidal waves dangerous to shipping would occur in Hawaiian waters between 1:30 and 3:30 p. m., Pacific coast time.

The earth shocks were recorded by seismographs all over the United States, in many instances throwing the recording needles off the drums because of the violence of the tremors.

Reports from Petersburg, Alaska, said that the Ketchikan-Wrangell cable had broken near Wrangell, where the shock was believed to be severe. Communication with Wrangell will not be restored until tomorrow when a radio operator dispatched from Ketchikan will arrive and establish a wireless station until the undersea cable can be repaired.

Officers in charge of the Alaska cable in Seattle, said a cable repair ship would depart from Seattle Wednesday to repair the breaks in the Ketchikan-Wrangell cable and in the line from Wrangell to Haines and Skagway.

The main shock was felt in Juneau at 7 a. m., followed by three lesser ones. Many residents rushed from their beds in nightclothing. Dishes rattled, light chandeliers swung and clocks stopped.

Petersburg reported the shock at 6:51 a. m., but the damage was confined to broken dishes and windows.
